Bridge Bill Is Signed By Governor Dewey To Empower Consent

Chief Executive Also Authorizes Construction of Thruway Span in Tappan Zee Section Near South Nyack-Tarrytown

Governor Dewey, according to the Associated Press, today signed a bill clearing the way for construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

The governor's action climaxed almost a decade of activity for the span by Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, Republican majority leader in the New York State Senate.

In affixing his signature to the bill, Dewey also paved the way for construction of the State Thruway bridge across the Hudson river's Tappan Zee section.

Authorizes Consent

Concerning the Rhinecliff-Kingston bridge, the legislation authorizes the state comptroller, as custodian or trustee of Hudson river bridge bonds, to consent to its construction across the river joining Ulster and Dutchess counties.

Although both bridges had the approval of many as main links in the great system of state highways, and as necessary mediums for travel in defense plans, there was strong organized opposition to them.

Poughkeepsie interests claimed there was no need for the bridge between Kingston and Rhinecliff, and insisted that the span between their city and Highland across the river become toll free before any moves were made for its construction.

Rhinebeck in northern Dutchess county took an opposite view and residents and organizations there, including the press, put on a concentrated drive in support of legislation to build the bridge.

Disclaimer Is Made

Feeling became so bitter that merchants in Poughkeepsie and the Chamber of Commerce there recently came out publicly with statements that they were not among opponents of the span, in order not to break trade relations with residents of the Rhinecliff area, whom, they feared might boycott their shopping centers.

In the South Nyack and Tarrytown sectors, residents opposed the Thruway bridge on the grounds it will displace many of their homes and businesses.

Under the State Bridge Authority Act, the state, according to the Associated Press, has agreed with bondholders of existing and authorized Hudson river bridges that no competitive bridges will be built between the New York city line and a point 15 miles north of the Rip Van Winkle bridge at Catskill.

The measure signed today moves the southern boundary of this restricted area north to the Bear Mountain bridge, thereby permitting the Thruway Authority to span the wide, scenic Tappan Zee section of the Hudson.

Vetoes Measures

Dewey vetoed measures that would have:

1. Permitted veterans to count their military terminal leave pay as an exemption against local property taxes. The law permits the use of only pensions, state war bonuses and G.I. insurance dividends and refunds.

Dewey noted that military pay could not be used in this regard, and said that terminal leave pay "is no more than ordinary military salary for the number of days leave accruing to an officer or enlisted man on his separation or discharge from active military duty."

2. Increased the maximum allowance for lawyers assigned by a court to defend an accused murderer from $1,000 to $1,500 where one attorney was assigned, and from $1,500 to $2,500 where two or more lawyers were assigned.

Collins Says Two Writers Were Reds; Quit Party in '47

Also Names Maltz, Cole and Lawson; Any Black List Is Denied

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Screen writer Richard J. Collins said today that writers Ring Lardner, Jr., and Bud Schulberg were members of the Communist party in Hollywood 10 years ago.

Calmly, matter of factly, the 36-year-old Collins told the House Un-American Activities Committee of his own service with the party and of others who he said were active in it.

Collins said screen writers John Howard Lawson, Lester Cole and Albert Maltz also were Communists. All were members of the so-called "Hollywood Ten" cited for contempt of the committee in 1947.

He told the committee it was Schulberg, "or it might have been Ring Lardner, Jr.," who was instrumental in getting him into the party in 1938.

Collins said he drifted away from the party in 1947 after attending "close to 5,000 hours of meetings."

"That's enough for a lifetime—I don't think I'll have to go to any more," he added—and he smiled faintly.

Schulberg hit the best seller list with his novel of Hollywood life, "What Made Sammy Run."

Says He Quit Party

Lardner, a screen writer and magazine author, was one of the "Hollywood Ten" cited for contempt of the committee in the 1947 hearings into Hollywood communism.

Lardner was sentenced to prison for his refusal to answer questions concerning Communist activities.

Members of the committee who are studying communism in Hollywood, have denied that a summons to appear here means that the witness will be put on a movie industry "black list."

Made by Lees

This charge was made yesterday by Screen Writer Robert Lees.

Chairman Wood (D.-Ga.) asserted he did not know of a single instance in which there had been repercussions where a witness "answered truthfully and frankly" to questions.

If the "true answers" reflected unfavorably on the conduct of any witness, Wood added, "that's his own responsibility. We can't be guardians of a man's past actions."

Lees, refusing yesterday to answer questions about communism in Hollywood, said he knew "a lot" of people summoned to testify who "can't go back to Hollywood because their careers are ended in the movie business."

"This comes under the heading of some kind of pressure, like a black list," Lees testified, declaring his own career "has been destroyed by being called before this committee."

Machine Has 'Place'

Buffalo, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—The coin-operated newspaper vending machine "has a definite spot in circulation," the circulation manager of the Olean Times-Herald says. James Strong, speaking yesterday at the annual spring convention of the New York State Circulation Managers Association, said marked circulation increases have followed installation of such machines in industrial plants. Some opposition to the idea was expressed, however, by circulation men who said they thought newspaper vending devices impractical. Many said they feared buyers would use the machines improperly.

U.S. Planes Down Five Enemy Craft

80 MIGs Strike

Enemy Craft Attack 72 American Fliers Over Front

Tokyo, April 12 (AP)—American warplanes shot down five enemy jets, probably destroyed two more and damaged 15 today in two roaring air fights over northwest Korea.

All American planes came safely out of the battles.

One of the thunderous clashes was the biggest jet fight in history. It involved 152 jet planes—80 Russian-made MIG-15s and 72 American F-86s and F-84s—and about 40 B-29 medium bombers.

On the ground, two Chinese divisions pulled back suddenly and mysteriously on the central front. American troops pushed cautiously ahead in their wake against no opposition. Staff officers said they were puzzled by the enemy withdrawal.

The two Red divisions Wednesday bitterly opposed allied crossings of the Hantan river south of Chorwon. They fought from the Carggy hills north of the river.

Contact Is Broken

But they broke contact Wednesday night.

South Korean troops on the east coast stabbed 26 miles into North Korea in the deepest Red land penetration of the current United Nations drive.

In history's biggest jet battle, the 80 MIGs swooshed out of Red Manchuria against 72 U. S. jets flying cover for 30 to 40 U. S. B-29 Superforts. The B-29s dropped 300 tons of bombs on the vital railroad bridge across the Yalu river between Antung, Manchuria and Sinuiju, Korea.

The American jets shot down two MIGs, probably destroyed two others and damaged 13.

A B-29 gunner brought down a third Red jet. B-29s also damaged another Red jet.

B-29s Damaged

Two B-29s were damaged but landed safely in Korea. The others returned to their Japanese or Okinawa bases.

The second air battle flared later Thursday in the center of "MIG alley" between Sinuiju and Sinanju. In this action 15 Communist jets attacked 12 American Sabre jets.

The Sabres shot down two Red jets and probably destroyed another. The fight raged for 15 minutes from 34,000 down to 4,000 feet altitude.

In the ground fighting, the allies used bayonets and hand grenades in carving out two small beachheads Wednesday on the Hantan river north bank.

Try to Halt Advance

The Reds tried to halt the United Nations advance with heavy mortar and grenade fire.

The stiff Communist opposition led officers at first to believe they had run into the main enemy line.

The Reds have jammed 18 new divisions into North Korea.

Heavy fighting also swirled near Yanggu on the southeastern edge of the great Hwachon reservoir. Tight censorship obscured the details.

South Korean troops on the east coast swept northward to the town of Kansong, 26 miles inside Red Korea. It was the deepest penetration in the current allied offensive.

The South Koreans saw Reds withdrawing to the north. The Republican soldiers later returned to their bases south of Kansong.

Allied troops advanced from the Imjin river in the west practically all along the front to the Sea of Japan east coast. That front now is almost all in North Korea.

Succeeds General

Lieut. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway (above), commander of the U. S. 8th Army in Korea, has been designated by President Truman, April 11, to be Supreme Commander, Allied Powers, Commander-in-Chief, United Nations Command; Commander-in-Chief, Far East; and Commanding General, U. S. Army, Far East. He succeeds Gen. Douglas MacArthur who was removed from all commands by the President.

Succeeds Ridgway

Lieut. Gen. James Van Fleet (above) was appointed by President Truman, April 11, to succeed Lieut. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway as commander of the U. S. 8th Army in Korea. Gen. Ridgway, meantime, was named to succeed Gen. Douglas MacArthur whom the President relieved of all command in the Far East. This picture was taken July 17, 1950.

Ridgway Goes Back to Korea

Ridgway, named by President Truman to succeed MacArthur in all his Far East commands, arrived at 4:10 p. m. (2:10 a. m., E.S.T.) and left at 7:30 p. m. 5:30 a. m., E.S.T.).

He spent most of the time with MacArthur. The subject of their talk was not disclosed.

Ridgway had been expected to stay in Tokyo two or three days.

He was accompanied here by Secretary of Army Frank Pace, Jr.

Ridgway consented to an impromptu news conference at the side of Pace's big Constellation plane.

An estimated 100 to 150 persons were on hand to greet him.

The promoted Eighth Army commander was wearing his winter uniform and his familiar hand grenade taped on his jacket.

'No Plans, No Decisions'

Reporters asked Ridgway how he felt as he stepped briskly off the plane.

"I'm fine," he said.

"I have no plans and have made no decisions."

He posed briefly smiling for photographers.

A woman reporter asked Ridgway what his reaction was when he learned that he would succeed MacArthur.

"If a man had asked me that, I could have answered," he said, grinning.

Pace, who was standing in the background looking on, was asked how he found the American G.I.s in Korea.

"They are in fine shape over there," he said.

Their Constellation was escorted from Korea by fighter planes.

After the hit-and-run interview, both Ridgway and Pace climbed into the general's sedan.

Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, acting headquarters chief of staff, walked out on the ramp, greeted Ridgway and Pace in their plane.

Tokyo Avoids Judgment

Tokyo, April 12 (AP)—The Tokyo press today avoided judgment on the firing of General MacArthur. Instead, editorials unanimously praised MacArthur's occupation policies and expressed regret and sorrow that he would no longer head the U. S. forces in Japan.

Whitney Is Anxious to Quit Army

Aide Says MacArthur Does Not Feel He Violated Any Truman Orders

Silence Is Kept

Deposed Chief Speaks Only Through His Assistant

Tokyo, April 12 (AP)—General MacArthur made plans today for a return to the United States—ready, if invited, to air before Congress the views that got him fired by President Truman.

The five-star general kept his public silence but his right hand man gave the first inkling of how staunch MacArthur's defense would be.

Maj. Gen. Courtney B. Whitney, MacArthur's closest adviser, issued a statement saying his deposed boss felt he had violated no Truman directives.

Whitney himself asked release from the army so he could leave Japan with MacArthur.

"The general feels that he has complied meticulously with all directives he has received, not only recently, but throughout his entire military service," Whitney said.

Whitney earlier had announced he has asked the army for retirement from his post as contact man with the Japanese government in handling the occupation.

Visited His Office

MacArthur visited his office in the downtown Dai Ichi building for one hour tonight. One of his honor guard said the general went to clean out his desk.

A large crowd of Japanese and Americans watched outside as MacArthur smoking a pipe, strode from the building and entered his car.

Earlier, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway flew in from the Korean battlefront and went into immediate conference with MacArthur at the five-star general's residence in the U. S. Embassy. Ridgway was accompanied by Secretary of Army Frank Pace.

After the talk, Ridgway left for Korea.

Ridgway arrived after turning over his U. S. Eighth Army command temporarily to Lt. Gen. Frank W. Milburn. Milburn will serve until the arrival in Korea of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, veteran of two world wars and head of the American mission that advised the Greek government forces in their triumph over Communist insurrection.

President Truman announced the new command changes for Generals Ridgway and Van Fleet simultaneously with the removal of MacArthur.

Follows by Few Hours

Whitney's statement defending MacArthur followed by only a few hours President Truman's broadcast address from Washington.

In the address, President Truman said he fired MacArthur because he felt the general's policies carried a "very grave risk" of starting world war 3.

The Whitney statement did not deal with MacArthur's policy views but emphasized the general's views that nothing he had said had overstepped his limitations.

It defended specifically MacArthur's considered right to make his statement of March 24 and to write a letter March 20 to Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R.-Mass.). Both were pointed out by President Truman in elaborating on reasons for MacArthur's dismissal.

MacArthur's March 24 statement called on Red China to settle the Korean war or expose the Peiping regime to "risk of imminent military collapse."

The March 20 letter, in reply to one written by Martin, agreed with Martin's views on the wisdom of using Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa against Red China.

Whitney said:

"The general has interpreted both his statement of March 24 and his letter to Congressman

Martin Reports MacArthur Might Return to U.S. in Week

Announcement Is Made After Session of GOP Policy Committee; General Might Come by Plane, He Says

Washington, April 12 (AP)—House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts said today "there is a possibility" General Douglas MacArthur may fly back to the United States next week to address Congress.

Martin made the announcement to newsmen following an early morning session of the House Republican Policy Committee.

"There is a possibility," he said, "that General MacArthur will fly back next week and will be available to address Congress sooner than the three weeks mentioned earlier."

Original plans, Martin said, were for the deposed general to return from Japan by ship.

Republicans, furiously angry at President Truman for firing the general, are sponsoring a resolution inviting MacArthur to address a joint meeting of the Senate and the House.

To Consider Resolution

The House Rules Committee will consider the resolution tomorrow and Martin said he is confident both the committee and the House will approve it. He said he doesn't expect administration Democrats to fight the invitation proposal.

As for the Senate's attitude, Martin said he didn't know.

On the Democrats' side, Senator Kerr of Oklahoma declared MacArthur—fired by President Truman—won't do it the way the Republicans propose if he, Kerr, can prevent it. How much open party help the Oklahoman will get on

U. S. Casualties Total 59,396

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Announced U. S. casualties in Korea reached 59,396 today, an increase of 846 since last week.

The total includes 8,941 killed in action, 39,500 wounded and 10,865 missing. It represents casualties whose next of kin were notified through April 6.

Of the wounded, 1,040 subsequently died and 99 of the missing are known dead, raising the total combat death figure to 10,080.

The figure on missing also includes 1,109 who have since returned to U. S. control and 115

Would Stop Reds' Push, Show Folly

President Tells Nation He Feared Asiatic War Would Result From Views

Wants 'Real Peace'

Declares He Does Not Care to See Extension of Conflict

Washington, April 12 (AP)—President Truman has pinned high hopes for peace—and vindication for firing Gen. Douglas MacArthur—on the crushing of a threatened Communist spring offensive in Korea.

Mr. Truman told the nation in a radio and television talk last night that he relieved MacArthur of his Pacific commands because the five-star general disagrees with his policy aimed at preventing the Korean fighting from spreading into a world war. Less than 22 hours had elapsed since the announcement of the picturesque general's dismissal stirred the nation and the rest of the free world.

"We do not want to see the conflict in Korea extended," the President said solemnly and firmly. "We are trying to prevent a world war—not to start one."

Mr. Truman said that the bombing of Red bases in Manchuria and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa—both advocated by MacArthur—would involve "a grave risk of starting a general war."

Then he made it clear he believes that if a threatened new mass offensive by the Communists in Korea is crushed, the Reds may decide that further aggression there or elsewhere is "folly." Then, he said, the door would be open to a peaceful settlement "which will not compromise the principle and purpose of the United Nations."

May Be Turning Point

"Defeat of aggression in Korea may be the turning point in the world's search for a practical way of achieving peace and security," the President predicted.

Any such outcome, of course, would be pointed to by the President's friends as justifying his drastic action in removing MacArthur, a move that split Congress and the country into two camps.

President Truman departed from his prepared text of last night's speech to praise Ridgway. He said Ridgway, as commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, demonstrated he has "the qualities of leadership needed" for his multiple tasks.

Building for Attack

The President said there are signs that the Communists are building up for a new mass attack in Korea. He expressed confidence that it will be turned back.

"The United Nations forces are tough and able and well equipped," he said. "They are fighting for a just cause. * * * We pray that their efforts may succeed. For upon their success may hinge the peace of the world."

Mr. Truman said that "real peace" could be achieved on three basic conditions:

"One: The fighting must stop.

"Two: Concrete steps must be taken to insure that the fighting will not break out again.

"Three: There must be an end to aggression."

He added that "a settlement founded upon these elements would open the way for the unification of Korea and the withdrawal of all foreign forces."

Still Have Decision

Mr. Truman said that while the resolute stand in Korea already has "slowed down the time table of conquest," the Communists in the Kremlin still have the decision on whether there shall be war or peace.

"It may well be that, in spite of our best efforts, the Communists may spread the war," he warned. "But it would be wrong—tragically wrong—for us to

MacArthur Knew and Acted And So Sacrificed Himself

By HAL BOYLE

New York, (AP)—Behind the national sadness and angry controversy over the dismissal of Douglas MacArthur there is a great question mark.

Did this great general of the army deliberately sound taps on his own spendid military career?

Was he only taking a "calculated risk" in repeatedly defying Washington, or was he trying to provoke his dismissal to dramatize to the American people his own strongly held views on the world's political and military danger?

This question today is in the minds of many who know the general and know his past. But the secret is locked behind his own sturdy corncob pipe.

Why did "Mac" do it? Why at the age of 71 did this lifelong soldier violate the first principle of the soldier's trade—unquestioning obedience to his superior officers?

Only MacArthur himself knows the answer. But the record clearly shows that the general twice disobeyed an order by President Truman to clear all statements on military policy with the Department of State before releasing them to the public.

He knew the soldier's code. He twice broke it—and for that the President relieved him. MacArthur knew the price and he has paid it.

He cannot question the authority of the President to take the action he did. Had ex-artillery captain Harry Truman served under MacArthur in the First World War and twice disobeyed his orders it is likely Truman would have been court-martialed. MacArthur himself brooks no disobedience in his command.

Then why did "Mac" do it?

Many are conjecturing as to his reasons. Their viewpoint depends

Editorial Comment Varies On MacArthur Dismissal

(By The Associated Press)

American newspaper opinion on President Truman's removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur ranged from a demand for Mr. Truman's impeachment to vigorous approval of his action.

Some editorial comment:

CHICAGO TRIBUNE and Washington Times-Herald: "President Truman must be impeached and convicted. His hasty and vindictive removal of General MacArthur is the culmination of a series of acts which have shown that he is unfit, morally and mentally, for his high office. * * * MacArthur was fired because he said forcefully what the people of the United States are thinking. * * * The American nation has never been in greater danger. It is led by a fool who is surrounded by knaves."

NEW YORK TIMES: "We do not see how it is possible to question the correctness of the President's decision. Policy with respect to the conduct of a war cannot be made in two places. * * * The Constitution puts the making of policy in the civilian hands of the chief executive, and it is the clear duty of the military to express its doubts or its dissent through proper military channels and not in public debate. It is, furthermore, the clear duty of the military to follow a specific presidential directive, such as was twice issued to General MacArthur."

PORTLAND OREGONIAN: "The basic issue is whether the traditional authority of civil government over military government shall be maintained. * * * But now that the President has asserted his authority, what will the people say of his policies which have led us into a war which he is unwilling to let us win? The people's anger at the

Ridgway, named by President Truman to succeed MacArthur in all his Far East commands, arrived at 4:10 p. m. (2:10 a. m., E.S.T.) and left at 7:30 p. m. 5:30 a. m., E.S.T.).

He spent most of the time with MacArthur. The subject of their talk was not disclosed.

Ridgway had been expected to stay in Tokyo two or three days.

He was accompanied here by Secretary of Army Frank Pace, Jr.

Ridgway consented to an impromptu news conference at the side of Pace's big Constellation plane.

An estimated 100 to 150 persons were on hand to greet him.

The promoted Eighth Army commander was wearing his winter uniform and his familiar hand grenade taped on his jacket.

'No Plans, No Decisions'

Reporters asked Ridgway how he felt as he stepped briskly off the plane.

"I'm fine," he said.

"I have no plans and have made no decisions."

He posed briefly smiling for photographers.

A woman reporter asked Ridgway what his reaction was when he learned that he would succeed MacArthur.

"If a man had asked me that, I could have answered," he said, grinning.

Pace, who was standing in the background looking on, was asked how he found the American G.I.s in Korea.

"They are in fine shape over there," he said.

Their Constellation was escorted from Korea by fighter planes.

After the hit-and-run interview, both Ridgway and Pace climbed into the general's sedan.

Maj. Gen. Doyle O. Hickey, acting headquarters chief of staff, walked out on the ramp, greeted Ridgway and Pace in their plane.

Tokyo Avoids Judgment

Tokyo, April 12 (AP)—The Tokyo press today avoided judgment on the firing of General MacArthur. Instead, editorials unanimously praised MacArthur's occupation policies and expressed regret and sorrow that he would no longer head the U. S. forces in Japan.

Aide Says MacArthur Does Not Feel He Violated Any Truman Orders

Silence Is Kept

Deposed Chief Speaks Only Through His Assistant

Tokyo, April 12 (AP)—General MacArthur made plans today for a return to the United States—ready, if invited, to air before Congress the views that got him fired by President Truman.

The five-star general kept his public silence but his right hand man gave the first inkling of how staunch MacArthur's defense would be.

Maj. Gen. Courtney B. Whitney, MacArthur's closest adviser, issued a statement saying his deposed boss felt he had violated no Truman directives.

Whitney himself asked release from the army so he could leave Japan with MacArthur.

"The general feels that he has complied meticulously with all directives he has received, not only recently, but throughout his entire military service," Whitney said.

Whitney earlier had announced he has asked the army for retirement from his post as contact man with the Japanese government in handling the occupation.

Visited His Office

MacArthur visited his office in the downtown Dai Ichi building for one hour tonight. One of his honor guard said the general went to clean out his desk.

A large crowd of Japanese and Americans watched outside as MacArthur smoking a pipe, strode from the building and entered his car.

Earlier, Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway flew in from the Korean battlefront and went into immediate conference with MacArthur at the five-star general's residence in the U. S. Embassy. Ridgway was accompanied by Secretary of Army Frank Pace.

After the talk, Ridgway left for Korea.

Ridgway arrived after turning over his U. S. Eighth Army command temporarily to Lt. Gen. Frank W. Milburn. Milburn will serve until the arrival in Korea of Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, veteran of two world wars and head of the American mission that advised the Greek government forces in their triumph over Communist insurrection.

President Truman announced the new command changes for Generals Ridgway and Van Fleet simultaneously with the removal of MacArthur.

Follows by Few Hours

Whitney's statement defending MacArthur followed by only a few hours President Truman's broadcast address from Washington.

In the address, President Truman said he fired MacArthur because he felt the general's policies carried a "very grave risk" of starting world war 3.

The Whitney statement did not deal with MacArthur's policy views but emphasized the general's views that nothing he had said had overstepped his limitations.

It defended specifically MacArthur's considered right to make his statement of March 24 and to write a letter March 20 to Rep. Joseph W. Martin (R.-Mass.). Both were pointed out by President Truman in elaborating on reasons for MacArthur's dismissal.

MacArthur's March 24 statement called on Red China to settle the Korean war or expose the Peiping regime to "risk of imminent military collapse."

The March 20 letter, in reply to one written by Martin, agreed with Martin's views on the wisdom of using Chinese Nationalist troops on Formosa against Red China.

Whitney said:

Martin Reports MacArthur Might Return to U.S. in Week

Announcement Is Made After Session of GOP Policy Committee; General Might Come by Plane, He Says

Washington, April 12 (AP)—House Republican Leader Martin of Massachusetts said today "there is a possibility" General Douglas MacArthur may fly back to the United States next week to address Congress.

Martin made the announcement to newsmen following an early morning session of the House Republican Policy Committee.

"There is a possibility," he said, "that General MacArthur will fly back next week and will be available to address Congress sooner than the three weeks mentioned earlier."

Original plans, Martin said, were for the deposed general to return from Japan by ship.

Republicans, furiously angry at President Truman for firing the general, are sponsoring a resolution inviting MacArthur to address a joint meeting of the Senate and the House.

To Consider Resolution

The House Rules Committee will consider the resolution tomorrow and Martin said he is confident both the committee and the House will approve it. He said he doesn't expect administration Democrats to fight the invitation proposal.

As for the Senate's attitude, Martin said he didn't know.

On the Democrats' side, Senator Kerr of Oklahoma declared MacArthur—fired by President Truman—won't do it the way the Republicans propose if he, Kerr, can prevent it. How much open party help the Oklahoman will get on

Would Stop Reds' Push, Show Folly

President Tells Nation He Feared Asiatic War Would Result From Views

Wants 'Real Peace'

Declares He Does Not Care to See Extension of Conflict

Washington, April 12 (AP)—President Truman has pinned high hopes for peace—and vindication for firing Gen. Douglas MacArthur—on the crushing of a threatened Communist spring offensive in Korea.

Mr. Truman told the nation in a radio and television talk last night that he relieved MacArthur of his Pacific commands because the five-star general disagrees with his policy aimed at preventing the Korean fighting from spreading into a world war. Less than 22 hours had elapsed since the announcement of the picturesque general's dismissal stirred the nation and the rest of the free world.

"We do not want to see the conflict in Korea extended," the President said solemnly and firmly. "We are trying to prevent a world war—not to start one."

Mr. Truman said that the bombing of Red bases in Manchuria and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa—both advocated by MacArthur—would involve "a grave risk of starting a general war."

Then he made it clear he believes that if a threatened new mass offensive by the Communists in Korea is crushed, the Reds may decide that further aggression there or elsewhere is "folly." Then, he said, the door would be open to a peaceful settlement "which will not compromise the principle and purpose of the United Nations."

May Be Turning Point

"Defeat of aggression in Korea may be the turning point in the world's search for a practical way of achieving peace and security," the President predicted.

Any such outcome, of course, would be pointed to by the President's friends as justifying his drastic action in removing MacArthur, a move that split Congress and the country into two camps.

President Truman departed from his prepared text of last night's speech to praise Ridgway. He said Ridgway, as commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, demonstrated he has "the qualities of leadership needed" for his multiple tasks.

Building for Attack

The President said there are signs that the Communists are building up for a new mass attack in Korea. He expressed confidence that it will be turned back.

"The United Nations forces are tough and able and well equipped," he said. "They are fighting for a just cause. * * * We pray that their efforts may succeed. For upon their success may hinge the peace of the world."

Mr. Truman said that "real peace" could be achieved on three basic conditions:

"One: The fighting must stop.

"Two: Concrete steps must be taken to insure that the fighting will not break out again.

"Three: There must be an end to aggression."

He added that "a settlement founded upon these elements would open the way for the unification of Korea and the withdrawal of all foreign forces."

Still Have Decision

Mr. Truman said that while the resolute stand in Korea already has "slowed down the time table of conquest," the Communists in the Kremlin still have the decision on whether there shall be war or peace.

"It may well be that, in spite of our best efforts, the Communists may spread the war," he warned. "But it would be wrong—tragically wrong—for us to

MacArthur Knew and Acted And So Sacrificed Himself

New York, (AP)—Behind the national sadness and angry controversy over the dismissal of Douglas MacArthur there is a great question mark.

Did this great general of the army deliberately sound taps on his own spendid military career?

Was he only taking a "calculated risk" in repeatedly defying Washington, or was he trying to provoke his dismissal to dramatize to the American people his own strongtly held views on the world's political and military danger?

This question today is in the minds of many who know the general and know his past. But the secret is locked behind his own sturdy corncob pipe.

Why did "Mac" do it? Why at the age of 71 did this lifelong soldier violate the first principle of the soldier's trade—unquestioning obedience to his superior officers?

Only MacArthur himself knows the answer. But the record clearly shows that the general twice disobeyed an order by President Truman to clear all statements on military policy with the Department of State before releasing them to the public.

He knew the soldier's code. He twice broke it—and for that the President relieved him. MacArthur knew the price and he has paid it.

He cannot question the authority of the President to take the action he did. Had ex-artillery captain Harry Truman served under MacArthur in the First World War and twice disobeyed his orders it is likely Truman would have been court-martialed. MacArthur himself brooks no disobedience in his command.

Then why did "Mac" do it?

Editorial Comment Varies On MacArthur Dismissal

(By The Associated Press)

American newspaper opinion on President Truman's removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur ranged from a demand for Mr. Truman's impeachment to vigorous approval of his action.

Some editorial comment:

CHICAGO TRIBUNE and Washington Times-Herald: "President Truman must be impeached and convicted. His hasty and vindictive removal of General MacArthur is the culmination of a series of acts which have shown that he is unfit, morally and mentally, for his high office. * * * MacArthur was fired because he said forcefully what the people of the United States are thinking. * * * The American nation has never been in greater danger. It is led by a fool who is surrounded by knaves."

NEW YORK TIMES: "We do not see how it is possible to question the correctness of the President's decision. Policy with respect to the conduct of a war cannot be made in two places. * * * The Constitution puts the making of policy in the civilian hands of the chief executive, and it is the clear duty of the military to express its doubts or its dissent through proper military channels and not in public debate. It is, furthermore, the clear duty of the military to follow a specific presidential directive, such as was twice issued to General MacArthur."

PORTLAND OREGONIAN: "The basic issue is whether the traditional authority of civil government over military government shall be maintained. * * * But now that the President has asserted his authority, what will the people say of his policies which have led us into a war which he is unwilling to let us win? The people's anger at the

Chief Executive Also Authorizes Construction of Thruway Span in Tappan Zee Section Near South Nyack-Tarrytown

Governor Dewey, according to the Associated Press, today signed a bill clearing the way for construction of the Kingston-Rhinecliff bridge.

The governor's action climaxed almost a decade of activity for the span by Arthur H. Wicks of Kingston, Republican majority leader in the New York State Senate.

In affixing his signature to the bill, Dewey also paved the way for construction of the State Thruway bridge across the Hudson river's Tappan Zee section.

Authorizes Consent

Concerning the Rhinecliff-Kingston bridge, the legislation authorizes the state comptroller, as custodian or trustee of Hudson river bridge bonds, to consent to its construction across the river joining Ulster and Dutchess counties.

Although both bridges had the approval of many as main links in the great system of state highways, and as necessary mediums for travel in defense plans, there was strong organized opposition to them.

Poughkeepsie interests claimed there was no need for the bridge between Kingston and Rhinecliff, and insisted that the span between their city and Highland across the river become toll free before any moves were made for its construction.

Rhinebeck in northern Dutchess county took an opposite view and residents and organizations there, including the press, put on a concentrated drive in support of legislation to build the bridge.

Disclaimer Is Made

Feeling became so bitter that merchants in Poughkeepsie and the Chamber of Commerce there recently came out publicly with statements that they were not among opponents of the span, in order not to break trade relations with residents of the Rhinecliff area, whom, they feared might boycott their shopping centers.

In the South Nyack and Tarrytown sectors, residents opposed the Thruway bridge on the grounds it will displace many of their homes and businesses.

Under the State Bridge Authority Act, the state, according to the Associated Press, has agreed with bondholders of existing and authorized Hudson river bridges that no competitive bridges will be built between the New York city line and a point 15 miles north of the Rip Van Winkle bridge at Catskill.

The measure signed today moves the southern boundary of this restricted area north to the Bear Mountain bridge, thereby permitting the Thruway Authority to span the wide, scenic Tappan Zee section of the Hudson.

Vetoes Measures

Dewey vetoed measures that would have:

1. Permitted veterans to count their military terminal leave pay as an exemption against local property taxes. The law permits the use of only pensions, state war bonuses and G.I. insurance dividends and refunds.

Dewey noted that military pay could not be used in this regard, and said that terminal leave pay "is no more than ordinary military salary for the number of days leave accruing to an officer or enlisted man on his separation or discharge from active military duty."

2. Increased the maximum allowance for lawyers assigned by a court to defend an accused murderer from $1,000 to $1,500 where one attorney was assigned, and from $1,500 to $2,500 where two or more lawyers were assigned.

The New York County Law-

Collins Says Two Writers Were Reds; Quit Party in '47

Also Names Maltz, Cole and Lawson; Any Black List Is Denied

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Screen writer Richard J. Collins said today that writers Ring Lardner, Jr., and Bud Schulberg were members of the Communist party in Hollywood 10 years ago.

Calmly, matter of factly, the 36-year-old Collins told the House Un-American Activities Committee of his own service with the party and of others who he said were active in it.

Collins said screen writers John Howard Lawson, Lester Cole and Albert Maltz also were Communists. All were members of the so-called "Hollywood Ten" cited for contempt of the committee in 1947.

He told the committee it was Schulberg, "or it might have been Ring Lardner, Jr.," who was instrumental in getting him into the party in 1938.

Collins said he drifted away from the party in 1947 after attending "close to 5,000 hours of meetings."

"That's enough for a lifetime—I don't think I'll have to go to any more," he added—and he smiled faintly.

Says He Quit Party

Lardner, a screen writer and magazine author, was one of the "Hollywood Ten" cited for contempt of the committee in the 1947 hearings into Hollywood communism.

Lardner was sentenced to prison for his refusal to answer questions concerning Communist activities.

Members of the committee who are studying communism in Hollywood, have denied that a summons to appear here means that the witness will be put on a movie industry "black list."

Made by Lees

This charge was made yesterday by Screen Writer Robert Lees.

Chairman Wood (D.-Ga.) asserted he did not know of a single instance in which there had been repercussions where a witness "answered truthfully and frankly" to questions.

If the "true answers" reflected unfavorably on the conduct of any witness, Wood added, "that's his own responsibility. We can't be guardians of a man's past actions."

Lees, refusing yesterday to answer questions about communism in Hollywood, said he knew "a lot" of people summoned to testify who "can't go back to Hollywood because their careers are ended in the movie business."

"This comes under the heading of some kind of pressure, like a black list," Lees testified, declaring his own career "has been destroyed by being called before this committee."

Machine Has 'Place'

Buffalo, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—The coin-operated newspaper vending machine "has a definite spot in circulation," the circulation manager of the Olean Times-Herald says. James Strong, speaking yesterday at the annual spring convention of the New York State Circulation Managers Association, said marked circulation increases have followed installation of such machines in industrial plants. Some opposition to the idea was expressed, however, by circulation men who said they thought newspaper vending devices impractical. Many said they feared buyers would use the machines improperly.

U.S. Planes Down Five Enemy Craft

80 MIGs Strike

Enemy Craft Attack 72 American Fliers Over Front

Tokyo, April 12 (AP)—American warplanes shot down five enemy jets, probably destroyed two more and damaged 15 today in two roaring air fights over northwest Korea.

All American planes came safely out of the battles.

One of the thunderous clashes was the biggest jet fight in history. It involved 152 jet planes—80 Russian-made MIG-15s and 72 American F-86s and F-84s—and about 40 B-29 medium bombers.

On the ground, two Chinese divisions pulled back suddenly and mysteriously on the central front. American troops pushed cautiously ahead in their wake against no opposition. Staff officers said they were puzzled by the enemy withdrawal.

The two Red divisions Wednesday bitterly opposed allied crossings of the Hantan river south of Chorwon. They fought from the Carggy hills north of the river.

Contact Is Broken

But they broke contact Wednesday night.

South Korean troops on the east coast stabbed 26 miles into North Korea in the deepest Red land penetration of the current United Nations drive.

In history's biggest jet battle, the 80 MIGs swooshed out of Red Manchuria against 72 U. S. jets flying cover for 30 to 40 U. S. B-29 Superforts. The B-29s dropped 300 tons of bombs on the vital railroad bridge across the Yalu river between Antung, Manchuria and Sinuiju, Korea.

The American jets shot down two MIGs, probably destroyed two others and damaged 13.

A B-29 gunner brought down a third Red jet. B-29s also damaged another Red jet.

B-29s Damaged

Two B-29s were damaged but landed safely in Korea. The others returned to their Japanese or Okinawa bases.

The second air battle flared later Thursday in the center of "MIG alley" between Sinuiju and Sinanju. In this action 15 Communist jets attacked 12 American Sabre jets.

The Sabres shot down two Red jets and probably destroyed another. The fight raged for 15 minutes from 34,000 down to 4,000 feet altitude.

In the ground fighting, the allies used bayonets and hand grenades in carving out two small beachheads Wednesday on the Hantan river north bank.

Try to Halt Advance

The Reds tried to halt the United Nations advance with heavy mortar and grenade fire.

The stiff Communist opposition led officers at first to believe they had run into the main enemy line.

The Reds have jammed 18 new divisions into North Korea.

Heavy fighting also swirled near Yanggu on the southeastern edge of the great Hwachon reservoir. Tight censorship obscured the details.

South Korean troops on the east coast swept northward to the town of Kansong, 26 miles inside Red Korea. It was the deepest penetration in the current allied offensive.

The South Koreans saw Reds withdrawing to the north. The Republican soldiers later returned to their bases south of Kansong.

Allied troops advanced from the Imjin river in the west practically all along the front to the Sea of Japan east coast. That front now is almost all in North Korea.

The total includes 8,941 killed in action, 39,500 wounded and 10,865 missing. It represents casualties whose next of kin were notified through April 6.

Of the wounded, 1,040 subsequently died and 99 of the missing are known dead, raising the total combat death figure to 10,080.

The figure on missing also includes 1,109 who have since returned to U. S. control and 115

Editorial Comment Varies On MacArthur Dismissal

(By The Associated Press)

American newspaper opinion on President Truman's removal of Gen. Douglas MacArthur ranged from a demand for Mr. Truman's impeachment to vigorous approval of his action.

Some editorial comment:

CHICAGO TRIBUNE and Washington Times-Herald: "President Truman must be impeached and convicted. His hasty and vindictive removal of General MacArthur is the culmination of a series of acts which have shown that he is unfit, morally and mentally, for his high office. * * * MacArthur was fired because he said forcefully what the people of the United States are thinking. * * * The American nation has never been in greater danger. It is led by a fool who is surrounded by knaves."

NEW YORK TIMES: "We do not see how it is possible to question the correctness of the President's decision. Policy with respect to the conduct of a war cannot be made in two places. * * * The Constitution puts the making of policy in the civilian hands of the chief executive, and it is the clear duty of the military to express its doubts or its dissent through proper military channels and not in public debate. It is, furthermore, the clear duty of the military to follow a specific presidential directive, such as was twice issued to General MacArthur."

PORTLAND OREGONIAN: "The basic issue is whether the traditional authority of civil government over military government shall be maintained. * * * But now that the President has asserted his authority, what will the people say of his policies which have led us into a war which he is unwilling to let us win? The people's anger at the

Wants 'Real Peace'

Declares He Does Not Care to See Extension of Conflict

Washington, April 12 (AP)—President Truman has pinned high hopes for peace—and vindication for firing Gen. Douglas MacArthur—on the crushing of a threatened Communist spring offensive in Korea.

Mr. Truman told the nation in a radio and television talk last night that he relieved MacArthur of his Pacific commands because the five-star general disagrees with his policy aimed at preventing the Korean fighting from spreading into a world war. Less than 22 hours had elapsed since the announcement of the picturesque general's dismissal stirred the nation and the rest of the free world.

"We do not want to see the conflict in Korea extended," the President said solemnly and firmly. "We are trying to prevent a world war—not to start one."

Mr. Truman said that the bombing of Red bases in Manchuria and the use of Chinese Nationalist troops from Formosa—both advocated by MacArthur—would involve "a grave risk of starting a general war."

Then he made it clear he believes that if a threatened new mass offensive by the Communists in Korea is crushed, the Reds may decide that further aggression there or elsewhere is "folly." Then, he said, the door would be open to a peaceful settlement "which will not compromise the principle and purpose of the United Nations."

May Be Turning Point

"Defeat of aggression in Korea may be the turning point in the world's search for a practical way of achieving peace and security," the President predicted.

Any such outcome, of course, would be pointed to by the President's friends as justifying his drastic action in removing MacArthur, a move that split Congress and the country into two camps.

President Truman departed from his prepared text of last night's speech to praise Ridgway. He said Ridgway, as commander of the Eighth Army in Korea, demonstrated he has "the qualities of leadership needed" for his multiple tasks.

Building for Attack

The President said there are signs that the Communists are building up for a new mass attack in Korea. He expressed confidence that it will be turned back.

"The United Nations forces are tough and able and well equipped," he said. "They are fighting for a just cause. * * * We pray that their efforts may succeed. For upon their success may hinge the peace of the world."

Mr. Truman said that "real peace" could be achieved on three basic conditions:

"One: The fighting must stop.

"Two: Concrete steps must be taken to insure that the fighting will not break out again.

"Three: There must be an end to aggression."

He added that "a settlement founded upon these elements would open the way for the unification of Korea and the withdrawal of all foreign forces."

Still Have Decision

Mr. Truman said that while the resolute stand in Korea already has "slowed down the time table of conquest," the Communists in the Kremlin still have the decision on whether there shall be war or peace.

"It may well be that, in spite of our best efforts, the Communists may spread the war," he warned. "But it would be wrong—tragically wrong—for us to

by Harry C. France

Presently the stock market is a teeter-board, moving up and down as prices register the hundred and one economic and psychological influences bearing down upon them.

The short interest is large. Some of the short-sellers are as stable as jackrabbits, nervous as a country boy courting his first love. That is the reason why a sudden burst in stock prices bolts out of the blue these days. Some short-sellers are like timid poker players who lose their nerve when the stakes are high.

It is fortunate for the country today that margins are 75 per cent. They are high enough to keep many speculators, emotionally ill-equipped to trade, from borrowing money to carry on operations. Thus, a dangerous element is removed from the market.

Bears are plentiful. They come in all sizes, all shapes. Some are logical in their conclusions; some are bound down by their own fancies. By nature, I am a bull and in these uncertain times I like to hear the arguments and opinions of the pessimists.

Yesterday, a man with huge bank balances gave me as fluent a 15-minute argument on why the Dow-Jones averages are going down 50 points as anybody could. When he had shot his bolt I asked:

"Really, isn't your bearishness based primarily on your keen desire to invest your idle dollars in sound equities at lower prices?"

A former student in one of my Columbia University classes and a close friend for 25 years, he replied, somewhat sheepishly: "Yes, I guess so."

There are thousands of people in the country who are unhappy about their money. This is not hard to understand. Money is part and parcel of our political and economic life. And when have America and the world been so full of economic and political confusion as now? Never. There are ghosts and goblins and giants in a hundred different forms in the capitalist world ready to frighten the fearful possessors of dollars.

Why do I write of these things? Merely to suggest that intelligent investing must rest on a solid base. Some will doubt that there is any such foundation. Well, there is.

Despite the panic in Washington, there are still in the United States a hundred corporations with good management, sound fiscal policies, efficient productive capacities and intelligent sales direction. And that is the salvation of America.

True, these enterprises are being burdened with terrific problems. But remember, when the politicians speak glowingly of a 300 billion dollar yearly national income, of the country's high standard of living, of the budget-balancing tax collections, they are speaking of our free enterprise system.

And that means our corporations. If there is a reader of these lines whose money is idle because he is politically and economically confused, let him buy one share of stock in each of five leading businesses and, becoming possessed with an idea that he is a part owner of these enterprises, let him learn to assert himself as a proprietor.

When prices and costs and taxes gang up on a potential investor and causes him to despair, one of the best things he can do is to harness himself as a stockholder to the free enterprise system.

A smart paying teller at a New York city institution where I carry a checking account (I think he knows more than some of the officers) says to me with a twinkle in his eye every time he cashes a check: "Here's some more of that paper money!"

And he isn't fooling. He knows what values have value. Sound equities, regardless of price.

Investor Forum

by Harry C. France

Presently the stock market is a teeter-board, moving up and down as prices register the hundred and one economic and psychological influences bearing down upon them.

The short interest is large. Some of the short-sellers are as stable as jackrabbits, nervous as a country boy courting his first love. That is the reason why a sudden burst in stock prices bolts out of the blue these days. Some short-sellers are like timid poker players who lose their nerve when the stakes are high.

It is fortunate for the country today that margins are 75 per cent. They are high enough to keep many speculators, emotionally ill-equipped to trade, from borrowing money to carry on operations. Thus, a dangerous element is removed from the market.

Bears are plentiful. They come in all sizes, all shapes. Some are logical in their conclusions; some are bound down by their own fancies. By nature, I am a bull and in these uncertain times I like to hear the arguments and opinions of the pessimists.

Yesterday, a man with huge bank balances gave me as fluent a 15-minute argument on why the Dow-Jones averages are going down 50 points as anybody could. When he had shot his bolt I asked:

"Really, isn't your bearishness based primarily on your keen desire to invest your idle dollars in sound equities at lower prices?"

A former student in one of my Columbia University classes and a close friend for 25 years, he replied, somewhat sheepishly: "Yes, I guess so."

There are thousands of people in the country who are unhappy about their money. This is not hard to understand. Money is part and parcel of our political and economic life. And when have America and the world been so full of economic and political confusion as now? Never. There are ghosts and goblins and giants in a hundred different forms in the capitalist world ready to frighten the fearful possessors of dollars.

Why do I write of these things? Merely to suggest that intelligent investing must rest on a solid base. Some will doubt that there is any such foundation. Well, there is.

Despite the panic in Washington, there are still in the United States a hundred corporations with good management, sound fiscal policies, efficient productive capacities and intelligent sales direction. And that is the salvation of America.

True, these enterprises are being burdened with terrific problems. But remember, when the politicians speak glowingly of a 300 billion dollar yearly national income, of the country's high standard of living, of the budget-balancing tax collections, they are speaking of our free enterprise system.

And that means our corporations. If there is a reader of these lines whose money is idle because he is politically and economically confused, let him buy one share of stock in each of five leading businesses and, becoming possessed with an idea that he is a part owner of these enterprises, let him learn to assert himself as a proprietor.

When prices and costs and taxes gang up on a potential investor and causes him to despair, one of the best things he can do is to harness himself as a stockholder to the free enterprise system.

A smart paying teller at a New York city institution where I carry a checking account (I think he knows more than some of the officers) says to me with a twinkle in his eye every time he cashes a check: "Here's some more of that paper money!"

And he isn't fooling. He knows what values have value. Sound equities, regardless of price.

LETTERS TO CONGRESS

Indications that local residents are writing to their senators and congressman expressing their opinions and desires on proposed legislation before the national legislators may be seen in the number of requests received by The Freeman for the names of the lawmakers in Washington, D. C.

As a service to the readers of The Freeman, who may desire to contact the two United States Senators from New York State and our Representative in Congress from the 30th Congressional District, which comprises the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie, we are publishing their names and party affiliation:

U. S. Senators
Irving M. Ives, Republican
Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat-Liberal
Representative in Congress
J. Ernest Wharton, Republican

The address of both the senators and the congressman is Washington, D. C.

BOX-CAR BOTTLENECK

In this day and age, decisions often must be made not between a right and a wrong course, but between two rights. That's especially true in a time of war or other crisis.

For instance, in World War II U. S. production officials were besieged with demands for steel needed for new plant facilities in the infant synthetic rubber industry. Since we were cut off from overseas supplies of natural rubber, directors of this program were able to make out a strong case.

But war output men couldn't give the rubber people all the steel they wanted, despite the program's critical standing. The reason: to have done so would have compelled taking steel from the escort destroyer building program—even more vital because these craft were needed to protect our sea lanes to Europe.

Tough choices like that are cropping up again in the present defense effort. One of them concerns railroad freight cars. In the last few months the nation has developed a serious car shortage that threatens to become worse. Right now we're averaging about 35,000 cars short every day.

That means 35,000 carloads of materials are ready for shipment each day but are not shipped because there is nothing in which to carry them.

U. S. industrial production is up 23 per cent over 1950, but the number of cars on hand is only two per cent greater than a year ago. Hence the pinch.

The railroads show their awareness of the problem. They've got 155,000 cars on order, as compared with just 26,000 this time last year. But their difficulties are complicated by the fact that thousands of old cars constantly must be taken off the rails as new ones are delivered. In February, for example, 5,500 new cars went into service but 4,000 had to be scrapped.

The National Production Authority is far from blind to this dilemma. It is allotting increased amounts of steel to the car building program. March output was up to 6,500 cars from 5,500 in February, and NPA officials predict a 9,000-car total this month. The goal is 10,050 a month by June.

And even if that is somehow achieved, the nation faces continued industrial expansion and consequently heavier demand for rail transport. Higher defense output will of course be offset by curtailed production in some lines, but the experts don't look for a sharp drop in overall civilian production.

Unless a really bold approach is taken, the car shortage may prove to be chronic, as it has been in Russia for three decades. It shouldn't have to be argued that a country's transportation system is crucial to its economy. If it isn't adequate, raw materials and finished products can't flow freely from mine to factory to market.

The pinch hasn't hurt badly yet, except in some farm areas where stored crops are piling up at considerable cost to farmers and middlemen. But the car shortage is a growing weak spot despite present efforts to cure it. We'd better put our rail transport into tip-top shape while we have the chance. Should war suddenly descend upon us, the system would be subjected to almost intolerable burdens. We can't risk a breakdown.

There's nothing like a faraway lake to give a fisherman the same kind of look.

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

THE CRIME AGAINST MacARTHUR

The President's dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur may prove to be as great a military victory for Soviet Russia as Stalingrad and as great a diplomatic victory as Yalta.

General Douglas MacArthur did not make the Korean war. Every step he took after V-J Day (August 14, 1945) has been designed to prevent just such a war. He sought to build an East Asian League of Nations, including Nationalist China, which would be a bulwark against the advancing might of Soviet Russia in that vastly populated area of the world. He realized early that our policy in China was ill-conceived and without reality.

He supported the Wedemeyer reports on China and Korea—reports which would have saved us from the current grief. MacArthur did not believe that Korea could be held by the United States on the terms arranged at Teheran and Yalta, but when on June 25, 1950, he was ordered into war there by President Truman and Dean Acheson, he undertook to save the glory of the American flag with his eyes blindfolded and at least one hand tied behind his back.

Within a few days, he discovers that he was not an American commander, but a United Nations commander. He discovered that unlike any other commanding general in the field, his decisions were subject to the approval of a vast congress of nations, large and small, among whom are our enemies, Soviet Russia and Poland, to mention only two.

He also discovered that Great Britain, with as much responsibility as we have to maintain treaty obligations and the integrity of the United Nations, was engaged in a weird strategy which included three divergent and contradictory factors:

1. To send token troops to fight in the Korean war;

2. To oppose such second-front tactics as might be useful, as, for instance, support of Nationalist China and the anti-Communist guerrillas on the mainland;

3. To use all efforts, including their effective propaganda agencies, to limit the Korean war to a stalemated, targetless action with the view that American aid and largesse might not be diverted from Europe to Asia.

And in conjunction with this, MacArthur discovered that India, just freed from the British Raj, emerged as a Soviet spokesman, the reason for this unusual demarche being the cashmir and and other antagonisms againct Pakistan, Nehru seeking Russian suport in his struggle against Moslems in India. On all sides he saw the United States being sacrificed while American sons were being killed.

War is unpleasant under any circumstances: it becomes a horror when the commanding general is being stabbed in the back and the troops under him are being sacrificed on the altar of political necessities. No general wants his men to die for nothing.

All this, General MacArthur, in his round-about language to Congressman Joe Martin, has made clear to the American people. It is a pity that General MacArthur had to use such means as letters to congressmen and private individuals to break through his muzzling by the Pentagon and the State Department. He wanted his own people to know that it is impossible to bring this Korean war to a victorious end. For this, he has been dismissed on the basis of insubordination.

As a military man, he knows that what the geniuses in Washington want to do is ridiculous, impossible. They want to play an unending game of tag, with nobody getting hurt except the troops there. The plan is the loquacious dream of gentle personalities who have a great capacity for loving the enemy. Their confusion arises from a lack of focus; they are global in their outlook, without anchorage in the United States of America. They do not quite know whether they really prefer the American system of life or any other. Acheson and Marshall accept British policy because they cannot devise a policy of their own.

To a man of MacArthur's training and history, these men must appear like curiosities, more perilous than a fighting enemy, for lacking cohesion of thought, they move simultaneously in different directions which at times make them appear to be miasmic.

The crime against General Douglas MacArthur has been that he has been given responsibility but he has not been permitted to win a war or to tell America why we are failing in a war. No man could have held such a position too long with dignity and honor.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

BUILDING STRONG BONES

A middle-aged woman asked her physician why it was that when she had a fall or other accident, she always broke a bone whereas others of her age and weight escaped with only sprains and bruises.

A little questioning as to her food habits brought out the fact that she ate meat and bread but practically no vegetables except potatoes and scarcely any fruit. The physician informed her that while meat and bread were necessary foods, and should be eaten daily, vegetables and fruits were richer in minerals, particularly calcium and phosphorus which are necessary to build up and maintain strength of bone.

Everybody is so interested in proteins (meat, eggs, fish) today and also in vitamins which are taken aside from regular meals, that not enough thought is given to minerals (iron, calcium, phosphorus) which are not only needed by the bones but by the cells of every tissue in the body. And of all of the minerals found in food, calcium is given the least thought and attention. A noted nutritionist states that as a people we do not eat enough calcium, the richest source of which is milk and milk products — butter, cream, cheese, cottage cheese — and green vegetables.

In his book Clinical Dietetics, Dr. Harry Gauss, University of Colorado School of Medicine, states that calcium (lime) comprises 2 per cent of the body weight and is located principally in the bones. Calcium and phosphorus which are used and found together, are both needed for proper development in growing children and the absence of either one is likely to result in rickets although the role of vitamin D is very important here.

Calcium is also essential to the mechanism of blood clotting. It is the calcium in the blood which finally makes the matrix or underlying element about which the clot is formed. This prevents death from bleeding.

The best source of calcium is milk. A pint of milk a day for adults and a quart for growing children will supply the needed calcium.

Food rich in both calcium and phosphorus are: Cheese, eggs, peas, beans, almonds, hazel nuts, whole wheat, turnip tops, dandelion greens.

If added to calcium and phosphorus, common foods containing iron—molasses and figs—are taken, enough bone building foods are sure to be eaten.

The Mountain Labored and Brought Forth a Mouse

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The televised Kefauver crime probe which kept millions of people glued to their television sets will have long-range repercussions this week when Sen. William Benton of Connecticut introduces a resolution aimed at the further use of television for education and public service.

Benton made a fortune in the advertising business, also owns the Muzak Corporation which pipes music into thousands of hotels and restaurants. Now working hard at his new job of senator, Benton believes the priceless TV channels of the nation should not be parceled out only for commercial purposes, but should be used in part by the universities and public school system.

So far the Federal Communications Commission has ruled that 10 per cent of the TV channels should be reserved for education. Senator Benton agrees with FC Commissioner Frieda Hennock that the figure should be at least 25 per cent.

Meanwhile Sen. Ed Johnson of Colorado has agreed to give the Benton resolution a hearing before his Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Note — Cosponsors of the TV-education resolution include Senators Hunt, Democrat of Wyoming, and Wiley, Republican of Wisconsin—both members of the Kefauver Committee. However, Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, who once tangled with the Radio Corporation of America, declined.

Postwar Scandals

After the post-Civil War scandals of the Ulysses S. Grant administration, a Republican Congress voted a law whereby no government employe could resign and prosecute a claim against the government for private business until two years after he had left the government.

The Democrats continued this law during the next major war—World War 1—and there were no major scandals. But during World War 2 both Democrats and Republicans joined in chucking this law off the statute books. As a result, some men worked for the government one month, then took jobs working against the government the next month.

Another result has been the rash of scandals now being investigated by Congress.

And although Congress deserves credit for probing them, Congress also deserves blame for throwing out a law which for 50 years had helped to hold scandals down.

This column, which three years ago exposed the surplus property operations of British ex-convict George Dawson and the indirect help he got from Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, has now unearthed another chapter in Dawson's life which illustrates how government employes are permitted to duck in and out of government service like shuttlecocks.

Dawson is the surplus property juggler, reported to have made $30,000,000 selling U. S. war goods, and who among other things tried to ship U. S. Army trucks into Communist countries.

Hires Insider

One interesting thing Dawson did to get his hands on government surplus was to hire a young man who worked for the Office of Foreign Liquidation, William E. Ryan. Ryan handled government surplus in Bermuda, knew exactly what war goods the government had on hand there, its quality and the best ways of buying it.

So, after Ryan stopped working for the Office of War Liquidation in June, 1948, he later turned up on the payroll of George Dawson, British manipulator of surplus property. Confidential letters I have obained regarding Mr. Dawson's operations show how this worked out. On Nov. 9, 1948, for instance, Dawson's Washington attorney, G. A. Chadwick, wrote him as follows:

"In the next few months there will be substantial offerings of war surplus. Bill Ryan has by now become thoroughly familiar with the surplus market. He has also made some extensive contacts and opened numerous channels for disposal of surplus. In brief, we both feel that you are definitely in business here and that we have laid the foundation for highly profitable future business."

$10,000 Fees

Dawson's payments to ex-government official Ryan are listed in another as follows: Nov. 12, '48—$3,000 cash for motorcycle seat covers; Dec. 3, '48—$3,000 by Check No. 1026; Dec. 27, '48—$500 cash; Jan. 19, '49—$2,635 expense voucher; Feb. 23, '49—$1,000 by check No. 1036 (expense voucher for February).

This makes a total of $10,635 paid in three months to the man who once handled surplus property for the U. S. Government, but who later worked for a former British black-marketeer in buying property from the U. S. Government.

Apparently, however, Dawson was not satisfied with Ryan's services. For, on Oct. 6, 1949, G. A. Chadwick, Washington attorney for Dawson, wrote Paul Hagenbach in Zurich, a surplus dealer associated with Dawson:

"I am sorry that Mr. Dawson is disappointed with Mr. Ryan's services. However, I had nothing to do with hiring Mr. Ryan and therefore cannot accept responsibility for what he has done. It is undoubtedly true that Mr. Ryan cost Mr. Dawson a good deal of money. However, to my personal knowledge Mr. Ryan was directed to perform many services and he obtained and sent abroad a great deal of merchandise for Mr. Dawson. I therefore cannot agree that his services brought no results."

RCA and Radar Patents

This is just one small chapter in the history of government employes hired by private industry to handle government business.

Another which likable, easygoing Attorney General Howard McGrath has been sitting on for a long time is the case of the Radio Corporation of America which hired the man who discovered radar, William D. Hershberger, formerly employed with the Army Signal Corps. Then it proceeded to claim radar patents for RCA and publicly filed its claim in Germany and Japan. This automatically made the secret available to Hitler and the Jap warlords and took place just before the war, at a time when radar was the most priceless military secret we had.

The Army Signal Corps wanted to prosecute RCA for this patent grab and sent the case to the Justice Department after the war for action. But suddenly, Gen. Harry C. Ingles, former chief of the Signal Corps, was hired by RCA at $30,000 a year.

After that the Signal Corps appeared to get lukewarm about any action against the Radio Corporation of America.

Note—Now that RCA's David Sarnoff has been a luncheon guest at the White House, and Margaret Truman has been hired by Sarnoff to make singing appearances on his National Broadcasting System, it will be interesting to see if Attorney General McGrath ever does get down to business about RCA's patent infringement of the most priceless prewar military secret we had.

Charge of Impeachment Would Hinge on Violation of Constitution in Carrying on War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 12—Six years ago today Vice President Truman took the oath of office as President—and now a substantial number of Republicans in party conference are talking about presenting a resolution of impeachment and trying him before the Senate of the United States.

The charge would be that Mr. Truman violated his oath of office by disregarding the Constitution of the United States in carrying on a war in Korea against China without the consent of Congress. The Constitution specifically says that only Congress may declare war.

The Republicans are determined, first, to investigate all phases of foreign policy as well as the circumstances surrounding the removal of General MacArthur. They are determined also to press in due time for the impeachment and removal of Secretry of State Acheson and any other officials who may be implicated in what the Republicans feel is a betrayal of thet nation's interests in Korea and the Far East.

An impeachment requires a majority vote of the House of Representatives. Removal requires a two-thirds vote of the Senate. Obviously at this time, with the apparent line-up of many Democrats on the side of Mr. Truman, there are not enough votes as yet to impeach. But the Republicans will carry the issue to the country and in the next several months attempt to line up enough public sentiment to compel many of the Democrats in Congress to break with the President or run the risk of themselves being beaten at the polls on an emotional issue.

For the whole Korean policy will come in for censure. Why, it will be asked, were 250,000 American boys sent to fight in Korea without authority of Congress and to suffer more than than 55,000 casualties while the commander of the armies there was forbidden to prosecute the war effectively against the enemy?

Mr. Truman's action in ousting MacArthur will accentuate the underlying issues—appeasement of communism in the Far East while resisting it in Europe. Some of the consequences that may follow from the President's sensational step are the following:

1. The Japanese people may become alarmed and fearful of Communist infiltration. The Communist Party there will be encouraged, for it was General MacArthur who really held it in check.

2. The Nationalists inside China will become discouraged and will feel that resistance against the Communists now is futile.

3. The British Labor government and particularly its "left wing" will be stimulated to criticize American policies in the future and will step up its demand for a recognition of Communist China, admission of the Communist regime into the U.N. and the turning over of Formosa to the Communists.

4. Russia will feel that the United States government is weak and irresolute and Moscow may go ahead now with plans to start trouble in other areas—pressing harder in Iran and Yugoslavia and perhaps renewing its pressure on Turkey.

5. Appeasement will be denounced on all sides, but nevertheless a truce involving a compromise will be offered to the Communist Chinese. This could virtually nullify all the sacrifices made by U.N. troops and particularly by the South Koreans, who now fear they will be turned over for massacre to the Communist authorities.

6. Demands will arise for the immediate withdrawal of American troops from Korea on the theory that their effectiveness as a fighting force has been impaired because no authority is forthcoming to bomb Manchurian bases or use Chiang Kai-Shek's troops to aid in opening a second front in Asia as MacArthur advocated.

7. Domestic political strife will be intensified. The issue will not remain narrow, as the administration may wish to keep it—that is, focused on the simple question of whether a military man did or did not obey orders. It will be broadened to force a showdown on the views held by MacArthur on far eastern policy.

8. An explanation will be demanded by the Republicans as to why General Ridgway was permitted to express political views on the whole far eastern political situation within the past few weeks and he was promoted after his utterances. He told the press that the United Nations might well stop at the 38th Parallel and achieve victory. He discussed highly controversial questions relating to U.N. policy. Was this cleared first with the authorities in Washington?

9. No committee of Congress hereafter will dare to question any military officer without the feeling that it is not getting the facts or the true judgment of the witness. Instead, only one viewpoint will prevail—that of the party in power.

10. An appeasement program could mean a third world war in a year or two, just as Munich in 1938 was followed by the outbreak of war in 1939 after Hitler had concluded that the Allies were divided and America would not fight.

These are but a few of the many effects that may ensue as the national capital is rocked by one of the most emotional crises in many years—something that will not end with the ouster of MacArthur but only at the polls in 1952. And all of this might have been avoided if Mr. Truman had called General MacArthur back for consultation, had given him a chance to express his views face to face, and then asked him point blank whether he wished to be relieved of his command or accept the Truman policies without further discussion. This would have been more statesmanlike than dismissing a general and announcing it first to the press of the world without even an opportunity for conference. Certainly Douglas MacArthus deserved more consideration from the government under whose flag he has fought so long and so valiantly.

Grange News

Membership reports beginning to come in for the first quarter of the year, just ended, are not as optimictic as had been expected, according to a letter to the Deputies by State Master Henry Sherwood. Apparently results of the Goss Memorial Membership drive have not shown yet, and time is getting pretty short — less than three months away, if we are going to make our ten net gain per Grange by June 30, 1951.

It is extremely important, and true of any organization, that particular attention must be paid to members who are delinquent in dues. Active membership committees can do a great deal to keep these folks in the fold. They are good Grange members who have forgotten their assessments. It is expected that the supper meetings which were held during the last week of March, will go a long way toward getting our Granges in the "ten net gain column." It's everyone's job.

Farm production guides are not good, with estimates in many commodities seriously below last and previous years. A good deal of speculation has been advanced for this, and much of it seems to be lack of confidence on the part of the individual farmer in the Washington situation. He has been left out in the cold when it came to defense emergency decisions in high places, and he seems to feel that we want plenty of automobiles manufactured, and of course military supplies, but that nobody cares much about our foods and fibres. Thinking economists, of whom there is a scarcity in Washington, will be quick to point out that foodstuffs are a major consideration in war or economic emergencies. No amount of words is going to help the situation: as in the past we have to fumble with trial and error. Lowered food production will cost all of us a great deal in lowered national and personal income.

Spring, if it isn't actually here, has made several overtures that show signs of its being pretty close to the next corner. We hope the next time the robins get snowed under will be their last; certainly they've had more than their traditional three. Spring is always such a splendid time to look about and count our blessings. We wish every pavement-bound soul could stop to observe one pepping crocus.

The great meteor shower of Nov. 13, 1833, was taken as an omen of the forthcoming end of the world.

Q—What is the derivation of the title Mrs.?

A—"Mrs." is actually the abbreviation of the word "mistress," originally a courtesy title given any woman, married or single. When it became customary to address married women as mistress, the pronunciation became gradually corrupted until at last it was "MISS-iz" and the spelling was abbreviated to "Mrs."

Q—What type of dog is a Lhasa Abso?

A—The shaggy dog known as a Lhasa Abso is a rare Tibetan terrier that probably has more hair per square inch than any other dog in the United States. Although he is only about 10 inches tall, he has almost enough hair to cover a St. Bernard.

Q—Who composed the famous song "Sweet Adeline"?

A—Harry Armstrong wrote the music and Richard Gerard wrote the lyrics. The song originally was titled "Sweet Rosalie." The name was changed by the publishers in honor of Adelina Patti, the opera singer. It was written in 1903.

LETTERS TO CONGRESS

Indications that local residents are writing to their senators and congressman expressing their opinions and desires on proposed legislation before the national legislators may be seen in the number of requests received by The Freeman for the names of the lawmakers in Washington, D. C.

As a service to the readers of The Freeman, who may desire to contact the two United States Senators from New York State and our Representative in Congress from the 30th Congressional District, which comprises the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie, we are publishing their names and party affiliation:

U. S. Senators
Irving M. Ives, Republican
Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat-Liberal
Representative in Congress
J. Ernest Wharton, Republican

The address of both the senators and the congressman is Washington, D. C.

BOX-CAR BOTTLENECK

In this day and age, decisions often must be made not between a right and a wrong course, but between two rights. That's especially true in a time of war or other crisis.

For instance, in World War II U. S. production officials were besieged with demands for steel needed for new plant facilities in the infant synthetic rubber industry. Since we were cut off from overseas supplies of natural rubber, directors of this program were able to make out a strong case.

But war output men couldn't give the rubber people all the steel they wanted, despite the program's critical standing. The reason: to have done so would have compelled taking steel from the escort destroyer building program—even more vital because these craft were needed to protect our sea lanes to Europe.

Tough choices like that are cropping up again in the present defense effort. One of them concerns railroad freight cars. In the last few months the nation has developed a serious car shortage that threatens to become worse. Right now we're averaging about 35,000 cars short every day.

That means 35,000 carloads of materials are ready for shipment each day but are not shipped because there is nothing in which to carry them.

U. S. industrial production is up 23 per cent over 1950, but the number of cars on hand is only two per cent greater than a year ago. Hence the pinch.

The railroads show their awareness of the problem. They've got 155,000 cars on order, as compared with just 26,000 this time last year. But their difficulties are complicated by the fact that thousands of old cars constantly must be taken off the rails as new ones are delivered. In February, for example, 5,500 new cars went into service but 4,000 had to be scrapped.

The National Production Authority is far from blind to this dilemma. It is allotting increased amounts of steel to the car building program. March output was up to 6,500 cars from 5,500 in February, and NPA officials predict a 9,000-car total this month. The goal is 10,050 a month by June.

And even if that is somehow achieved, the nation faces continued industrial expansion and consequently heavier demand for rail transport. Higher defense output will of course be offset by curtailed production in some lines, but the experts don't look for a sharp drop in overall civilian production.

Unless a really bold approach is taken, the car shortage may prove to be chronic, as it has been in Russia for three decades. It shouldn't have to be argued that a country's transportation system is crucial to its economy. If it isn't adequate, raw materials and finished products can't flow freely from mine to factory to market.

The pinch hasn't hurt badly yet, except in some farm areas where stored crops are piling up at considerable cost to farmers and taxpayers. But the car shortage is a growing weak spot despite present efforts to cure it. We'd better put our rail transport into tip-top shape while we have the chance. Should war suddenly descend upon us, the system would be subjected to almost intolerable burdens. We can't risk a breakdown.

There's nothing like a faraway lake to give a fisherman the same kind of look.

'These Days'

THE CRIME AGAINST MacARTHUR

The President's dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur may prove to be as great a military victory for Soviet Russia as Stalingrad and as great a diplomatic victory as Yalta.

General Douglas MacArthur did not make the Korean war. Every step he took after V-J Day (August 14, 1945) has been designed to prevent just such a war. He sought to build an East Asian League of Nations, including Nationalist China, which would be a bulwark against the advancing might of Soviet Russia in that vastly populated area of the world. He realized early that our policy in China was ill-conceived and without reality.

He supported the Wedemeyer reports on China and Korea—reports which would have saved us from the current grief. MacArthur did not believe that Korea could be held by the United States on the terms arranged at Teheran and Yalta, but when on June 25, 1950, he was ordered into war there by President Truman and Dean Acheson, he undertook to save the glory of the American flag with his eyes blindfolded and at least one hand tied behind his back.

Within a few days, he discovers that he was not an American commander, but a United Nations commander. He discovered that unlike any other commanding general in the field, his decisions were subject to the approval of a vast congress of nations, large and small, among whom are our enemies, Soviet Russia and Poland, to mention only two.

He also discovered that Great Britain, with as much responsibility as we have to maintain treaty obligations and the integrity of the United Nations, was engaged in a weird strategy which included three divergent and contradictory factors:

1. To send token troops to fight in the Korean war;

2. To oppose such second-front tactics as might be useful, as, for instance, support of Nationalist China and the anti-Communist guerrillas on the mainland;

3. To use all efforts, including their effective propaganda agencies, to limit the Korean war to a stalemated, targetless action with the view that American aid and largesse might not be diverted from Europe to Asia.

And in conjunction with this, MacArthur discovered that India, just freed from the British Raj, emerged as a Soviet spokesman, the reason for this unusual demarche being the cashmir and and other antagonisms againct Pakistan, Nehru seeking Russian suport in his struggle against Moslems in India. On all sides he saw the United States being sacrificed while American sons were being killed.

War is unpleasant under any circumstances; it becomes a horror when the commanding general is being stabbed in the back and the troops under him are being sacrificed on the altar of political necessities. No general wants his men to die for nothing.

All this, General MacArthur, in his round-about language to Congressman Joe Martin, has made clear to the American people. It is a pity that General MacArthur had to use such means as letters to congressmen and private individuals to break through his muzzling by the Pentagon and the State Department. He wanted his own people to know that it is impossible to bring this Korean war to a victorious end. For this he has been dismissed on the basis of insubordination.

As a military man, he knows that what the geniuses in Washington want to do is ridiculous, impossible. They want to play an unending game of tag, with nobody getting hurt except the troops there. The plan is the loquacious dream of gentle personalities who have a great capacity for loving the enemy. Their confusion arises from a lack of focus; they are global in their outlook, without anchorage in the United States of America. They do not quite know whether they really prefer the American system of life or any other. Acheson and Marshall accept British policy because they cannot devise a policy of their own.

To a man of MacArthur's training and history, these men must appear like curiosities, more perilous than a fighting enemy, for lacking cohesion of thought, they move simultaneously in different directions which at times make them appear to be miasmic.

The crime against General Douglas MacArthur has been that he has been given responsibility but he has not been permitted to win a war or to tell America why we are failing in a war. No man could have held such a position too long with dignity and honor.

That Body of Yours

BUILDING STRONG BONES

A middle-aged woman asked her physician why it was that when she had a fall or other accident, she always broke a bone whereas others of her age and weight escaped with only sprains and bruises.

A little questioning as to her food habits brought out the fact that she ate meat and bread but practically no vegetables except potatoes and scarcely any fruit. The physician informed her that while meat and bread were necessary foods, and should be eaten daily, vegetables and fruits were richer in minerals, particularly calcium and phosphorus which are necessary to build up and maintain strength of bone.

Everybody is so interested in proteins (meat, eggs, fish) today and also in vitamins which are taken aside from regular meals, that not enough thought is given to minerals (iron, calcium, phosphorus) which are not only needed by the bones but by the cells of every tissue in the body. And of all of the minerals found in food, calcium is given the least thought and attention. A noted nutritionist states that as a people we do not eat enough calcium, the richest source of which is milk and milk products — butter, cream, cheese, cottage cheese — and green vegetables.

In his book Clinical Dietetics, Dr. Harry Gauss, University of Colorado School of Medicine, states that calcium (lime) comprises 2 per cent of the body weight and is located principally in the bones. Calcium and phosphorus which are used and found together, are both needed for proper development in growing children and the absence of either one is likely to result in rickets although the role of vitamin D is very important here.

Calcium is also essential to the mechanism of blood clotting. It is the calcium in the blood which finally makes the matrix or underlying element about which the clot is formed. This prevents death from bleeding.

The best source of calcium is milk. A pint of milk a day for adults and a quart for growing children will supply the needed calcium.

Food rich in both calcium and phosphorus are: Cheese, eggs, peas, beans, almonds, hazel nuts, whole wheat, turnip tops, dandelion greens.

If added to calcium and phosphorus, common foods containing iron—molasses and figs—are taken, enough bone building foods are sure to be eaten.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The televised Kefauver crime probe which kept millions of people glued to their television sets will have long-range repercussions this week when Sen. William Benton of Connecticut introduces a resolution aimed at the further use of television for education and public service.

Benton made a fortune in the advertising business, also owns the Muzak Corporation which pipes music into thousands of hotels and restaurants. Now working hard at his new job of senator, Benton believes the priceless TV channels of the nation should not be parceled out only for commercial purposes, but should be used in part by the universities and public school system.

So far the Federal Communications Commission has ruled that 10 per cent of the TV channels should be reserved for education. Senator Benton agrees with FC Commissioner Frieda Hennock that the figure should be at least 25 per cent.

Meanwhile Sen. Ed Johnson of Colorado has agreed to give the Benton resolution a hearing before his Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Note — Cosponsors of the TV-education resolution include Senators Hunt, Democrat of Wyoming, and Wiley, Republican of Wisconsin—both members of the Kefauver Committee. However, Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, who once tangled with the Radio Corporation of America, declined.

Postwar Scandals

After the post-Civil War scandals of the Ulysses S. Grant administration, a Republican Congress voted a law whereby no government employe could resign and prosecute a claim against the government for private business until two years after he had left the government.

The Democrats continued this law during the next major war—World War 1—and there were no major scandals. But during World War 2 both Democrats and Republicans joined in chucking this law off the statute books. As a result, some men worked for the government one month, then took jobs working against the government the next month.

Another result has been the rash of scandals now being investigated by Congress.

And although Congress deserves credit for probing them, Congress also deserves blame for throwing out a law which for 50 years had helped to hold scandals down.

This column, which three years ago exposed the surplus property operations of British ex-convict George Dawson and the indirect help he got from Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, has now unearthed another chapter in Dawson's life which illustrates how government employes are permitted to duck in and out of government service like shuttlecocks.

Dawson is the surplus property juggler, reported to have made $30,000,000 selling U. S. war goods, and who among other things tried to ship U. S. Army trucks into Communist countries.

Hires Insider

One interesting thing Dawson did to get his hands on government surplus was to hire a young man who worked for the Office of Foreign Liquidation, William E. Ryan. Ryan handled government surplus in Bermuda, knew exactly what war goods the government had on hand there, its quality and the best ways of buying it.

So, after Ryan stopped working for the Office of War Liquidation in June, 1948, he later turned up on the payroll of George Dawson, British manipulator of surplus property. Confidential letters I have obained regarding Mr. Dawson's operations show how this worked out. On Nov. 9, 1948, for instance, Dawson's Washington attorney, G. A. Chadwick, wrote him as follows:

"In the next few months there will be substantial offerings of war surplus. Bill Ryan has by now become thoroughly familiar with the surplus market. He has also made some extensive contacts and opened numerous channels for disposal of surplus. In brief, we both feel that you are definitely in business here and that we have laid the foundation for highly profitable future business."

$10,000 Fees

Dawson's payments to ex-government official Ryan are listed in another as follows: Nov. 12, '48—$3,000 cash for motorcycle seat covers; Dec. 3, '48—$3,000 by Check No. 1026; Dec. 27, '48—$500 cash; Jan. 19, '49—$2,635 expense voucher; Feb. 23, '49—$1,000 by check No. 1036 (expense voucher for February).

This makes a total of $10,635 paid in three months to the man who once handled surplus property for the U. S. Government, but who later worked for a former British black-marketeer in buying property from the U. S. Government.

Apparently, however, Dawson was not satisfied with Ryan's services. For, on Oct. 6, 1949, G. A. Chadwick, Washington attorney for Dawson, wrote Paul Hagenbach in Zurich, a surplus dealer associated with Dawson:

"I am sorry that Mr. Dawson is disappointed with Mr. Ryan's services. However, I had nothing to do with hiring Mr. Ryan and therefore cannot accept responsibility for what he has done. It is undoubtedly true that Mr. Ryan cost Mr. Dawson a good deal of money. However, to my personal knowledge Mr. Ryan was directed to perform many services and he obtained and sent abroad a great deal of merchandise for Mr. Dawson. I therefore cannot agree that his services brought no results."

RCA and Radar Patents

This is just one small chapter in the history of government employes hired by private industry to handle government business.

Another which likable, easygoing Attorney General Howard McGrath has been sitting on for a long time is the case of the Radio Corporation of America which hired the man who discovered radar, William D. Hershberger, formerly employed with the Army Signal Corps. Then it proceeded to claim radar patents for RCA and publicly filed its claim in Germany and Japan. This automatically made the secret available to Hitler and the Jap warlords and took place just before the war, at a time when radar was the most priceless military secret we had.

The Army Signal Corps wanted to prosecute RCA for this patent grab and sent the case to the Justice Department after the war for action. But suddenly, Gen. Harry C. Ingles, former chief of the Signal Corps, was hired by RCA at $30,000 a year.

After that the Signal Corps appeared to get lukewarm about any action against the Radio Corporation of America.

Note—Now that RCA's David Sarnoff has been a luncheon guest at the White House, and Margaret Truman has been hired by Sarnoff to make singing appearances on his National Broadcasting System, it will be interesting to see if Attorney General McGrath ever does get down to business about RCA's patent infringement of the most priceless prewar military secret we had.

Charge of Impeachment Would Hinge on Violation of Constitution in Carrying on War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 12—Six years ago today Vice President Truman took the oath of office as President—and now a substantial number of Republicans in party conference are talking about presenting a resolution of impeachment and trying him before the Senate of the United States.

The charge would be that Mr. Truman violated his oath of office by disregarding the Constitution of the United States in carrying on a war in Korea against China without the consent of Congress. The Constitution specifically says that only Congress may declare war.

The Republicans are determined, first, to investigate all phases of foreign policy as well as the circumstances surrounding the removal of General MacArthur. They are determined also to press in due time for the impeachment and removal of Secretry of State Acheson and any other officials who may be implicated in what the Republicans feel is a betrayal of thet nation's interests in Korea and the Far East.

An impeachment requires a majority vote of the House of Representatives. Removal requires a two-thirds vote of the Senate. Obviously at this time, with the apparent line-up of many Democrats on the side of Mr. Truman, there are not enough votes as yet to impeach. But the Republicans will carry the issue to the country and in the next several months attempt to line up enough public sentiment to compel many of the Democrats in Congress to break with the President or run the risk of themselves being beaten at the polls on an emotional issue.

For the whole Korean policy will come in for censure. Why, it will be asked, were 250,000 American boys sent to fight in Korea without authority of Congress and to suffer more than than 53,000 casualties while the commander of the armies there was forbidden to prosecute the war effectively against the enemy?

Mr. Truman's action in ousting MacArthur will accentuate the underlying issues—appeasement of communism in the Far East while resisting it in Europe. Some of the consequences that may follow from the President's sensational step are the following:

1. The Japanese people may become alarmed and fearful of Communist infiltration. The Communist Party there will be encouraged, for it was General MacArthur who really held it in check.

2. The Nationalists inside China will become discouraged and will feel that resistance against the Communists now is futile.

3. The British Labor government and particularly its "left wing" will be stimulated to criticize American policies in the future and will step up its demand for a recognition of Communist China, admission of the Communist regime into the U.N. and the turning over of Formosa to the Communists.

4. Russia will feel that the United States government is weak and irresolute and Moscow may go ahead now with plans to start trouble in other areas—pressing harder in Iran and Yugoslavia and perhaps renewing its pressure on Turkey.

5. Appeasement will be denounced on all sides, but nevertheless a truce involving a compromise will be offered to the Communist Chinese. This could virtually nullify all the sacrifices made by U.N. troops and particularly by the South Koreans, who now fear they will be turned over for massacre to the Communist authorities.

6. Demands will arise for the immediate withdrawal of American troops from Korea on the theory that their effectiveness as a fighting force has been impaired because no authority is forthcoming to bomb Manchurian bases or use Chiang Kai-Shek's troops to aid in opening a second front in Asia as MacArthur advocated.

7. Domestic political strife will be intensified. The issue will not remain narrow, as the administration may wish to keep it—that is, focused on the simple question of whether a military man did or did not obey orders. It will be broadened to force a showdown on the views held by MacArthur on far eastern policy.

8. An explanation will be demanded by the Republicans as to why General Ridgway was permitted to express political views on the whole far eastern political situation within the past few weeks and he was promoted after his utterances. He told the press that the United Nations might well stop at the 38th Parallel and achieve victory. He discussed highly controversial questions relating to U.N. policy. Was this cleared first with the authorities in Washington?

9. No committee of Congress hereafter will dare to question any military officer without the feeling that it is not getting the facts or the true judgment of the witness. Instead, only one viewpoint will prevail—that of the party in power.

10. An appeasement program could mean a third world war in a year or two, just as Munich in 1938 was followed by the outbreak of war in 1939 after Hitler had concluded that the Allies were divided and America would not fight.

These are but a few of the many effects that may ensue as the national capital is rocked by one of the most emotional crises in many years—something that will not end with the ouster of MacArthur but only at the polls in 1952. And all of this might have been avoided if Mr. Truman had called General MacArthur back for consultation, had given him a chance to express his views face to face, and then asked him point blank whether he wished to be relieved of his command or accept the Truman policies without further discussion. This would have been more statesmanlike than dismissing a general and announcing it first to the press of the world without even an opportunity for conference. Certainly Douglas MacArthus deserved more consideration from the government under whose flag he has fought so long and so valiantly.

LETTERS TO CONGRESS

Indications that local residents are writing to their senators and congressman expressing their opinions and desires on proposed legislation before the national legislators may be seen in the number of requests received by The Freeman for the names of the lawmakers in Washington, D. C.

As a service to the readers of The Freeman, who may desire to contact the two United States Senators from New York State and our Representative in Congress from the 30th Congressional District, which comprises the counties of Ulster, Dutchess, Columbia, Greene and Schoharie, we are publishing their names and party affiliation:

U. S. Senators
Irving M. Ives, Republican
Herbert H. Lehman, Democrat-Liberal
Representative in Congress
J. Ernest Wharton, Republican

The address of both the senators and the congressman is Washington, D. C.

BOX-CAR BOTTLENECK

In this day and age, decisions often must be made not between a right and a wrong course, but between two rights. That's especially true in a time of war or other crisis.

For instance, in World War II U. S. production officials were besieged with demands for steel needed for new plant facilities in the infant synthetic rubber industry. Since we were cut off from overseas supplies of natural rubber, directors of this program were able to make out a strong case.

But war output men couldn't give the rubber people all the steel they wanted, despite the program's critical standing. The reason: to have done so would have compelled taking steel from the escort destroyer building program—even more vital because these craft were needed to protect our sea lanes to Europe.

Tough choices like that are cropping up again in the present defense effort. One of them concerns railroad freight cars. In the last few months the nation has developed a serious car shortage that threatens to become worse. Right now we're averaging about 35,000 cars short every day.

That means 35,000 carloads of materials are ready for shipment each day but are not shipped because there is nothing in which to carry them.

U. S. industrial production is up 23 per cent over 1950, but the number of cars on hand is only two per cent greater than a year ago. Hence the pinch.

The railroads show their awareness of the problem. They've got 155,000 cars on order, as compared with just 26,000 this time last year. But their difficulties are complicated by the fact that thousands of old cars constantly must be taken off the rails as new ones are delivered. In February, for example, 5,500 new cars went into service but 4,000 had to be scrapped.

The National Production Authority is far from blind to this dilemma. It is allotting increased amounts of steel to the car building program. March output was up to 6,500 cars from 5,500 in February, and NPA officials predict a 9,000-car total this month. The goal is 10,050 a month by June.

And even if that is somehow achieved, the nation faces continued industrial expansion and consequently heavier demand for rail transport. Higher defense output will of course be offset by curtailed production in some lines, but the experts don't look for a sharp drop in overall civilian production.

Unless a really bold approach is taken, the car shortage may prove to be chronic, as it has been in Russia for three decades. It shouldn't have to be argued that a country's transportation system is crucial to its economy. If it isn't adequate, raw materials and finished products can't flow freely from mine to factory to market.

The pinch hasn't hurt badly yet, except in some farm areas where stored crops are piling up at considerable cost to farmers and taxpayers. But the car shortage is a growing weak spot despite present efforts to cure it. We'd better put our rail transport into tip-top shape while we have the chance. Should war suddenly descend upon us, the system would be subjected to almost intolerable burdens. We can't risk a breakdown.

There's nothing like a faraway lake to give a fisherman the same kind of look.

THE CRIME AGAINST MacARTHUR

The President's dismissal of General Douglas MacArthur may prove to be as great a military victory for Soviet Russia as Stalingrad and as great a diplomatic victory as Yalta.

General Douglas MacArthur did not make the Korean war. Every step he took after V-J Day (August 14, 1945) has been designed to prevent just such a war. He sought to build an East Asian League of Nations, including Nationalist China, which would be a bulwark against the advancing might of Soviet Russia in that vastly populated area of the world. He realized early that our policy in China was ill-conceived and without reality.

He supported the Wedemeyer reports on China and Korea—reports which would have saved us from the current grief. MacArthur did not believe that Korea could be held by the United States on the terms arranged at Teheran and Yalta, but when on June 25, 1950, he was ordered into war there by President Truman and Dean Acheson, he undertook to save the glory of the American flag with his eyes blindfolded and at least one hand tied behind his back.

Within a few days, he discovers that he was not an American commander, but a United Nations commander. He discovered that unlike any other commanding general in the field, his decisions were subject to the approval of a vast congress of nations, large and small, among whom are our enemies, Soviet Russia and Poland, to mention only two.

He also discovered that Great Britain, with as much responsibility as we have to maintain treaty obligations and the integrity of the United Nations, was engaged in a weird strategy which included three divergent and contradictory factors:

1. To send token troops to fight in the Korean war;

2. To oppose such second-front tactics as might be useful, as, for instance, support of Nationalist China and the anti-Communist guerrillas on the mainland;

3. To use all efforts, including their effective propaganda agencies, to limit the Korean war to a stalemated, targetless action with the view that American aid and largesse might not be diverted from Europe to Asia.

And in conjunction with this, MacArthur discovered that India, just freed from the British Raj, emerged as a Soviet spokesman, the reason for this unusual demarche being the cashmir and and other antagonisms against Pakistan, Nehru seeking Russian suport in his struggle against Moslems in India. On all sides he saw the United States being sacrificed while American sons were being killed.

War is unpleasant under any circumstances; it becomes a horror when the commanding general is being stabbed in the back and the troops under him are being sacrificed on the altar of political necessities. No general wants his men to die for nothing.

All this, General MacArthur, in his round-about language to Congressman Joe Martin, has made clear to the American people. It is a pity that General MacArthur had to use such means as letters to congressmen and private individuals to break through his muzzling by the Pentagon and the State Department. He wanted his own people to know that it is impossible to bring this Korean war to a victorious end. For this he has been dismissed on the basis of insubordination.

As a military man, he knows that what the geniuses in Washington want to do is ridiculous, impossible. They want to play an unending game of tag, with nobody getting hurt except the troops there. The plan is the loquacious dream of gentle personalities who have a great capacity for loving the enemy. Their confusion arises from a lack of focus; they are global in their outlook, without anchorage in the United States of America. They do not quite know whether they really prefer the American system of life or any other. Acheson and Marshall accept British policy because they cannot devise a policy of their own.

To a man of MacArthur's training and history, these men must appear like curiosities, more perilous than a fighting enemy, for lacking cohesion of thought, they move simultaneously in different directions which at times make them appear to be miasmic.

The crime against General Douglas MacArthur has been that he has been given responsibility but he has not been permitted to win a war or to tell America why we are failing in a war. No man could have held such a position too long with dignity and honor.

That Body of Yours

BUILDING STRONG BONES

A middle-aged woman asked her physician why it was that when she had a fall or other accident, she always broke a bone whereas others of her age and weight escaped with only sprains and bruises.

A little questioning as to her food habits brought out the fact that she ate meat and bread but practically no vegetables except potatoes and scarcely any fruit. The physician informed her that while meat and bread were necessary foods, and should be eaten daily, vegetables and fruits were richer in minerals, particularly calcium and phosphorus which are necessary to build up and maintain strength of bone.

Everybody is so interested in proteins (meat, eggs, fish) today and also in vitamins which are taken aside from regular meals, that not enough thought is given to minerals (iron, calcium, phosphorus) which are not only needed by the bones but by the cells of every tissue in the body. And of all of the minerals found in food, calcium is given the least thought and attention. A noted nutritionist states that as a people we do not eat enough calcium, the richest source of which is milk and milk products — butter, cream, cheese, cottage cheese — and green vegetables.

In his book Clinical Dietetics, Dr. Harry Gauss, University of Colorado School of Medicine, states that calcium (lime) comprises 2 per cent of the body weight and is located principally in the bones. Calcium and phosphorus which are used and found together, are both needed for proper development in growing children and the absence of either one is likely to result in rickets although the role of vitamin D is very important here.

Calcium is also essential to the mechanism of blood clotting. It is the calcium in the blood which finally makes the matrix or underlying element about which the clot is formed. This prevents death from bleeding.

The best source of calcium is milk. A pint of milk a day for adults and a quart for growing children will supply the needed calcium.

Food rich in both calcium and phosphorus are: Cheese, eggs, peas, beans, almonds, hazel nuts, whole wheat, turnip tops, dandelion greens.

If added to calcium and phosphorus, common foods containing iron—molasses and figs—are taken, enough bone building foods are sure to be eaten.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—The televised Kefauver crime probe which kept millions of people glued to their television sets will have long-range repercussions this week when Sen. William Benton of Connecticut introduces a resolution aimed at the further use of television for education and public service.

Benton made a fortune in the advertising business, also owns the Muzak Corporation which pipes music into thousands of hotels and restaurants. Now working hard at his new job of senator, Benton believes the priceless TV channels of the nation should not be parceled out only for commercial purposes, but should be used in part by the universities and public school system.

So far the Federal Communications Commission has ruled that 10 per cent of the TV channels should be reserved for education. Senator Benton agrees with FC Commissioner Frieda Hennock that the figure should be at least 25 per cent.

Meanwhile Sen. Ed Johnson of Colorado has agreed to give the Benton resolution a hearing before his Senate Interstate Commerce Committee.

Note — Cosponsors of the TV-education resolution include Senators Hunt, Democrat of Wyoming, and Wiley, Republican of Wisconsin—both members of the Kefauver Committee. However, Senator Tobey of New Hampshire, who once tangled with the Radio Corporation of America, declined.

Postwar Scandals

After the post-Civil War scandals of the Ulysses S. Grant administration, a Republican Congress voted a law whereby no government employe could resign and prosecute a claim against the government for private business until two years after he had left the government.

The Democrats continued this law during the next major war—World War 1—and there were no major scandals. But during World War 2 both Democrats and Republicans joined in chucking this law off the statute books. As a result, some men worked for the government one month, then took jobs working against the government the next month.

Another result has been the rash of scandals now being investigated by Congress.

And although Congress deserves credit for probing them, Congress also deserves blame for throwing out a law which for 50 years had helped to hold scandals down.

This column, which three years ago exposed the surplus property operations of British ex-convict George Dawson and the indirect help he got from Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan, has now unearthed another chapter in Dawson's life which illustrates how government employes are permitted to duck in and out of government service like shuttlecocks.

Dawson is the surplus property juggler, reported to have made $30,000,000 selling U. S. war goods, and who among other things tried to ship U. S. Army trucks into Communist countries.

Hires Insider

One interesting thing Dawson did to get his hands on government surplus was to hire a young man who worked for the Office of Foreign Liquidation, William E. Ryan. Ryan handled government surplus in Bermuda, knew exactly what war goods the government had on hand there, its quality and the best ways of buying it.

So, after Ryan stopped working for the Office of War Liquidation in June, 1948, he later turned up on the payroll of George Dawson, British manipulator of surplus property. Confidential letters I have obained regarding Mr. Dawson's operations show how this worked out. On Nov. 9, 1948, for instance, Dawson's Washington attorney, G. A. Chadwick, wrote him as follows:

"In the next few months there will be substantial offerings of war surplus. Bill Ryan has by now become thoroughly familiar with the surplus market. He has also made some extensive contacts and opened numerous channels for disposal of surplus. In brief, we both feel that you are definitely in business here and that we have laid the foundation for highly profitable future business."

$10,000 Fees

Dawson's payments to ex-government official Ryan are listed in another as follows: Nov. 12, '48—$3,000 cash for motorcycle seat covers; Dec. 3, '48—$3,000 by Check No. 1026; Dec. 27, '48—$500 cash; Jan. 19, '49—$2,635 expense voucher; Feb. 23, '49—$1,000 by check No. 1036 (expense voucher for February).

This makes a total of $10,635 paid in three months to the man who once handled surplus property for the U. S. Government, but who later worked for a former British black-marketeer in buying property from the U. S. Government.

Apparently, however, Dawson was not satisfied with Ryan's services. For, on Oct. 6, 1949, G. A. Chadwick, Washington attorney for Dawson, wrote Paul Hagenbach in Zurich, a surplus dealer associated with Dawson:

"I am sorry that Mr. Dawson is disappointed with Mr. Ryan's services. However, I had nothing to do with hiring Mr. Ryan and therefore cannot accept responsibility for what he has done. It is undoubtedly true that Mr. Ryan cost Mr. Dawson a good deal of money. However, to my personal knowledge Mr. Ryan was directed to perform many services and he obtained and sent abroad a great deal of merchandise for Mr. Dawson. I therefore cannot agree that his services brought no results."

RCA and Radar Patents

This is just one small chapter in the history of government employes hired by private industry to handle government business.

Another which likable, easygoing Attorney General Howard McGrath has been sitting on for a long time is the case of the Radio Corporation of America which hired the man who discovered radar, William D. Hershberger, formerly employed with the Army Signal Corps. Then it proceeded to claim radar patents for RCA and publicly filed its claim in Germany and Japan. This automatically made the secret available to Hitler and the Jap warlords and took place just before the war, at a time when radar was the most priceless military secret we had.

The Army Signal Corps wanted to prosecute RCA for this patent grab and sent the case to the Justice Department after the war for action. But suddenly, Gen. Harry C. Ingles, former chief of the Signal Corps, was hired by RCA at $30,000 a year.

After that the Signal Corps appeared to get lukewarm about any action against the Radio Corporation of America.

Note—Now that RCA's David Sarnoff has been a luncheon guest at the White House, and Margaret Truman has been hired by Sarnoff to make singing appearances on his National Broadcasting System, it will be interesting to see if Attorney General McGrath ever does get down to business about RCA's patent infringement of the most priceless prewar military secret we had.

Charge of Impeachment Would Hinge on Violation of Constitution in Carrying on War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, April 12—Six years ago today Vice President Truman took the oath of office as President—and now a substantial number of Republicans in party conference are talking about presenting a resolution of impeachment and trying him before the Senate of the United States.

The charge would be that Mr. Truman violated his oath of office by disregarding the Constitution of the United States in carrying on a war in Korea against China without the consent of Congress. The Constitution specifically says that only Congress may declare war.

The Republicans are determined, first, to investigate all phases of foreign policy as well as the circumstances surrounding the removal of General MacArthur. They are determined also to press in due time for the impeachment and removal of Secretry of State Acheson and any other officials who may be implicated in what the Republicans feel is a betrayal of thet nation's interests in Korea and the Far East.

An impeachment requires a majority vote of the House of Representatives. Removal requires a two-thirds vote of the Senate. Obviously at this time, with the apparent line-up of many Democrats on the side of Mr. Truman, there are not enough votes as yet to impeach. But the Republicans will carry the issue to the country and in the next several months attempt to line up enough public sentiment to compel many of the Democrats in Congress to break with the President or run the risk of themselves being beaten at the polls on an emotional issue.

For the whole Korean policy will come in for censure. Why, it will be asked, were 250,000 American boys sent to fight in Korea without authority of Congress and to suffer more than than 55,000 casualties while the commander of the armies there was forbidden to prosecute the war effectively against the enemy?

Mr. Truman's action in ousting MacArthur will accentuate the underlying issues—appeasement of communism in the Far East while resisting it in Europe. Some of the consequences that may follow from the President's sensational step are the following:

1. The Japanese people may become alarmed and fearful of Communist infiltration. The Communist Party there will be encouraged, for it was General MacArthur who really held it in check.

2. The Nationalists inside China will become discouraged and will feel that resistance against the Communists now is futile.

3. The British Labor government and particularly its "left wing" will be stimulated to criticize American policies in the future and will step up its demand for a recognition of Communist China, admission of the Communist regime into the U.N. and the turning over of Formosa to the Communists.

4. Russia will feel that the United States government is weak and irresolute and Moscow may go ahead now with plans to start trouble in other areas—pressing harder in Iran and Yugoslavia and perhaps renewing its pressure on Turkey.

5. Appeasement will be denounced on all sides, but nevertheless a truce involving a compromise will be offered to the Communist Chinese. This could virtually nullify all the sacrifices made by U.N. troops and particularly by the South Koreans, who now fear they will be turned over for massacre to the Communist authorities.

6. Demands will arise for the immediate withdrawal of American troops from Korea on the theory that their effectiveness as a fighting force has been impaired because no authority is forthcoming to bomb Manchurian bases or use Chiang Kai-Shek's troops to aid in opening a second front in Asia as MacArthur advocated.

7. Domestic political strife will be intensified. The issue will not remain narrow, as the administration may wish to keep it—that is, focused on the simple question of whether a military man did or did not obey orders. It will be broadened to force a showdown on the views held by MacArthur on far eastern policy.

8. An explanation will be demanded by the Republicans as to why General Ridgway was permitted to express political views on the whole far eastern political situation within the past few weeks and he was promoted after his utterances. He told the press that the United Nations might well stop at the 38th Parallel and achieve victory. He discussed highly controversial questions relating to U.N. policy. Was this cleared first with the authorities in Washington?

9. No committee of Congress hereafter will dare to question any military officer without the feeling that it is not getting the facts or the true judgment of the witness. Instead, only one viewpoint will prevail—that of the party in power.

10. An appeasement program could mean a third world war in a year or two, just as Munich in 1938 was followed by the outbreak of war in 1939 after Hitler had concluded that the Allies were divided and America would not fight.

These are but a few of the many effects that may ensue as the national capital is rocked by one of the most emotional crises in many years—something that will not end with the ouster of MacArthur but only at the polls in 1952. And all of this might have been avoided if Mr. Truman had called General MacArthur back for consultation, had given him a chance to express his views face to face, and then asked him point blank whether he wished to be relieved of his command or accept the Truman policies without further discussion. This would have been more statesmanlike than dismissing a general and announcing it first to the press of the world without even an opportunity for conference. Certainly Douglas MacArthus deserved more consideration from the government under whose flag he has fought so long and so valiantly.

Grange News

Membership reports beginning to come in for the first quarter of the year, just ended, are not as optimictic as had been expected, according to a letter to the Deputies by State Master Henry Sherwood. Apparently results of the Goss Memorial Membership drive have not shown yet, and time is getting pretty short — less than three months away, if we are going to make our ten net gain per Grange by June 30, 1951.

It is extremely important, and true of any organization, that particular attention must be paid to members who are delinquent in dues. Active membership committees can do a great deal to keep these folks in the fold. They are good Grange members who have forgotten their assessments. It is expected that the supper meetings which were held during the last week of March, will go a long way toward getting our Granges in the "ten net gain column." It's everyone's job.

Farm production guides are not good, with estimates in many commodities seriously below last and previous years. A good deal of speculation has been advanced for this, and much of it seems to be lack of confidence on the part of the individual farmer in the Washington situation. He has been left out in the cold when it came to defense emergency decisions in high places, and he seems to feel that we want plenty of automobiles manufactured, and of course military supplies, but that nobody cares much about our foods and fibres. Thinking economists, of whom there is a scarcity in Washington, will be quick to point out that foodstuffs are a major consideration in war or economic emergencies. No amount of words is going to help the situation: as in the past we have to fumble with trial and error. Lowered food production will cost all of us a great deal in lowered national and personal income.

Spring, if it isn't actually here, has made several overtures that show signs of its being pretty close to the next corner. We hope the next time the robins get snowed under will be their last; certainly they've had more than their traditional three. Spring is always such a splendid time to look about and count our blessings. We wish every pavement-bound soul could stop to observe one pepping crocus.

The great meteor shower of Nov. 13, 1833, was taken as an omen of the forthcoming end of the world.

Aboard 'Big Mo'

Two area men, William A. McBride of Kingston and John A. DeWitt of Port Ewen, are en route home to the United States aboard the U.S.S. Missouri from Korean waters.

McBride, musician, third class, U.S.N., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William McBride of 40 Janet street. DeWitt, fireman apprentice, U.S.N., is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred J. DeWitt of Hasbrouck street, Port Ewen.

The Missouri, scheduled to arrive April 12 at Long Beach, Calif., began a 60,000-mile voyage last August 19 from Norfolk, Va. From the time the battleship went into action at Pohang, Korea, until her departure it took part in the Inchon and Wonsan invasions, 19 shore bombardments and the famous evacuation at Hungnam.

Three times she raced the length of the Korean peninsula on a series of missions, adding her deadly and accurate fire power to the mounting toll of dead and wounded Communists in "Operation Killer."

BROWN'S BEANS

Commerce Group Anxious About Bowling Tourney

The Kingston Chamber of Commerce reaffirmed its support of the Kingston Bowling Association's bid for the New York State Men's Bowling Tournament next year and heard Mrs. Anne Cragin of the Red Cross Disaster Service at the regular meeting of the board of directors Tuesday night at the Governor Clinton Hotel at which President Lawrence J. MacAvery presided. Mrs. Cragin was invited to the meeting to describe how the Red Cross functions in alleviating the suffering of disaster sufferers. The informal discussion indicated that there are reasons for delay in giving assistance in some cases until the actual losses become evident.

A delegation will be sent to the New York State Bowling Association convention in Elmira on April 21, to help support the invitation of the Kingston Bowling Association to hold the 1952 tournament in Kingston. Earthquake Toll

The National Geographic Society says it is estimated three to four million persons have been killed by earthquakes since 600 A. D.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Isidor Sampson tells me about his uncle and cousins who had the Sampson building and Sampson Opera House, down where the Freeman office building is today. He remembered them tell how the Sampson brothers brought the famous singer Jenny Lind to Kingston. The uptown opera house also tried to have her appear up there, but she only appeared in Rondout at the Sampson Opera House. Perhaps some of the readers have items on it.

The Port Ewen Library some time ago loaned me "Olde Ulsters" one of which, dated April, 1905, is before me. The collection which the editor Benjamin Myer Brink made in these magazines by recopying and translating the old records gives a true picture of for instance "Esopus as a granary." The following item is from Thomas Dongan who became governor of New York in 1683 and in 1684 he sent this report to the British home government on the state of the province in these terms: "The principal towns within this government are New York, Albany and Kingston at Esopus. All the rest are country villages. The buildings in New York and Albany are generally of stone and brick. In the country the houses are mosty new, built, having two or three rooms on a floor. The Dutch are great improvers of land. New York and Albany live wholly upon trade with the Indians, England and the West Indies. The returns for England are generally beaver, peltry, oil and tobacco, when we can have it. To the West Indies we send flour, bread, peas, pork and sometimes horses. The return from thence, for the most part, rum, which pays the King a considerable excise; and some molasses, which serves the people to make drink and pays no custom."

Another items follows: "New York and Albany live wholly upon trade with the Indians and foreign commerce and the Esopus must feed the colony." The governor continues: "Every town and county are obliged to maintain their own poor, which makes them be so careful that no vagabonds, beggars nor idle persons are suffered to live here."

This April, 1905 issue contains ancestry record of Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United family records, who was born in New York, October 27th, 1858. Nicholas Roosevelt, the first of the family in this country, was baptized in the Dutch Church of New York city, October 2, 1658. He removed to Kingston previous to 1680 and on Dec. 26th, 1682 he married in New York Heyltje Jans Kunst, daughter of Jan Barentsen Kunst. His first four children were baptized in Kingston. Jannetje, Margaretta, Nicholas and Johannes, ancestors of President T. Roosevelt. He moved to New York and was Alderman in New York from 1698 through 1761, and also in 1715. No doubt that is the first political office held by a Roosevelt in this country.

I am always interested to read about agreements of the colonists to buy land from the Indians. One such agreement dated May 26th, 1677 on ths other side of Rondout Kill during Governor Edmond Andros reads: "The Indians shall also have fully as much liberty and license to hunt all kind of wild animal and to fish, as the Christians." This was one of the stipulations besides the kettles, axes, blankets, guns, wine, etc., paid the Indians by the colonists.

Halifax (AP)—Capt. J. Giviklenski of the Polish liner Batory said here neither New York nor Halifax is exactly what he likes in seaports. "Take the busy entertainment and mix it half-and-half with Halifax's quiet hospitality—that would be just perfect," he told reporters.

Do You Remember

by SOPHIE MILLER

Isidor Sampson tells me about his uncle and cousins who had the Sampson building and Sampson Opera House, down where the Freeman office building is today. He remembered them tell how the Sampson brothers brought the famous singer Jenny Lind to Kingston. The uptown opera house also tried to have her appear up there, but she only appeared in Rondout at the Sampson Opera House. Perhaps some of the readers have items on it.

The Port Ewen Library some time ago loaned me "Olde Ulsters" one of which, dated April, 1905, is before me. The collection which the editor Benjamin Myer Brink made in these magazines by recopying and translating the old records gives a true picture of for instance "Esopus as a granary." The following item is from Thomas Dongan who became governor of New York in 1683 and in 1684 he sent this report to the British home government on the state of the province in these terms: "The principal towns within this government are New York, Albany and Kingston at Esopus. All the rest are country villages. The buildings in New York and Albany are generally of stone and brick. In the country the houses are mosty new, built, having two or three rooms on a floor. The Dutch are great improvers of land. New York and Albany live wholly upon trade with the Indians, England and the West Indies. The returns for England are generally beaver, peltry, oil and tobacco, when we can have it. To the West Indies we send flour, bread, peas, pork and sometimes horses. The return from thence, for the most part, rum, which pays the King a considerable excise; and some molasses, which serves the people to make drink and pays no custom."

Another items follows: "New York and Albany live wholly upon trade with the Indians and foreign commerce and the Esopus must feed the colony." The governor continues: "Every town and county are obliged to maintain their own poor, which makes them be so careful that no vagabonds, beggars nor idle persons are suffered to live here."

This April, 1905 issue contains ancestry record of Theodore Roosevelt, president of the United family records, who was born in New York, October 27th, 1858. Nicholas Roosevelt, the first of the family in this country, was baptized in the Dutch Church of New York city, October 2, 1658. He removed to Kingston previous to 1680 and on Dec. 26th, 1682 he married in New York Heyltje Jans Kunst, daughter of Jan Barentsen Kunst. His first four children were baptized in Kingston. Jannetje, Margaretta, Nicholas and Johannes, ancestors of President T. Roosevelt. He moved to New York and was Alderman in New York from 1698 through 1761, and also in 1715. No doubt that is the first political office held by a Roosevelt in this country.

I am always interested to read about agreements of the colonists to buy land from the Indians. One such agreement dated May 26th, 1677 on ths other side of Rondout Kill during Governor Edmond Andros reads: "The Indians shall also have fully as much liberty and license to hunt all kind of wild animal and to fish, as the Christians." This was one of the stipulations besides the kettles, axes, blankets, guns, wine, etc., paid the Indians by the colonists.

Halifax (AP)—Capt. J. Giviklenski of the Polish liner Batory said here neither New York nor Halifax is exactly what he likes in seaports. "Take the busy entertainment and mix it half-and-half with Halifax's quiet hospitality—that would be just perfect," he told reporters.

Communist Press Hails Ouster as Red Peace Victory

London, April 12 (AP)—The removal of General Douglas MacArthur from his high command in Tokyo won European acclaim on both sides of the Iron Curtain today—for different reasons.

Although there was a sprinkling of minority opinion, most western press comment followed these general lines:

1. The firing of the general may improve chances of a negotiated peace in Korea.

2. His persistent forays into the political field, traditionally a civilian province, left President Truman no choice.

The few dissenters took the view that the action will be interpreted by Communist aggressors as a sign that western will to resist is weakening.

Hailed by Reds

The Communist press hailed the dismissal as a great victory for the Red "peace" campaign.

But up to mid-day, the Peiping government of Communist China had still to be heard from. Moscow papers gave no clue to the Kremlin's reception of the big news, publishing only a brief announcement without comment.

London's liberal middle-of-the-road News-Chronicle took this line, echoed in many newspapers of western Europe:

"The United Nations fighting in Korea will regret the loss of MacArthur's military qualities. But cessation of his forays into politics will certainly make for easier relationships among them * * *.

"The change in command may itself encourage the Chinese to negotiate. The United Nations should be prepared to make the most of any such possibility."

View of Express

The independent Daily Express, however, held that "outside the Kremlin, no one can view with satisfaction the sacking of MacArthur. Soldiers of his brilliance can ill be spared."

In Rome, the Communist L'Unita described the dismissal as a "defeat of imperialism" and a "victory for the partisans of peace."

Copenhagen's Communist "Land Og Folk" said:

"Now MacArthur, the greatest undisguised warmonger of the United States has been removed. The peace movement is right in attributing to itself honor for this."

Prague's Reaction

In Prague, the Communist party organ Rude Pravo said "American-British imperialists" have been forced to "sacrifice" MacArthur, but asserted:

"Plain people see indeed MacArthur is dismissed but they know at the same time that what they hate MacArthur for is not removed—war crimes of the imperialists in Korea and in the Far East and the criminal effort to unleash war flames."

In the British crown colony of Hong Kong, adjoining Red China, the Communist paper Ta Kung Pao called the move "evidence of dissension among aggressor nations."

Kung Sheung Daily News, friendly to the Chinese Nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek, said this is a dangerous time to swap commanders.

The Chinese-owned English language Standard said "those who have championed the Europe-first policy" have triumphed. But the paper asked:

"What are the democracies going to do if, after this development, Peiping still persists in fighting in Korea?"

Truman Pins . . .

take the initiative in extending the war."

He said he is trying to limit the war in Korea "to make sure that the precious lives of our fighting men are not wasted; to see that the security of our country and the free world is not needlessly jeopardized; and to prevent a third world war."

"A number of events have made it evident that General MacArthur did not agree with that policy," the President said. "Have therefore considered it essential to relieve General MacArthur so that there would be no doubt or confusion as to the real purpose and aim of our policy."

With Deepest Regret

He said it was "with the deepest personal regret" that he took the action, because he regards MacArthur as, "one of our greatest military commanders."

"But the cause of world peace is more important than any individual," the President said.

The President read from what he said were two secret intelligence reports.

One quoted a Moscow-trained Communist officer as having predicted the invasion of South Korea a month before it happened last June and having called it "the first step toward the liberation of Asia."

The second quoted another Communist officer as saying that the United States "is the only obstacle on our road for the liberation of all countries in southeast Asia."

The President said the Communists "want to control all Asia from the Kremlin." The best way of stopping that, he added, is to defeat the attack in Korea.

He made no mention, however, of additional forces for the Korean fighting, a request that MacArthur has made repeatedly.

Tax Deadline Nears

Albany, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—Better hurry up and file your state income tax returns. The deadline is Monday. The State Tax Commission said today that less than 1,500,000 of the expected 4,000,000 returns had been received. To help taxpayers in the closing rush, state income tax offices will remain open until 6 p. m. tomorrow and Saturday, and until 9 p. m. Monday.

Whitney Anxious

Martin, dispatched from here four days prior thereto, as dealing exclusively with the military situation and within the area of this uncontested authority to speak. The one bore no slightest relationship to the other."

President Truman released documents on the dismissal include one calling MacArthur's attention to a Dec. 6 directive. That directive had enjoined the issuance of public statements on foreign policy without reference to the State Department for clearance.

On that point, Whitney said:

"The directive of Dec. 6 was not directed to General MacArthur personally but was directed to all executive agencies of the government . . . . furthermore, the directive of Dec. 6, by its terms and spirit, was interpreted at this headquarters as applying solely to formal public statements and not to communiques, correspondence, or personal conversations with others."

Assures Martin

Whitney said Martin telephoned him last night on the possibility of MacArthur appearing before a joint session of Congress to present his views. Whitney said he assured Martin that MacArthur would feel honored to do so if officially invited.

Whitney indicated MacArthur could be back in the United States within three weeks.

MacArthur was represented as eager to return to the homeland he hasn't seen in 14 years. During that time he commanded the campaign in the Pacific from Manila to Melbourne, then back against the Japanese all the way to Tokyo.

Mrs. MacArthur and their son Arthur plan to go to the United States with the general. Arthur was born in Manila and all his 13 years have been lived outside the United States.

What he will do now remained an item of top speculation.

Reports never fully denied said a few years ago that MacArthur had been offered a substantial position with Remington Rand Corp.

MacArthur has told various visitors he intends to live in Milwaukee and Washington upon retirement. But no one knowing him considers he will ever retire.

At 71 he works a seven-day week without holiday breaks.

Five Firemen Under Charges

New York, April 12 (AP)—Five former firemen, including a retired captain are under charges today of having worked with a one-time top fire department official in a $500,000-a-year shakedown scheme.

They allegedly victimized fuel oil equipment installers of more than $1,500,000 in the last three years.

The former high official, who purportedly got a big share of the take, was not identified, nor was he named in a grand jury indictment against the five ex-firemen.

The five were arrested yesterday under a conspiracy and extortion indictment listing 59 counts. All pleaded innocent to the charges before General Sessions Judge Jonah J. Goldstein. He set bail ranging from $3,000 to $6,000 per man.

Four of the accused firemen are retired and the other resigned a month ago. One was a former captain.

District Attorney Frank S. Hogan said the shakedown cost installers up to $35 every time they needed a fire department permit to install a fuel oil tank in a home or business building.

Each of the five defendants, if convicted on all 59 counts, theoretically could get up to 873 years in prison.

Hogan said the chief figure among the five in the alleged racket was 52-year-old James Smith, a friend of former First Deputy Fire Chief James J. Moran. Moran recently was ousted as city water commissioner as a result of the Senate Crime Committee hearings, and indicted on perjury charges.

Communist Press Hails Ouster as Red Peace Victory

London, April 12 (AP)—The removal of General Douglas MacArthur from his high command in Tokyo won European acclaim on both sides of the Iron Curtain today—for different reasons.

Although there was a sprinkling of minority opinion, most western press comment followed these general lines:

1. The firing of the general may improve chances of a negotiated peace in Korea.

2. His persistent forays into the political field, traditionally a civilian province, left President Truman no choice.

The few dissenters took the view that the action will be interpreted by Communist aggressors as a sign that western will to resist is weakening.

Hailed by Reds

The Communist press hailed the dismissal as a great victory for the Red "peace" campaign.

But up to mid-day, the Peiping government of Communist China had still to be heard from. Moscow papers gave no clue to the Kremlin's reception of the big news, publishing only a brief announcement without comment.

London's liberal middle-of-the-road News-Chronicle took this line, echoed in many newspapers of western Europe:

"The United Nations fighting in Korea will regret the loss of MacArthur's military qualities. But cessation of his forays into politics will certainly make for easier relationships among them * * *.

"The change in command may itself encourage the Chinese to negotiate. The United Nations should be prepared to make the most of any such possibility."

View of Express

The independent Daily Express, however, held that "outside the Kremlin, no one can view with satisfaction the sacking of MacArthur. Soldiers of his brilliance can ill be spared."

In Rome, the Communist L'Unita described the dismissal as a "defeat of imperialism" and a "victory for the partisans of peace."

Copenhagen's Communist "Land Og Folk" said:

"Now MacArthur, the greatest undisguised warmonger of the United States has been removed. The peace movement is right in attributing to itself honor for this."

Prague's Reaction

In Prague, the Communist party organ Rude Pravo said "American-British imperialists" have been forced to "sacrifice" MacArthur, but asserted:

"Plain people see indeed MacArthur is dismissed but they know at the same time that what they hate MacArthur for is not removed—war crimes of the imperialists in Korea and in the Far East and the criminal effort to unleash war flames."

In the British crown colony of Hong Kong, adjoining Red China, the Communist paper Ta Kung Pao called the move "evidence of dissension among aggressor nations."

Kung Sheung Daily News, friendly to the Chinese Nationalist regime of Chiang Kai-shek, said this is a dangerous time to swap commanders.

The Chinese-owned English language Standard said "those who have championed the Europe-first policy" have triumphed. But the paper asked:

"What are the democracies going to do if, after this development, Peiping still persists in fighting in Korea?"

Truman Pins . . .

take the initiative in extending the war."

He said he is trying to limit the war in Korea "to make sure that the precious lives of our fighting men are not wasted; to see that the security of our country and the free world is not needlessly jeopardized; and to prevent a third world war."

"A number of events have made it evident that General MacArthur did not agree with that policy," the President said. "Have therefore considered it essential to relieve General MacArthur so that there would be no doubt or confusion as to the real purpose and aim of our policy."

With Deepest Regret

He said it was "with the deepest personal regret" that he took the action, because he regards MacArthur as "one of our greatest military commanders."

"But the cause of world peace is more important than any individual," the President said.

The President read from what he said were two secret intelligence reports.

One quoted a Moscow-trained Communist officer as having predicted the invasion of South Korea a month before it happened last June and having called it "the first step toward the liberation of Asia."

The second quoted another Communist officer as saying that the United States "is the only obstacle on our road for the liberation of all countries in southeast Asia."

The President said the Communists "want to control all Asia from the Kremlin." The best way of stopping that, he added, is to defeat the attack in Korea.

He made no mention, however, of additional forces for the Korean fighting, a request that MacArthur has made repeatedly.

Tax Deadline Nears

Albany, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—Better hurry up and file your state income tax returns. The deadline is Monday. The State Tax Commission said today that less than 1,500,000 of the expected 4,000,000 returns had been received. To help taxpayers in the closing rush, state income tax offices will remain open until 6 p. m. tomorrow and Saturday, and until 9 p. m. Monday.

Australia Gets More Cars

Sydney (AP)—Motor car registrations in Australia in 1950 totaled 148,531. Australia has a population of just over 8,000,000 people. The 1950 new registration figure was a record high. It exceeded the 1949 record by 62,414, and the previous record figure (1929) by 93,247. Despite the high figures for 1950, the accumulation of orders increased and the waiting time for new vehicles lengthened by months.

Columnist Says MacArthur Was To Have Resigned

Chicago, April 12 (AP)—Irv Kupcinet, Chicago Sun-Times columnist, said today "veteran Pentagon observers believe Gen. MacArthur was about to resign when President Truman removed him."

He told a reporter his source was a "man in the military in the Pentagon" whose name he could not disclose.

Kupcinet, known as "Kup," said in his column Washington newsmen "had been alerted for a possible 'statement of far-reaching importance' from Tokyo" prior to President Truman's announcement that MacArthur was fired.

"Washington is buzzing with reports that President Truman beat Gen. MacArthur to the punch with his midnight firing of the hero-general," Kup declared. "Veteran Pentagon observers believe MacArthur was getting ready to announce his resignation with a dramatic statement.

"In fact, Washington newsmen, prior to the President's midnight news conference, had been alerted for a possible 'statement of far reaching importance from Tokyo.' These observers, in reconstructing the story, believe MacArthur knew his goose was cooked in Washington by his answer to Army Secretary Frank Pace, who delivered a 'fall in line—or else' ultimatum, and was prepared to step down."

No Facts Established

The Washington bureau of the Associated Press reported it was unable to establish any facts bearing out the columnist's report.

A similar story was broadcast last night by Morgan Beatty on his "News of the World" program over NBC. Beatty said he "cautiously reports to you a rumor in high places in the capital" and added:

"It comes from circles very close to the White House and it is this: That General Douglas MacArthur actually had planned to submit his resignation to President Truman dated Friday of this week.

"Copy of the document was seen in Tokyo yesterday by Secretary of the Army Frank Pace. The President's dismissal anticipated the resignation.

"We (Beatty)) are unable to obtain confirmation at this time so the listener is warned that this is a rumor circulating in highly placed officialdom in Washington."

Flood Warning System Sought

Advice of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association in setting up a flood warning system was sought Wednesday night by John M. Walker, chairman of a group of 70 flood victims who organized last Friday night.

Walker addressed members of the firemen's association board of directors at a meeting at the Central Fire Station in Kingston.

No action was taken at the meeting, but Chief Edward Mains of Port Ewen Fire Company and Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston Fire Department have been invited to attend the next general meeting of flood victims, scheduled to be held 8 p. m. Saturday, April 14, at the Town of Ulster highway department garage.

'Jumpers' Don't Hurt

New York (AP)—The average person thinks that the largest yearly loss a hotel sustains is from "skippers" — a name given to those who leave a hotel without paying bill. This is not true. According to figures just released by one New York hotel, which depends on tourists 90 per cent of its business (the Hotel Edison) losses from "skippers" is a quarter of 1 per cent. Hotels lose more than that on people taking linens, towels, and knick-knacks in the room.

Birds, as well as airplanes, sometimes are forced down because of ice on their wings.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 12 (AP)—Prices were steady today in the stock market. Trading was quiet.

Despite the calm, reverberations from President Truman's dismissal of General MacArthur still were being felt.

That was shown both in the cautiousness of traders and also in the attention paid to the so-called peace stocks at the expense of the heavy industries that would tend to benefit most by rearming.

The initial forward move in the market was made by the radio-television group. Gains amounted to fractions to more than a dollar a share.

AVCO was heavily traded in blocks as large as 20,000 shares, mostly unchanged at 8. The Crosley division of AVCO announced a new converter to adapt television sets to the new ultra-high frequency channels.

Best gains were made by Columbia Broadcasting System "A" and "B". Columbia has proposed to acquire hytron radio which would put CBS into all fields of the radio business.

Air lines made active gains running to more than a point, and most of the oils and chemicals were higher.

Australia Gets More Cars

Sydney (AP)—Motor car registrations in Australia in 1950 totaled 148,531. Australia has a population of just over 8,000,000 people. The 1950 new registration figure was a record high. It exceeded the 1949 record by 62,414, and the previous record figure (1929) by 93,247. Despite the high figures for 1950, the accumulation of orders increased and the waiting time for new vehicles lengthened by months.

Columnist Says MacArthur Was To Have Resigned

Chicago, April 12 (AP)—Irv Kupcinet, Chicago Sun-Times columnist, said today "veteran Pentagon observers believe Gen. MacArthur was about to resign when President Truman removed him."

He told a reporter his source was a "man in the military in the Pentagon" whose name he could not disclose.

Kupcinet, known as "Kup," said in his column Washington newsmen "had been alerted for a possible 'statement of far-reaching importance' from Tokyo" prior to President Truman's announcement that MacArthur was fired.

"Washington is buzzing with reports that President Truman beat Gen. MacArthur to the punch with his midnight firing of the hero-general," Kup declared. "Veteran Pentagon observers believe MacArthur was getting ready to announce his resignation with a dramatic statement.

"In fact, Washington newsmen, prior to the President's midnight news conference, had been alerted for a possible 'statement of far reaching importance from Tokyo.' These observers, in reconstructing the story, believe MacArthur knew his goose was cooked in Washington by his answer to Army Secretary Frank Pace, who delivered a 'fall in line—or else' ultimatum, and was prepared to step down."

No Facts Established

The Washington bureau of the Associated Press reported it was unable to establish any facts bearing out the columnist's report.

A similar story was broadcast last night by Morgan Beatty on his "News of the World" program over NBC. Beatty said he "cautiously reports to you a rumor in high places in the capital" and added:

"It comes from circles very close to the White House and it is this: That General Douglas MacArthur actually had planned to submit his resignation to President Truman dated Friday of this week.

"Copy of the document was seen in Tokyo yesterday by Secretary of the Army Frank Pace. The President's dismissal anticipated the resignation.

"We (Beatty)) are unable to obtain confirmation at this time so the listener is warned that this is a rumor circulating in highly placed officialdom in Washington."

Flood Warning System Sought

Advice of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association in setting up a flood warning system was sought Wednesday night by John M. Walker, chairman of a group of 70 flood victims who organized last Friday night.

Walker addressed members of the firemen's association board of directors at a meeting at the Central Fire Station in Kingston.

No action was taken at the meeting, but Chief Edward Mains of Port Ewen Fire Company and Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston Fire Department have been invited to attend the next general meeting of flood victims, scheduled to be held 8 p. m. Saturday, April 14, at the Town of Ulster highway department garage.

'Jumpers' Don't Hurt

New York (AP)—The average person thinks that the largest yearly loss a hotel sustains is from "skippers" — a name given to those who leave a hotel without paying bill. This is not true. According to figures just released by one New York hotel, which depends on tourists 90 per cent of its business (the Hotel Edison) losses from "skippers" is a quarter of 1 per cent. Hotels lose more than that on people taking linens, towels, and knick-knacks in the room.

121 Reds Hanged

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya (AP) — British authorities have hanged 121 Communist terrorists in Malaya in the past two years and 17 more are awaiting execution. A government statement said captured terrorists whose crimes made them liable to the death penalty numbered 657 of which 608 had thus far been charged in court. The figures were given for the period from June 1, 1948, the date a state of emergency was proclaimed in Malaya, up to Feb. 1, 1951.

Birds, as well as airplanes, sometimes are forced down because of ice on their wings.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 12 (AP)—Prices were steady today in the stock market. Trading was quiet.

Despite the calm, reverberations from President Truman's dismissal of General MacArthur still were being felt.

That was shown both in the cautiousness of traders and also in the attention paid to the so-called peace stocks at the expense of the heavy industries that would tend to benefit most by rearming.

The initial forward move in the market was made by the radio-television group. Gains amounted to fractions to more than a dollar a share.

AVCO was heavily traded in blocks as large as 20,000 shares, mostly unchanged at 8. The Crosley division of AVCO announced a new converter to adapt television sets to the new ultra-high frequency channels.

Best gains were made by Columbia Broadcasting System "A" and "B". Columbia has proposed to acquire hytron radio which would put CBS into all fields of the radio business.

Air lines made active gains running to more than a point, and most of the oils and chemicals were higher.

Australia Gets More Cars

Sydney (AP)—Motor car registrations in Australia in 1950 totaled 148,531. Australia has a population of just over 8,000,000 people. The 1950 new registration figure was a record high. It exceeded the 1949 record by 62,414, and the previous record figure (1929) by 93,247. Despite the high figures for 1950, the accumulation of orders increased and the waiting time for new vehicles lengthened by months.

Columnist Says MacArthur Was To Have Resigned

Chicago, April 12 (AP)—Irv Kupcinet, Chicago Sun-Times columnist, said today "veteran Pentagon observers believe Gen. MacArthur was about to resign when President Truman removed him."

He told a reporter his source was a "man in the military in the Pentagon" whose name he could not disclose.

Kupcinet, known as "Kup," said in his column Washington newsmen "had been alerted for a possible 'statement of far-reaching importance' from Tokyo" prior to President Truman's announcement that MacArthur was fired.

"Washington is buzzing with reports that President Truman beat Gen. MacArthur to the punch with his midnight firing of the hero-general," Kup declared. "Veteran Pentagon observers believe MacArthur was getting ready to announce his resignation with a dramatic statement.

"In fact, Washington newsmen, prior to the President's midnight news conference, had been alerted for a possible 'statement of far reaching importance from Tokyo.' These observers, in reconstructing the story, believe MacArthur knew his goose was cooked in Washington by his answer to Army Secretary Frank Pace, who delivered a 'fall in line—or else' ultimatum, and was prepared to step down."

No Facts Established

The Washington bureau of the Associated Press reported it was unable to establish any facts bearing out the columnist's report.

A similar story was broadcast last night by Morgan Beatty on his "News of the World" program over NBC. Beatty said he "cautiously reports to you a rumor in high places in the capital" and added:

"It comes from circles very close to the White House and it is this: That General Douglas MacArthur actually had planned to submit his resignation to President Truman dated Friday of this week.

"Copy of the document was seen in Tokyo yesterday by Secretary of the Army Frank Pace. The President's dismissal anticipated the resignation.

"We (Beatty)) are unable to obtain confirmation at this time so the listener is warned that this is a rumor circulating in highly placed officialdom in Washington."

Flood Warning System Sought

Advice of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association in setting up a flood warning system was sought Wednesday night by John M. Walker, chairman of a group of 70 flood victims who organized last Friday night.

No action was taken at the meeting, but Chief Edward Mains of Port Ewen Fire Company and Chief Joseph L. Murphy of the Kingston Fire Department have been invited to attend the next general meeting of flood victims, scheduled to be held 8 p. m. Saturday, April 14, at the Town of Ulster highway department garage.

'Jumpers' Don't Hurt

New York (AP)—The average person thinks that the largest yearly loss a hotel sustains is from "skippers" — a name given to those who leave a hotel without paying bill. This is not true. According to figures just released by one New York hotel, which depends on tourists 90 per cent of its business (the Hotel Edison) losses from "skippers" is a quarter of 1 per cent. Hotels lose more than that on people taking linens, towels, and knick-knacks in the room.

121 Reds Hanged

Kuala Lumpur, Malaya (AP)—British authorities have hanged 121 Communist terrorists in Malaya in the past two years and 17 more are awaiting execution. A government statement said captured terrorists whose crimes made them liable to the death penalty numbered 657 of which 608 had thus far been charged in court. The figures were given for the period from June 1, 1948, the date a state of emergency was proclaimed in Malaya, up to Feb. 1, 1951.

Financial and Commercial

New York, April 12 (AP)—Prices were steady today in the stock market. Trading was quiet.

Despite the calm, reverberations from President Truman's dismissal of General MacArthur still were being felt.

That was shown both in the cautiousness of traders and also in the attention paid to the so-called peace stocks at the expense of the heavy industries that would tend to benefit most by rearming.

The initial forward move in the market was made by the radio-television group. Gains amounted to fractions to more than a dollar a share.

AVCO was heavily traded in blocks as large as 20,000 shares, mostly unchanged at 8. The Crosley division of AVCO announced a new converter to adapt television sets to the new ultra-high frequency channels.

Best gains were made by Columbia Broadcasting System "A" and "B". Columbia has proposed to acquire hytron radio which would put CBS into all fields of the radio business.

Air lines made active gains running to more than a point, and most of the oils and chemicals were higher.

Editorial Comment

firing of MacArthur is their answer."

RICHMOND TIMES-DISPATCH: "President Truman had no alternative but to relieve General MacArthur. The general had ignored at least two directives from the President and the joint chiefs of staff. * * * Talk of impeaching Mr. Truman is absurd. * * * Yet it is tragic to contemplate the dismissal of a man of General MacArthur's character and stature by a man whose own achievements are far less striking."

NEW YORK DAILY MIRROR: "MacArthur has been dismissed to please the cupidity of Great Britain, the ignorance of Dean Acheson, the jealousy of General George Marshall. America has been defeated by this act of vengeance. * * * There is also * * * the inescapable suspicion, if not conclusion, that a 'deal'—a Far Eastern Munich—is already in the making and that the sacrifice of General MacArthur is a part of that deal."

LOUISVILLE COURIER-JOURNAL: "A stronger President would long since have removed MacArthur from his Korean command when it became clear that he would not limit himself to his military job. * * * his (Truman's) only alternative was to surrender the power of the presidency to a field commander."

PITTSBURGH POST-GAZETTE: "General MacArthur, through repeated insubordination, forced the issue. And even those who feel that the general's views on the Far Eastern situation are right, should be able to see that he couldn't be allowed to ride off in one direction while the administration moved in another."

LOS ANGELES TIMES: "A hero has been humiliated. * * * many Americans clearly feel that their country has been somehow sold out. This is much more a victory for Secretary Acheson and his European claque or for the mousy little creatures who squeak for a truce in the United Nations Assembly. It is a victory for Joseph Stalin."

NEW YORK HERALD-TRIBUNE: "He (MacArthur) virtually forced his own removal. In high policy, as in war, there is no room for a divided command. * * *with one of those strokes of boldness and decision which are characteristic of Mr. Truman in emergencies, a very difficult and dangerous problem has been met in the only way it could have been met. But if the President—in a fashion also characteristic of him—simply leaves the matter there until some other crisis emerges, there will be small gain."

BOSTON HERALD: "We do not see that he (the President) had any honorable alternative. No self-respecting Commander-in-Chief can tolerate a subordinate who disobeys orders."

NEW ORLEANS TIMES-PICAYUNE: "It is at least conceivable that the dismissal of the embattled commander might hasten the end of the controversy. It is our own impression that the fundamental trouble with the situation will not be cured by MacArthur's elimination: That it must be found and remedied in Washington.

CLEVELAND PLAIN DEALER: "Let it be conceded that General MacArthur overstepped the prerogatives of a military officer in the issuance of political statements, and, therefore, President Truman exercised his right and followed his duty in relieving him of his command. However * * * the President may have set off a thorough exposure of the bankruptcy of his own administration."

DENVER POST—"Even General MacArthur's strongest supporters can hardly ignore his constant dangerous insubordination * * *. President Truman and General Marshall have taken serious action in firing General MacArthur. Now they had better be prepared to give the American people some consideration, which they have not yet done."

Hirohito Concerned At General's Ouster

Tokyo, April 12 (AP)—Emperor Hirohito was deeply moved and showed "great concern" over General MacArthur's removal, an imperial chamberlain reported today.

Hirohito first heard the news late yesterday from a member of his court, then tuned in on a news broadcast. Later he received a full report from the grand chamberlain.

The chamberlain, Aimasa Irie, said the emperor always greatly respected MacArthur as a commander and deeply esteemed him as a man.

The two had met 10 times. The first meeting was on Hirohito's initiative, when he visited MacArthur 25 days after the signing of the surrender in 1945.

Will Be Penal Offense

Albany, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—After July 1, it will be a penal offense in New York state to "jam" telephone lines deliberately—a practice used recently during strikes. Governor Dewey signed today a bill providing maximum penalty of two years in prison on conviction for such a charge. Jamming is the practice of keeping telephone lines busy by repeated, false calls.

MacArthur Knew

upon what they think of him. And few military figures of American history have been more highly venerated or more deeply disliked. Like that other general who became a legend in his lifetime, the late George S. Patton, Jr., he stirs people emotionally. Few feel indifferent to him.

Those who resent his flamboyant self-confidence say:

"He has been a great general, but he has developed a God complex. He thinks he knows all the answers. President Truman, Secretary of State Acheson, General Marshall, General Bradley and General Eisenhower all thought it was more important to send troops to Europe. But MacArthur thought it was more important to attck Red China now, even at the risk of starting a third world war. He tried to force the government into doing what he wanted, figuring the administration wouldn't dare fire him. He just stayed in the Orient too long."

But those who feel he is a political as well as a military genius say:

"MacArthur had to fight a delaying war in the Pacific the last time because the European war zone had a priority in both men and weapons. Now he sees the same thing happening again. And he thinks if we don't join up with Chiang Kai-shek now and beat Red China we will lose all Asia—and Europe, too. He stuck out his own neck to get the government to do the only thing he thinks can save America."

Why did "Mac" do it?

The old hero is coming back to his own homeland soon after 14 years away. He is going to take out his corncob pipe and give his own answer—to Congress and the people.

Did he do it through pique or prescience, ignorance or insight? Is he wrong? Or are Truman, Acheson, Marshall, Bradley, and Eisenhower wrong? Congress and the people will make up their minds about that.

It could happen only in a democracy that is working.

Goodman Picture Dedicated in City Store by Employes

Loyal to the organization that advocates promotion to higher positions of employes within its fold, executives of Union-Fern, Inc., recently dedicated a picture of the founder, Joseph Goodman in the local store, 328 Wall street.

Goodman, who died in 1949, one month prior to celebrating his 50th anniversary in business, started his enterprise in Troy in 1899 with a small one-floor store. The concern now has establishments in 11 cities of the northeast.

Julius Goodman, president of Union-Fern, follows the policy of his father in making promotions from within the ranks of his organization. Many of the chain's managers and executives started in minor positions.

Charles Fabiano started as assistant salesman in the Kingston store in April 1946, and in April 1950 was promoted to the post he now holds.

President Goodman sent to his local employes a message of commendation on their dedication of the picture of his father. A bronze plaque under the painting bears this inscription: "Joseph Goodman, founder, 1874-1949," along with a quotation from Emerson, 'An institution is the length, breadth and shadow of a man."

Other employes attending the ceremony, besides those in the photo, were John Roosa, Otto Mayr, Norman Sherry and Mrs. Mary Mottsey.

McClellan Says Committee Worked With Trumanites

Jackson, Miss., April 12 (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D.-Ark.) says the National Democratic Committee cooperated with Mississippi pro-Truman Democrats accused of selling federal jobs.

McClellan's charges came during a hearing on the job-selling charges here yesterday, after two state pro-Truman leaders admitted seeking party contributions but denied selling jobs.

The Mississippi pro-Truman leaders were Curtis Rogers, secretary of the Mississippi Democratic Committee, and Clarence E. Wood, deposed acting national committeeman.

Their organization was formed in 1948 after the state's regular Democratic group bolted to the States' Righters, who now control the state. The older group's national committeeman was not recognized by the national committee, which seated Hood instead.

Hood was fired by the national group after the charges of job-selling were made by Senators—Eastland and Stennis of Mississippi.

Discussed Matters

Questioning brought out that Hood had discussed several "personal business matters" with Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughn President Truman's military aide; that Hood had gone to the President's patronage assistant, Donald Dawson, for help in firing acting postmasters and in appointing others; and that Hood had asked Glen Boehm, a pro-Truman contact man, to get him information on approval of federal projects in Mississippi. Boehm is a Washington industrial consultant.

After Rogers denied they were selling jobs, Sen. McClellan asked: "Are you asking us to believe that veterans who never made a political contribution in their lives would borrow $300, $400, $500 or $1,000 and pay it to this committee just because you were going to give them what they already deserved?" "Can you explain how so many of them seemed to arrive at the same amounts?"

Rogers said, "I told every one of them they weren't buying any jobs from me."

Hood told the investigators, "I want to disassociate myself from the whole mess."

He said he was "an amateur politician and an ex-politican now."

Another committee member, Sen. Mundt (R.-S.D.) commented: "Looks like you operated pretty much as a professional."

The three investigating senators, McClellan, Mundt and Hoey (D.-N.C.) left for Washington last night. Hoey said the hearing may be resumed there if necessary.

U. S. Casualties

PUSHER FOR FOOD

A schoolteacher writes as follows: "You say that it is permissible to use a piece of crust for a pusher, but I do not exactly know how to instruct my class to use it. Will you describe the procedure?"

You hold a dry crust of bread (about an inch square) between thumb and first finger of left hand (third finger pressed against from beneath) and hold it against the mouthful of food you are about to lift on your fork.

Displaying Wedding Gifts

Dear Mrs. Post: Should the cards be left with the wedding gifts when displayed? If so, what about the proper display of checks? Seems thoughtless not to let people know about those too.

Answer: (a) When the presents are many, the cards are generally left on as this saves members of the family from repeating many times who sent this and who sent that. (b) It is quite proper to display wedding checks with amounts concealed. This is done by laying them on a flat surface one above the other, so that the signatures alone are disclosed and none of the amounts. All of these are then covered with a large pane of glass. It is well to place flat gifts around the edges of the glass to prevent the might-be-curious from lifting it.

Brother in Place of Father

Dear Mrs. Post: Since my father is not living I have to choose one of my three brothers to give me away at my wedding. The two oldest live out of town and are married; the youngest, nearer to my own age, lives with me. I'd like to have him. But my aunt feels it should be my eldest brother.

Answer: Since the eldest is the nominal head of your family, he should be chosen for this reason; but under your personal circumstances, others as well as your own family would understand the choice of your youngest brother.

What are the essential requirements for a bride's hope chest and personal trousseau? Mrs. Post has listed the essentials in leaflet E-5, "The Bride's Trousseau." Many Send Wires From Local Office About MacArthur

The local western Union Telegraph office, like many others throughout the nation, was swamped with telegrams Wednesday following the announcement that General of the Army Douglas MacArthur had been relieved of his command. Telegrams poured into the office for U. S. Senators Herbert Lehman and Irving Ives as well as for Congressman J. Ernest Wharton, representative from the 30th Congressional district.

One of the longest telegrams to be sent was that sponsored by Warren H. Knaust of Saugerties, who devoted most of Wednesday to securing signatures to a petition from residents who passed through Saugerties village. This telegram, which Knaust sent last evening, was headed by his own signature and contained among other signatures that of Mayor George Holmes of Saugerties. The telegram read:

"This is one of the darkest days in the history of our country. The Reds have won another victory through the bungling of our President. We, the undersigned who represent a portion of the voters of your District, are gravely alarmed at the decision of President Truman to relieve General MacArthur of his post as commander in the Far East. It is our firm belief that it is your duty as our Representative to demand General MacArthur's reinstatement immediately and to give him complete military control to expedite the war in the Far East."

The telegram was sent to Representative Wharton and to Senators Ives and Lehman in Washington.

May Give Up Farming

Elmira, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—Two central New York dairymen say they are thinking of giving up farming and going to work in industry. The testimony was offered yesterday by A. Howard Thompson of Interlaken and Leonard P. Jordon of Auburn. They appeared at a U. S. Department of Agriculture hearing on proposed changes in the pricing of Class 3 surplus milk in the New York metropolitan milk marketing area. They were supported in their plea for better prices for their milk by businessmen who deal with dairymen.

Begins 7th Year

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Harry S. Truman today begins his seventh year as President of the United States. Mr. Truman stepped up from the vice-presidency six years ago when Franklin D. Roosevelt died on April 12, 1945.

When All Was Friendly

Six months ago, President Truman and Gen. Douglas MacArthur met for the first time in a conference on Wake Island. For two hours, they discussed America's Far Eastern policy and parted on friendly terms. (Photo by NEA-Acme staff photographer Frank Cancellare.) (NEA Telephoto).

Return to Jobs

Greensboro, N. C., April 12 (AP)—Workers returned to their jobs at the Gold-Tex Fabrics Corporation at Rock Hill, S. C., today under a new contract fattened by a package 13-cent an-hour increase. Officials of the company and Textile Workers Union of America (CIO) officers reached agreement on the wage contract yesterday. The Rock Hill local voted approval last night. It was the first break in a 12-day strike by 40,000 southern cotton-rayon workers.

Peace Overtures Delayed for Time

United Nations, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—New Korean peace overtures by the UN three-man good offices committee were delayed today to give Communist China time to react to the ouster of General Douglas MacArthur as commander of UN forces.

The committee gathered late yesterday in a hastily-called two-hour session, only 15 hours after President Truman fired MacArthur.

At the end, UN Assembly President Nasrollah Entezam, committee chairman, said only that the committee had discussed the new situation.

"We will have to wait to give the Chinese (Communists) time to consider the change," Entezam said. "We have not received an answer from them in more than two months that we have served but we always hope there will be one."

Entezam said the committee did not discuss a new peace proposal at this time.

Sven Grafstrom, Swedish representative on the committee, said that Sweden's minister is always ready in Peiping to transmit an answer to the UN on the committee's original appeal for cease-fire talks.

Red China has thus far kept up its threat to ignore the committee, set up under an assembly resolution which branded the Peiping regime as aggressors in Korea. With MacArthur out of the picture, some delegates hoped that the Chinese might be willing now to deal with the UN.

Defeat Is Predicted

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee today predicted defeat of a move in the House to place a 3,500,000 or 4,000,000 ceiling on the armed forces. Vinson was shooting for a final vote today on the draft-Universal Military Training (UMT) bill. Before that happened the House would have to pass on a proposed substitute for the administration bill. An amendment to limit the size of the armed forces is expected to be offered. But Vinson told a reporter it would suffer the same fate as a Republican-backed attempt yesterday to tack on a troops-to-Europe ban.

PLENTY OF PLATTERS By Merrill Blosser

Red Cross Course To Start Thursday In Phoenicia Area

The first in a series of American Red Cross classes sponsored by the board of education of the Onteora Central School will be held Thursday from 8 to 10 p. m. in the Phoenicia school house.

Other classes will be held in the Phoenicia parish hall. The course will be conducted for 10 sessions, two per week for five weeks on Tuesday and Thursday.

The classes, which will be offered as part of the adult education program now in operation in the Central School District, were approved recently at the request of the Phoenicia Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsey of Phoenicia, approved American Red Cross instructors, will teach the class. The course to be taught will be the standard American Red Cross course and students who complete it will be awarded approved Red Cross cards.

Dr. Charles A. Quinn, chief medical officer for the town of Shandaken, under the civilian defense program, has requested people to attend the classes because nurses aides, stretcher bearers and medical assistants must have passed the Red Cross course in order to be eligible to serve under the civilian defense setup.

Lester M. Shultis, president pro tem of the board of education, said the classes are open to any resident of the Central District. Other classes will be started in various parts of the district if written request is made to the board, he said.

Red Cross Course To Start Thursday In Phoenicia Area

The first in a series of American Red Cross classes sponsored by the board of education of the Onteora Central School will be held Thursday from 8 to 10 p. m. in the Phoenicia school house.

Other classes will be held in the Phoenicia parish hall. The course will be conducted for 10 sessions, two per week for five weeks on Tuesday and Thursday.

The classes, which will be offered as part of the adult education program now in operation in the Central School District, were approved recently at the request of the Phoenicia Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsey of Phoenicia, approved American Red Cross instructors, will teach the class. The course to be taught will be the standard American Red Cross course and students who complete it will be awarded approved Red Cross cards.

Dr. Charles A. Quinn, chief medical officer for the town of Shandaken, under the civilian defense program, has requested people to attend the classes because nurses aides, stretcher bearers and medical assistants must have passed the Red Cross course in order to be eligible to serve under the civilian defense setup.

Lester M. Shultis, president pro tem of the board of education, said the classes are open to any resident of the Central District. Other classes will be started in various parts of the district if written request is made to the board, he said.

FRECKLES AND HIS FRIENDS — PLENTY OF PLATTERS — By Merrill Blosser

Red Cross Course To Start Thursday In Phoenicia Area

The first in a series of American Red Cross classes sponsored by the board of education of the Onteora Central School will be held Thursday from 8 to 10 p. m. in the Phoenicia school house.

Other classes will be held in the Phoenicia parish hall. The course will be conducted for 10 sessions, two per week for five weeks on Tuesday and Thursday.

The classes, which will be offered as part of the adult education program now in operation in the Central School District, were approved recently at the request of the Phoenicia Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsey of Phoenicia, approved American Red Cross instructors, will teach the class. The course to be taught will be the standard American Red Cross course and students who complete it will be awarded approved Red Cross cards.

Dr. Charles A. Quinn, chief medical officer for the town of Shandaken, under the civilian defense program, has requested people to attend the classes because nurses aides, stretcher bearers and medical assistants must have passed the Red Cross course in order to be eligible to serve under the civilian defense setup.

Lester M. Shultis, president pro tem of the board of education, said the classes are open to any resident of the Central District. Other classes will be started in various parts of the district if written request is made to the board, he said.

Court Dismisses Federal Appeal

Washington, April 12 (AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today dismissed the government's appeal from a decision which had cleared John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of contempt of court in their 1950 contract strike.

The appeal court split, 2-1, in holding the case was no longer an issue.

The lower court's decision, by Judge Richmond B. Keech, was quickly followed a year ago by a contract between Lewis and the soft coal operators ending a ten-month dispute. It was appealed by the Justice Department.

The government asked that the union be punished for prolonging the strike after Judge Keech had issued a back-to-work order on February 11, 1950. Justice attorneys argued that Lewis had given only "sham" compliance to the order when he directed the miners to get back on the job. The miners ignored the Lewis order. The government insisted that was according to Lewis' plan, too.

A three-judge panel heard the government's arguments and the union's replies last April 26. The panel included judges Harold M. Stephens, E. Barrett Prettyman, and Charles Fahy.

Chief Judge Stephens, who wrote the majority opinion, was joined by Judge Prettyman. Judge Fahay wrote a dissent.

V.F.W. to Convene In New York City From August 26-31

Governor Thomas E. Dewey and New York City Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri have been named honorary chairmen for the 52nd annual national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was announced today by Commander-in-Chief Charles C. Ralls at New York.

The encampment will be held in New York the week of August 26 through 31, and is expected to draw a record attendance of 75,000 delegates and friends of the V.F.W., Auxiliary and Military Order of Cooties.

"Since we have so many members in states adjacent to New York, we expect this year's encampment to be the largest in our history, barring any conditions which might be caused by the national emergency," Ralls declared.

Past Commander-in-Chief Clyde A. Lewis, of Plattsburg, has been named general chairman of the New York City Convention Corporation. He will direct the advance work of committees in setting up the encampment.

National Encampment Director Joseph Nagel, Cleveland, O., who has opened temporary offices in the New Weston Hotel, 50th street at Madison avenue, announced this week that men's headquarters will be in the Hotel Astor. The Ladies' Auxiliary will hold its sessions in the Hotel Commodore, while the Military Order of Cooties will meet in the McAlpin Hotel.

Features of this year's encampment announced to date include a "Miss V.F.W." Beauty Contest, with each state invited to send a participant. The contest will be held in the 71st Regiment Armory on Monday evening, August 27. Tuesday there will be a gigantic parade down historic Fifth avenue. There will be band concerts and bugle and drum corps drilling throughout the week in various spots. The joint opening session of the men and women is scheduled for the 71st Regiment Armory.

New VFW Officers Are Installed

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Who Do You Like, Bidder or Player?

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Whom would you rather have for a partner—a good bidder whose play is poor or a poor bidder whose play is good? Bridge experts debate this question, and they usually prefer the good bidder. My own opinion is best shown by means of a hand from a recent team match. The declarer at one table was a good bidder, while the declarer at the other table was a good player.

In the first room, the good bidder reached the excellent contract of six spades as shown in the diagram. West opened the queen of diamonds, and dummy won with the king. Now Mr. Good Bidder led a low spade from dummy. East played low, and declarer won with the king of spades in his own hand.

When West failed to follow suit, Mr. Good Bidder came to the sickening realization that he could not make his contract. East was bound to make two trump tricks. East would save the ace to kill dummy's jack, after which either his ten or his nine would make a second trump trick.

It is easy to see that correct play would prevent East from winning two trump tricks. After winning the first trick with the king of diamonds, declarer should lead the jack of spades from the dummy.

There is no problem unless one of the opponents has all of the missing trumps. If west has all four trumps, he cannot be prevented from winning two tricks. If East has all four trumps, it is imperative to lead the jack of spades from dummy at trick two.

When the jack of spades is led, East wins with his ace. Regardless of the return, dummy wins and leads a trump. East can play the nine, but South wins with the queen and re-enters dummy in order to finesse through the ten of spades.

This line of play was adopted by Mr. Good Player at the second table. He therefore succeeded in making twelve tricks.

Remember, however, that we have already warned you that Mr. Good Player does not bid very well. He was in a contract of seven spades.

Court Dismisses Federal Appeal

Washington, April 12 (AP)—The U. S. Circuit Court of Appeals today dismissed the government's appeal from a decision which had cleared John L. Lewis' United Mine Workers of contempt of court in their 1950 contract strike.

The appeal court split, 2-1, in holding the case was no longer an issue.

The lower court's decision, by Judge Richmond B. Keech, was quickly followed a year ago by a contract between Lewis and the soft coal operators ending a ten-month dispute. It was appealed by the Justice Department.

The government asked that the union be punished for prolonging the strike after Judge Keech had issued a back-to-work order on February 11, 1950. Justice attorneys argued that Lewis had given only "sham" compliance to the order when he directed the miners to get back on the job. The miners ignored the Lewis order. The government insisted that was according to Lewis' plan, too.

A three-judge panel heard the government's arguments and the union's replies last April 26. The panel included judges Harold M. Stephens, E. Barrett Prettyman, and Charles Fahy.

Chief Judge Stephens, who wrote the majority opinion, was joined by Judge Prettyman. Judge Fahay wrote a dissent.

V.F.W. to Convene In New York City From August 26-31

Governor Thomas E. Dewey and New York City Mayor Vincent R. Impellitteri have been named honorary chairmen for the 52nd annual national encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, it was announced today by Commander-in-Chief Charles C. Ralls at New York.

The encampment will be held in New York the week of August 26 through 31, and is expected to draw a record attendance of 75,000 delegates and friends of the V.F.W., Auxiliary and Military Order of Cooties.

"Since we have so many members in states adjacent to New York, we expect this year's encampment to be the largest in our history, barring any conditions which might be caused by the national emergency," Ralls declared.

Past Commander-in-Chief Clyde A. Lewis, of Plattsburg, has been named general chairman of the New York City Convention Corporation. He will direct the advance work of committees in setting up the encampment.

National Encampment Director Joseph Nagel, Cleveland, O., who has opened temporary offices in the New Weston Hotel, 50th street at Madison avenue, announced this week that men's headquarters will be in the Hotel Astor. The Ladies' Auxiliary will hold its sessions in the Hotel Commodore, while the Military Order of Cooties will meet in the McAlpin Hotel.

Features of this year's encampment announced to date include a "Miss V.F.W." Beauty Contest, with each state invited to send a participant. The contest will be held in the 71st Regiment Armory on Monday evening, August 27. Tuesday there will be a gigantic parade down historic Fifth avenue. There will be band concerts and bugle and drum corps drilling throughout the week in various spots. The joint opening session of the men and women is scheduled for the 71st Regiment Armory.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

Who Do You Like, Bidder or Player?

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Whom would you rather have for a partner—a good bidder whose play is poor or a poor bidder whose play is good? Bridge experts debate this question, and they usually prefer the good bidder. My own opinion is best shown by means of a hand from a recent team match. The declarer at one table was a good bidder, while the declarer at the other table was a good player.

In the first room, the good bidder reached the excellent contract of six spades as shown in the diagram. West opened the queen of diamonds, and dummy won with the king. Now Mr. Good Bidder led a low spade from dummy. East played low, and declarer won with the king of spades in his own hand.

When West failed to follow suit, Mr. Good Bidder came to the sickening realization that he could not make his contract. East was bound to make two trump tricks. East would save the ace to kill dummy's jack, after which either his ten or his nine would make a second trump trick.

It is easy to see that correct play would prevent East from winning two trump tricks. After winning the first trick with the king of diamonds, declarer should lead the jack of spades from the dummy.

There is no problem unless one of the opponents has all of the missing trumps. If west has all four trumps, he cannot be prevented from winning two tricks. If East has all four trumps, it is imperative to lead the jack of spades from dummy at trick two.

When the jack of spades is led, East wins with his ace. Regardless of the return, dummy wins and leads a trump. East can play the nine, but South wins with the queen and re-enters dummy in order to finesse through the ten of spades.

This line of play was adopted by Mr. Good Player at the second table. He therefore succeeded in making twelve tricks.

Remember, however, that we have already warned you that Mr. Good Player does not bid very well. He was in a contract of seven spades.

75,000 Telegrams Flood Washington

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Western Union estimated today 75,000 telegrams have poured into Washington in connection with the firing of General MacArthur. The White House said a majority of its share of the messages "is still in opposition" to President Truman's action.

The 75,000 estimate was by George Harris, Western Union superintendent.

"They're coming from all over, and they are still coming," Harris told a reporter.

Asked for comparison with "a normal day," Harris said wryly, "there are no normal days in Washington, but this is a tremendous number."

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told a news conference about 4,000 telegrams had been received by the President since the removal of MacArthur and while the majority were in opposition to Mr. Truman's action, he did not have a percentage breakdown.

Reporters wanted to know whether the tenor of the telegrams had changed since President Truman's speech last night in explanation of his action.

Short said most of the telegrams still coming in were based on the removal action since so many were being sent to the White House and Capitol Hill there had been a "great pileup." He said that he hasn't been able to make any study of later ones.

75,000 Telegrams Flood Washington

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Western Union estimated today 75,000 telegrams have poured into Washington in connection with the firing of General MacArthur. The White House said a majority of its share of the messages "is still in opposition" to President Truman's action.

The 75,000 estimate was by George Harris, Western Union superintendent.

"They're coming from all over, and they are still coming," Harris told a reporter.

Asked for comparison with "a normal day," Harris said wryly, "there are no normal days in Washington, but this is a tremendous number."

Presidential Secretary Joseph Short told a news conference about 4,000 telegrams had been received by the President since the removal of MacArthur and while the majority were in opposition to Mr. Truman's action, he did not have a percentage breakdown.

Reporters wanted to know whether the tenor of the telegrams had changed since President Truman's speech last night in explanation of his action.

Short said most of the telegrams still coming in were based on the removal action since so many were being sent to the White House and Capitol Hill there had been a "great pileup." He said that he hasn't been able to make any study of later ones.

She Stood in Bed

Los Angeles (AP)—Mrs. Alice Hollenbeck, 83, was held captive by a folding bed for two hours. She walked into a closet and the door slammed shut behind her. The shock brought a folding bed down on her, wedging her against the wall. A neighbor, hearing her cries, called the fire department. They had to saw a two-foot hole in the door to get her out—unhurt.

EAT WELL for Less

TUNA-STUFFED EGGS ARE TASTY

NEA Staff Writer

To cut your food bill have at least one meatless day a week. But be sure your meatless main dish contains ample amount of a protein food such as eggs or fish.

Tuna Stuffed Eggs on Rice

Three cups boiled rice, 6 hard-cooked eggs, ½ of 7-ounce can grated tuna fish, 1/3 cup mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Place rice in a well greased heat-resistant glass layer cake dish. Remove shells from eggs; cut in half lengthwise and remove yolks. Mash yolks with fork until smooth; mix in tuna, mayonnaise and salt. Fill egg whites with mixture and arrange on top of rice. Dot rice with butter and bake in moderate oven, 325 degrees F., for 15 minutes.

Curry Sauce

Four tablespoons butter or margarine, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon curry powder, 2 cups milk.

Melt four tablespoons butter or margarine over low direct heat in a saucepan. Blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk gradually, allowing mixture to cook up after each addition: stir constantly. Cook until thickened (about 10 minutes). Serve over stuffed eggs.

Crusty Fish Fillets
(6 servings)

One and one-half pounds of fish fillets (flounder, haddock, pike, whitefish, perch, etc.), 3 tablespoons grated onion, 3 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine, melted, ¼ cup lemon juice, ¾ teaspoon salt, 1 egg slightly beaten, 3 tablespoons water, 1/3 cup flour, 3 cups corn flakes, slightly crushed, ¼ cup fat.

Cut fish fillets in serving pieces, if necessary. Combine onion, butter, lemon juice, salt, egg and water. Dip fish into flour, then into egg mixture. Battalion Identified Laichau, Indochina, April 12 (AP)—The mystery battalion which has invaded 35 miles of northwest Indochina was identified today by French Army headquarters as Communist Chinese. Colonel Costes, (no first name), commanding French forces in Thai tribal country, said the battalion had attacked on April 1, simultaneously with Communist-led Vietminh rebels in that invasion route. The colonel added, however, that the French have no proof the invader battalion was acting under orders from Peiping.

Promises Welcome

Milwaukee, April 12 (AP)—The president of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce yesterday promised General MacArthur a warm welcome if he returns to the city he calls home. In a telegram, Paul A. Pratt invited the general to come home "to address and be welcomed by your fellow citizens who hold you in loyal esteem and affection." MacArthur, whose grandfather and father lived here many years, calls Milwaukee his legal residence, although he was born in Arkansas.

Red Korean Comment

Tokyo, April 12 (AP)—The Red Korean radio tonight announced the firing of General MacArthur with the comment: "His responsibility for consecutive defeats and his conflicts with United Nations members at last touched off the explosion. Out goes the man who led the American imperialistic invaders to Korea and incurred the wrath and hatred of all Koreans."

J. M. Lyons Pleads Guilty

New York, April 12 (AP)—A former assistant postmaster of Scarsdale, N. Y., James M. Lyons, 49, pleaded guilty yesterday to embezzling $11,194 in government funds. "Judge, I very sorry for the things I have done and I want to admit my guilt," he told Federal Judge Sidney Sugarman. Sugarman set May 3 for sentence. Bail of $1,000 was continued. The embezzling covered a period from April, 1949, to December, 1950.

Record Claimed for Egg

Harrisonburg, Va. (AP)—An egg weighing eight ounces and measuring 9¼ inches around the long way and 7¾ inches around the middle was laid by a hen owned by Mrs. Refa Burgess near Cross Keys. It was a half-ounce lighter than one reported in Massachusets—the national record. But the hen is living while the Massachusetts hen died.

To cut your food bill have at least one meatless day a week. But be sure your meatless main dish contains ample amount of a protein food such as eggs or fish.

Tuna Stuffed Eggs on Rice

Three cups boiled rice, 6 hard-cooked eggs, ½ of 7-ounce can grated tuna fish, 1/3 cup mayonnaise, ½ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons butter or margarine.

Place rice in a well greased heat-resistant glass layer cake dish. Remove shells from eggs; cut in half lengthwise and remove yolks. Mash yolks with fork until smooth; mix in tuna, mayonnaise and salt. Fill egg whites with mixture and arrange on top of rice. Dot rice with butter and bake in moderate oven, 325 degrees F., for 15 minutes.

Curry Sauce

Four tablespoons butter or margarine, 4 tablespoons flour, 1 teaspoon salt, ½ teaspoon curry powder, 2 cups milk.

Melt four tablespoons butter or margarine over low direct heat in a saucepan. Blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk gradually, allowing mixture to cook up after each addition: stir constantly. Cook until thickened (about 10 minutes). Serve over stuffed eggs.

Battalion Identified

Laichau, Indochina, April 12 (AP)—The mystery battalion which has invaded 35 miles of northwest Indochina was identified today by French Army headquarters as Communist Chinese. Colonel Costes, (no first name), commanding French forces in Thai tribal country, said the battalion had attacked on April 1, simultaneously with Communist-led Vietminh rebels in that invasion route. The colonel added, however, that the French have no proof the invader battalion was acting under orders from Peiping.

Promises Welcome

Milwaukee, April 12 (AP)—The president of the Milwaukee Chamber of Commerce yesterday promised General MacArthur a warm welcome if he returns to the city he calls home. In a telegram, Paul A. Pratt invited the general to come home "to address and be welcomed by your fellow citizens who hold you in loyal esteem and affection." MacArthur, whose grandfather and father lived here many years, calls Milwaukee his legal residence, although he was born in Arkansas.

Tokyo, April 12 (AP)—The Red Korean radio tonight announced the firing of General MacArthur with the comment: "His responsibility for consecutive defeats and his conflicts with United Nations members at last touched off the explosion. New York, April 12 (AP)—A former assistant postmaster of Scarsdale, N. Y., James M. Lyons, 49, pleaded guilty yesterday to embezzling $11,194 in government funds. The embezzling covered a period from April, 1949, to December, 1950.

Record Claimed for Egg

Harrisonburg, Va. (AP)—An egg weighing eight ounces and measuring 9¼ inches around the long way and 7¾ inches around the middle was laid by a hen owned by Mrs. Refa Burgess near Cross Keys. It was a half-ounce lighter than one reported in Massachusetts—the national record. But the hen is living while the Massachusetts hen died.

To Make Building Code Available To Communities

New York, April 12 (AP)—A new building construction code will be provided to communities in New York state, whether they have building regulations of their own or not, it was announced today.

State Building Code Commissioner William Lescaze said the plan, provided under amendments to the state building code law, will help communities that have been unable to obtain such building-standard services.

"Many of our municipalities have been reluctant to enact needed regulations," he said, "because of the cost involved and difficulty of procuring the services of experts for drafting and keeping them up to date."

The amendments will permit communities to adopt the code at will, and withdraw from it any time after a year of its adoption, a provision not heretofore granted.

To Make Building Code Available To Communities

New York, April 12 (AP)—A new building construction code will be provided to communities in New York state, whether they have building regulations of their own or not, it was announced today.

State Building Code Commissioner William Lescaze said the plan, provided under amendments to the state building code law, will help communities that have been unable to obtain such building-standard services.

"Many of our municipalities have been reluctant to enact needed regulations," he said, "because of the cost involved and difficulty of procuring the services of experts for drafting and keeping them up to date."

The amendments will permit communities to adopt the code at will, and withdraw from it any time after a year of its adoption, a provision not heretofore granted.

The project will include grading and drainage work in preparation for 12.35 miles of road from the present northern terminus of the parkway, near Lafayetteville, Dutchess county. It also calls for three structures to eliminate grade crossings. The paving contract will be offered later.

Fight to Win or Get Out

Hurley
April 11, 1951

Editor, The Freeman:

While in no way disagreeing with your comments of April 11th on Gen. MacArthur I believe there are much more important considerations involved than were cited in your editorial.

During the first nine months of fighting in Korea our casualties have exceeded those incurred during the first year of World War 2. In spite of the sacrifices of a few the fact is that the vast majority of us have not had our way of life changed one iota. This has apparently deadened our consciences to the point of callousness.

The great crime of Gen. MacArthur apparently was that he demanded measures be taken to break a stalemate which even his successor, Lt. Gen. Ridgway says will continue unless new steps are taken.

Those of us who served in the last war were fortunate in one respect at least. I believe that most of us felt that we were getting wholehearted backing from our government and the American people and that they were doing all in their power to help us win.

You certainly cannot say that about our combat forces today. If they have not been betrayed by the United States Government, they have at least been treated as step-children.

To the infantryman waiting for the next round of enemy shell fire it must be a secondary consideration indeed as to what halts the barrage. Be it stopped by the destruction of Chinese munition factories in Manchuria, help from the Chinese Nationalists or additional United Nations troops it is all the same to him and would be to you or President Truman were the circumstances reversed.

Gen. MacArthur wished to use Chinese Nationalist troops as allies. They are the only possible nearby help for us in Korea. For this probably more than any other reason he was dismissed.

Since the troops no longer have Gen. MacArthur to speak for them it is now up to the public to demand our forces be given sufficient backing to do their job. Failing this we should leave Korea.

Our policy should be either Fight to Win or Get Out.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM E. GAFFKEN

Fight to Win or Get Out

Hurley
April 11, 1951

Editor, The Freeman:

While in no way disagreeing with your comments of April 11th on Gen. MacArthur I believe there are much more important considerations involved than were cited in your editorial.

During the first nine months of fighting in Korea our casualties have exceeded those incurred during the first year of World War 2. In spite of the sacrifices of a few the fact is that the vast majority of us have not had our way of life changed one iota. This has apparently deadened our consciences to the point of callousness.

The great crime of Gen. MacArthur apparently was that he demanded measures be taken to break a stalemate which even his successor, Lt. Gen. Ridgway says will continue unless new steps are taken.

Those of us who served in the last war were fortunate in one respect at least. I believe that most of us felt that we were getting wholehearted backing from our government and the American people and that they were doing all in their power to help us win.

You certainly cannot say that about our combat forces today. If they have not been betrayed by the United States Government, they have at least been treated as step-children.

To the infantryman waiting for the next round of enemy shell fire it must be a secondary consideration indeed as to what halts the barrage. Be it stopped by the destruction of Chinese munition factories in Manchuria, help from the Chinese Nationalists or additional United Nations troops it is all the same to him and would be to you or President Truman were the circumstances reversed.

Gen. MacArthur wished to use Chinese Nationalist troops as allies. They are the only possible nearby help for us in Korea. For this probably more than any other reason he was dismissed.

Since the troops no longer have Gen. MacArthur to speak for them it is now up to the public to demand our forces be given sufficient backing to do their job. Failing this we should leave Korea.

Our policy should be either Fight to Win or Get Out.

Yours truly,
WILLIAM E. GAFFKEN

Amahs Ask More Pay

Singapore (AP)—Chinese "amahs" are out for more pay. The girls and women who work as maid-servants for American and European families say they must have cost of living allowances because of the steady mounting costs in this British crown colony. Most "amahs" employed by Americans and Europeans are not provided with food as they are by Asian employers. The "amahs," in many instances, already have won their point by geting $10 monthly wage boosts which gives them an earning of S$80 to S$100 per month.

N.L.R.B. Poll Set for Ulster Paper Mills

New York, April 12 (Special)—Production and maintenance employes of the Ulster County Paper Mills, Inc., of Saugerties, will cast National Labor Relations Board ballots on Wednesday, April 18 in a union shop authorization election, it was announced Wednesday by Charles T. Douds, regional director of the labor board.

The poll was requested by the employes' union, the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers, AFL, which has made demands on the company for a contract embodying a union shop clause. Such a contract would require the employes to join the union and pay dues in order to hold their jobs.

Under the Taft-Hartley Law, a majority of the employes involved must support the union shop demand before negotiations for the contract may begin between representatives of the company and the union.

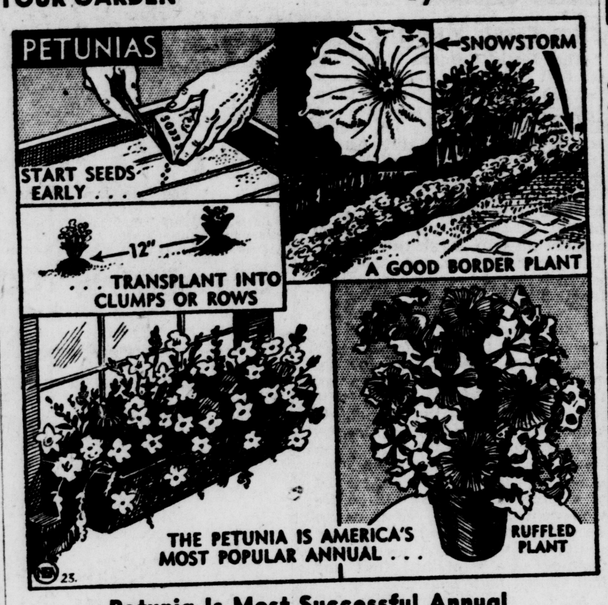
YOUR GARDEN

By Arnold Davis



Petunia Is Most Successful Annual

The petunia is without any question the most successful annual flower we have, available in almost all colors, white, pink, red, blue and purple, as well as pale yellow, and in types ranging from compact dwarf to vine-like types which hang over the window box.

The flowers may be single, double or ruffled and marked with veins to give interesting patterns. A garden of petunias alone is a source of constant satisfaction throughout the season.

The seeds may be started early in flats in a cold frame or window or they can be planted out of doors when the soil is warm. The plants should be transplanted about 12 inches apart in clumps, or if you prefer, in rows. Color patterns are easy to obtain by mixing plants of different varieties.

The principle enemy of the petunias is the garden slug, which must be controlled by constant surveilance to insure a crop of flowers. The plants prefer sunny exposure but will tolerate some shade. White varieties are the best all-around types to choose.

X-Rays Kill Cancer Cells

Rays from high voltage x-ray machines or from radium destroy cancer cells. This is one method of curing early cancer, the American Cancer Society points out. Help to fight cancer by giving to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

Health for All

Cancer

While we still have a great deal to learn about cancer, the outlook for detecting and arresting the disease has brightened considerably in the past few years. Although we still do not know the exact cause of cancer, recent advances in medical research make possible earlier and more accurate diagnosis of the disease and improved methods of treating it.

But one of the most significant gains made against cancer has been possible because the people have had a more intelligent attitude toward the disease. Not long ago, because of fear, many people who suspected they had cancer kept away from the doctor. But today, more and more people are coming to realize that cancer can be arrested when it is found and treated early and are checking with the doctor at the first hint that anything is wrong.

Cancer is a wild or weed-like growth of cells in some part of the body which, unless checked, grows or spreads until it causes death. At one time, cancer was almost invariably fatal because it was difficult to detect until the disease was far advanced. But today there are ways of detecting cancer early so that treatment can be started while the malignant growth is still confined to one area of the body.

People who form the habit of getting an annual physical examination are apt to discover cancer, if it should strike, in an early stage. This is one of many reasons why everyone should have a medical examination as a matter of routine at least once a year.

Whether or not it is time for a yearly checkup, any symptom which might mean cancer calls for a prompt visit to the doctor. There is no pain in the early stages, when cancer cells first begin to grow. But there are other warning signals of cancer which include:

A lump or thickening in any area of the body, particularly in the breast, lip, or tongue.

Irregular or unexplained bleeding from any body opening, or signs of blood in the urine or stools.

A sore that does not heal, particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips.

Progressive change in the color or size of a mole, wart, or birthmark.

Persistent indigestion, especially in people over 40.

Constant change in normal bowel habits.

Chronic hoarseness, sore throat, or difficulty in swallowing.

If any of these symptoms appear, the person should see his doctor without delay. The individual thus has his best chance of catching the disease, if it should be cancer, in a stage early enough for successful treatment.

N.L.R.B. Poll Set for Ulster Paper Mills

New York, April 12 (Special)—Production and maintenance employes of the Ulster County Paper Mills, Inc., of Saugerties, will cast National Labor Relations Board ballots on Wednesday, April 18 in a union shop authorization election, it was announced Wednesday by Charles T. Douds, regional director of the labor board.

The poll was requested by the employes' union, the International Brotherhood of Paper Makers, AFL, which has made demands on the company for a contract embodying a union shop clause. Such a contract would require the employes to join the union and pay dues in order to hold their jobs.

Under the Taft-Hartley Law, a majority of the employes involved must support the union shop demand before negotiations for the contract may begin between representatives of the company and the union.

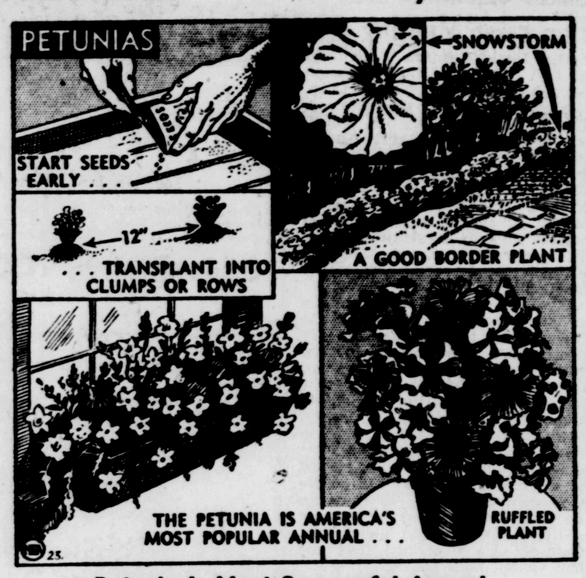
YOUR GARDEN — By Arnold Davis



Petunia Is Most Successful Annual

The petunia is without any question the most successful annual flower we have, available in almost all colors, white, pink, red, blue and purple, as well as pale yellow, and in types ranging from compact dwarf to vine-like types which hang over the window box.

The flowers may be single, double or ruffled and marked with veins to give interesting patterns. A garden of petunias alone is a source of constant satisfaction throughout the season.

The seeds may be started early in flats in a cold frame or window or they can be planted out of doors when the soil is warm. The plants should be transplanted about 12 inches apart in clumps, or if you prefer, in rows. Color patterns are easy to obtain by mixing plants of different varieties.

The principle enemy of the petunias is the garden slug, which must be controlled by constant surveilance to insure a crop of flowers. The plants prefer sunny exposure but will tolerate some shade. White varieties are the best all-around types to choose.

X-Rays Kill Cancer Cells

Rays from high voltage x-ray machines or from radium destroy cancer cells. This is one method of curing early cancer, the American Cancer Society points out. Help to fight cancer by giving to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

Health for All

Cancer

While we still have a great deal to learn about cancer, the outlook for detecting and arresting the disease has brightened considerably in the past few years. Although we still do not know the exact cause of cancer, recent advances in medical research make possible earlier and more accurate diagnosis of the disease and improved methods of treating it.

But one of the most significant gains made against cancer has been possible because the people have had a more intelligent attitude toward the disease. Not long ago, because of fear, many people who suspected they had cancer kept away from the doctor. But today, more and more people are coming to realize that cancer can be arrested when it is found and treated early and are checking with the doctor at the first hint that anything is wrong.

Cancer is a wild or weed-like growth of cells in some part of the body which, unless checked, grows or spreads until it causes death. At one time, cancer was almost invariably fatal because it was difficult to detect until the disease was far advanced. But today there are ways of detecting cancer early so that treatment can be started while the malignant growth is still confined to one area of the body.

People who form the habit of getting an annual physical examination are apt to discover cancer, if it should strike, in an early stage. This is one of many reasons why everyone should have a medical examination as a matter of routine at least once a year.

Whether or not it is time for a yearly checkup, any symptom which might mean cancer calls for a prompt visit to the doctor. There is no pain in the early stages, when cancer cells first begin to grow. But there are other warning signals of cancer which include:

A lump or thickening in any area of the body, particularly in the breast, lip, or tongue.

Irregular or unexplained bleeding from any body opening, or signs of blood in the urine or stools.

A sore that does not heal, particularly about the tongue, mouth or lips.

Progressive change in the color or size of a mole, wart, or birthmark.

Persistent indigestion, especially in people over 40.

Constant change in normal bowel habits.

Chronic hoarseness, sore throat, or difficulty in swallowing.

If any of these symptoms appear, the person should see his doctor without delay. The individual thus has his best chance of catching the disease, if it should be cancer, in a stage early enough for successful treatment.

Little Gardens Club Has First Meeting

The Little Gardens Club held its first meeting of the '51 season last Friday at the Nieuw Dorp, Hurley. Paper for the meeting, The Date Center of the World, was given by Mrs. Arthur Quimby, who told much about the industry, which flourishes in Indio, Calif. There, each year, she explained, a yearly festival is celebrated when all the plantation owners dress in Arabian costume. The general impression, she said, is that they have been imported from that country.

Mrs. Quimby also told members of another industry, located in Buena Park, Calif., where a berry farm, which 30 years ago covered only 10 acres, has multiplied its size to a total of 150 acres today. The farm has grown from a roadside stand, to a restaurant which, in 1948, served 1,084,461 dinners in eight separate dining rooms. On Sundays, 1,000 persons are served at a time. The 60-year-old couple who own the farm, continue to keep right on growing berries, and selling berry pies, she added. Mrs. Quimby also explained that she had visited both places.

At the social hour which followed Mrs. William Niles, and Mrs. Robert Murray were the hostesses. Mrs. John H. Saxe poured.

Miss Claire Baker Is Wed to Kenneth Oakley, Lyonsville

The marriage of Miss Claire Marie Baker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence J. Baker, 106 Henry street, and Kenneth Clyde Oakley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth J. Oakley, Lyonsville, was solemnized Sunday at 2 p. m. during a double ring ceremony at St. Joseph's Church, this city. The Rev. James V. Keating, assistant pastor of that parish, officiated.

Bridal music for the ceremony was played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, organist, while Donald Sweeney sank two solo selections prior to the ceremony: Panis Angelicus, and Schubert's Ave Maria. During the ceremony he sang Mother Beloved. The church was decorated with white snapdragons, and the pews were marked with white bows.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was dressed in traditional white satin. Her gown was cut with long sleeves, a fitted bodice with a net yoke and applique, and a cathedral train. Her fingertip veil was caught to a cap trimmed with seed pearls, and she carried a shower bouquet of roses and sweet peas.

Best man for the groom was Raymond Ward of 97 Clifton avenue. Lewis Rose of Olive Bridge, and Robert Munzberg of Ravena, cousin of the bride, ushered.

A reception for 85 guests was held following the ceremony at the Stuyvesant Hotel.

On their wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Oakley will visit New York. For her traveling ensemble the bride wore a red suit, with navy accessories. Upon their return the couple will make their home in Lyonsville.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School. She is employed with the Rosenbaum Co., 115 Green street.

Mr. Oakley was graduated from Kingston High School, and is now associated with his father in farm work.

Little Gardens Club Has First Meeting

The Little Gardens Club held its first meeting of the '51 season last Friday at the Nieuw Dorp, Hurley. Paper for the meeting, The Date Center of the World, was given by Mrs. Arthur Quimby, who told much about the industry, which flourishes in Indio, Calif. There, each year, she explained, a yearly festival is celebrated when all the plantation owners dress in Arabian costume. The general impression, she said, is that they have been imported from that country.

Mrs. Quimby also told members of another industry, located in Buena Park, Calif., where a berry farm, which 30 years ago covered only 10 acres, has multiplied its size to a total of 150 acres today. The farm has grown from a roadside stand, to a restaurant which, in 1948, served 1,084,461 dinners in eight separate dining rooms. On Sundays, 1,000 persons are served at a time. The 60-year-old couple who own the farm, continue to keep right on growing berries, and selling berry pies, she added. Mrs. Quimby also explained that she had visited both places.

At the social hour which followed Mrs. William Niles, and Mrs. Robert Murray were the hostesses. Mrs. John H. Saxe poured.

La Prensa Nears End of Existence

Buenos Aires, April 12 (AP)—La Prensa, unrelenting critic of President Juan D. Peron, neared the end today of its 82-year existence as an independent newspaper.

The Senate, (meets 1:30 p.m. E.S.T.) made up entirely of supporters of Peron, appeared certain to follow the Chamber of Deputies today in voting expropriation of the newspaper, already closed down since January by government-supported moves.

The Chamber approved expropriation last night, 103 to 16.

Senate passage of the bill would send it to Peron for his signature and a decision whether to reopen the newspaper as a government organ or to liquidate it.

Peron last night renewed his attacks on La Prensa in a speech before a convention of the General Confederation of Workers (CGT).

He said world capitalistic control already had been ousted from Argentina but "La Prensa was a beachhead left here by capitalism."

Only in 'Protection'

Peron said he was interested only in protecting liberties desired by the Argentine people.

"Liberty others want imposed doesn't interest me," Peron declared.

Alberto Gainza Paz, 52-year-old editor and publisher of La Prensa, received the news of the Chamber's action at Montevideo, where he had gone to thank newspaper editors for their support of his cause.

Gainza Paz, whose family are sole owners of the paper, fled Argentina last month to avoid arrest and a 15-day jail sentence for contempt of congress. The sentence was imposed after he questioned the constitutionality of seizure of the newspaper by a joint congressional committee March 21.

The paper had not been published since January 26, prevented first by a news vendors boycott and later by a printers' strike.

The Musical Society of Kingston completed its study of the composers of each century last night, with the contemporary American, Aaron Copland, who was born in Brooklyn in 1900. Mrs. Henry Millonig, program chairman briefly outlined the half century of Copland's life, explaining that the boy did not begin his musical studies until he was 15 years of age; a circumstance hinging on his father's decision that as the older children in the family had had little or no success with music lessons, Aaron would follow in their footsteps.

Following the first World War, the young composer went to Paris where he continued his studies as the first male pupil of Nadia Boulanger. Later he attracted the interest of Serge Koussevitzky. Today, he is the head of the composition department at Tanglewood, where he will return once again this summer for the Berkshire Festival.

Mrs. Millonig also spoke of Mr. Copland's Yaddo Festival, which he conducts each summer at Saratoga Springs, and read a letter from him, addressed to the society, complimenting them on the scope of last night's program. The speaker reminded members that the composer has done much background music for Hollywood, and recently, with an awakening interest in school children, has begun to write in a simpler vein.

Reviews Book

Mrs. LeRoy Vogt continued the program by reviewing his book, What to Listen for in Music, which explains some of the more modern compositional approaches. She also played the first movement from his Piano Sonata, explaining several of the melodic scenes. Mrs. Florence Cubberly, accompanied by Mrs. Willard Burke, played two piano and violin selections: Waltz, from Billy the Kid, and Hoe from The Rodeo. Miss Lucinda Merritt reviewed his background music for the movie, Our Town, and played three illustrative piano selections.

Next on the program was a choral group, accompanied by Mrs. William Rylance, which sang, What Do We Plant? and Immorality. Members included the Mmes. Kenneth Hikok, Frank Lawatsch, Deweese DeWitt and John L. MacKinnon. They were under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Flick.

Dance Group

A dance group, performing to recordings, was also formed to illustrate Copland's Appalachian Spring. Choregraphy for the group was the work of Mrs. Bertram Biship, who also played the part of the groom. Blossom Barnett, guest artist was the bride; Mrs. Hikok and Mrs. Lawatsch, pioneer women; Mrs. Donald Brown, the minister; Mrs. DeWitt and Mrs. Lloyd LeFever, members of the choir. Copland's, A Lincoln Portrait, was also illustrated by recordings.

Members of the program committee were the Mmes. Henry Millonig, LeRoy Vogt, Edwin Flick and Bernard Forst.

Committees Appointed

During the business meeting which followed Miss Alberta Davis, president, appointed the following committees for the coming year: Program, Miss Anne Goldrick, the Mmes. William Rylance, John Snyder, Edwin Flick, Bernard Forst, Miss Lucinda Merritt and Miss Ethel Mauterstock; membership, the Mmes. Bertram Bishop, William Wood, and Miss Jane Mauterstock; social, the Mmes. John MacKinnon, Deweese DeWitt and Miss Helen Sheldon; publicity, the Mmes. Caroline Seitz and Clarence Wolfersteig.

It was announced that there will be a study meeting April 25 at the home of Mrs. Millonig, 99 Clinton avenue, and guest night will be held May 9 at the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue. Each member may bring four guests, and should notify Mrs. DeWitt as to the number they are bringing.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Merritt, and the Mmes. Ethel Wood, and Ralph Harper. The meeting was held at Mrs. Rylance's home, 44 West Chestnut street.

Angry Demands Made by Senators For Investigation

Washington, April 12 (AP)—A recorded telephone call in which President Truman said he had "good information" that several Congress members collected improper fees drew angry demands today for a Senate investigation.

And a second recorded call in which Mr. Truman reportedly said he had no evidence to back the accusation only increased the lawmakers' wrath.

A powerful Senate group intent on beating down his proposal to reorganize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation planned to use the story as ammunition. The proposal comes before the Senate today for debate, with a showdown vote likely early next week.

Senator Tobey (R.-N. H.) told the Senate in a speech yesterday he made—and has kept—recordings of the phone calls and that in one of them Mr. Truman charged that "a good many" Senate and House members got fees for helping to arrange RFC loans.

Called Outrageous

The White House denounced recording of the calls as "outrageous" and said "every word" of the conversations could be made public.

Tobey's office said the recording device he used did not give the President notice that his words were being recorded, but Tobey said there was nothing improper about it.

The Federal Communications Commission termed it "illegal" to record a phone call unless the device emits a warning "beep" sound at 15 second intervals. But it gave no indication it intends to investigate the case.

However, Joseph Duke, Senate sergeant-at-arms, said he has ordered his staff to see that Tobey's recorder is adjusted to make such sounds hereafter.

Most senators shied away from commenting on Tobey's recording, but insisted they don't use similar devices. Senator Neely (D.-W. Va.) however, said he does not believe in their use by any one "unless the other party is given notice."

La Prensa Nears End of Existence

Buenos Aires, April 12 (AP)—La Prensa, unrelenting critic of President Juan D. Peron, neared the end today of its 82-year existence as an independent newspaper.

The Senate, (meets 1:30 p.m. E.S.T.) made up entirely of supporters of Peron, appeared certain to follow the Chamber of Deputies today in voting expropriation of the newspaper, already closed down since January by government-supported moves.

The Chamber approved expropriation last night, 103 to 16.

Senate passage of the bill would send it to Peron for his signature and a decision whether to reopen the newspaper as a government organ or to liquidate it.

Peron last night renewed his attacks on La Prensa in a speech before a convention of the General Confederation of Workers (CGT).

He said world capitalistic control already had been ousted from Argentina but "La Prensa was a beachhead left here by capitalism."

Only in 'Protection'

Peron said he was interested only in protecting liberties desired by the Argentine people.

"Liberty others want imposed doesn't interest me," Peron declared.

Alberto Gainza Paz, 52-year-old editor and publisher of La Prensa, received the news of the Chamber's action at Montevideo, where he had gone to thank newspaper editors for their support of his cause.

Gainza Paz, whose family are sole owners of the paper, fled Argentina last month to avoid arrest and a 15-day jail sentence for contempt of congress. The sentence was imposed after he questioned the constitutionality of seizure of the newspaper by a joint congressional committee March 21.

The paper had not been published since January 26, prevented first by a news vendors boycott and later by a printers' strike.

The Musical Society of Kingston completed its study of the composers of each century last night, with the contemporary American, Aaron Copland, who was born in Brooklyn in 1900. Mrs. Henry Millonig, program chairman briefly outlined the half century of Copland's life, explaining that the boy did not begin his musical studies until he was 15 years of age; a circumstance hinging on his father's decision that as the older children in the family had had little or no success with music lessons, Aaron would follow in their footsteps.

Following the first World War, the young composer went to Paris where he continued his studies as the first male pupil of Nadia Boulanger. Later he attracted the interest of Serge Koussevitzky. Today, he is the head of the composition department at Tanglewood, where he will return once again this summer for the Berkshire Festival.

Mrs. Millonig also spoke of Mr. Copland's Yaddo Festival, which he conducts each summer at Saratoga Springs, and read a letter from him, addressed to the society, complimenting them on the scope of last night's program. The speaker reminded members that the composer has done much background music for Hollywood, and recently, with an awakening interest in school children, has begun to write in a simpler vein.

Reviews Book

Mrs. LeRoy Vogt continued the program by reviewing his book, What to Listen for in Music, which explains some of the more modern compositional approaches. She also played the first movement from his Piano Sonata, explaining several of the melodic scenes. Mrs. Florence Cubberly, accompanied by Mrs. Willard Burke, played two piano and violin selections: Waltz, from Billy the Kid, and Hoe from The Rodeo. Miss Lucinda Merritt reviewed his background music for the movie, Our Town, and played three illustrative piano selections.

Next on the program was a choral group, accompanied by Mrs. William Rylance, which sang, What Do We Plant? and Immorality. Members included the Mmes. Kenneth Hikok, Frank Lawatsch, Deweese DeWitt and John L. MacKinnon. They were under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Flick.

Dance Group

A dance group, performing to recordings, was also formed to illustrate Copland's Appalachian Spring. Choregraphy for the group was the work of Mrs. Bertram Biship, who also played the part of the groom. Blossom Barnett, guest artist was the bride; Mrs. Hikok and Mrs. Lawatsch, pioneer women; Mrs. Donald Brown, the minister; Mrs. DeWitt and Mrs. Lloyd LeFever, members of the choir. Copland's, A Lincoln Portrait, was also illustrated by recordings.

Members of the program committee were the Mmes. Henry Millonig, LeRoy Vogt, Edwin Flick and Bernard Forst.

Committees Appointed

During the business meeting which followed Miss Alberta Davis, president, appointed the following committees for the coming year: Program, Miss Anne Goldrick, the Mmes. William Rylance, John Snyder, Edwin Flick, Bernard Forst, Miss Lucinda Merritt and Miss Ethel Mauterstock; membership, the Mmes. Bertram Bishop, William Wood, and Miss Jane Mauterstock; social, the Mmes. John MacKinnon, Deweese DeWitt and Miss Helen Sheldon; publicity, the Mmes. Caroline Seitz and Clarence Wolfersteig.

It was announced that there will be a study meeting April 25 at the home of Mrs. Millonig, 99 Clinton avenue, and guest night will be held May 9 at the First Baptist Church, Albany avenue. Each member may bring four guests, and should notify Mrs. DeWitt as to the number they are bringing.

Hostesses for the evening were Miss Merritt, and the Mmes. Ethel Wood, and Ralph Harper. The meeting was held at Mrs. Rylance's home, 44 West Chestnut street.

Angry Demands Made by Senators For Investigation

Washington, April 12 (AP)—A recorded telephone call in which President Truman said he had "good information" that several Congress members collected improper fees drew angry demands today for a Senate investigation.

And a second recorded call in which Mr. Truman reportedly said he had no evidence to back the accusation only increased the lawmakers' wrath.

A powerful Senate group intent on beating down his proposal to reorganize the Reconstruction Finance Corporation planned to use the story as ammunition. The proposal comes before the Senate today for debate, with a showdown vote likely early next week.

Senator Tobey (R.-N. H.) told the Senate in a speech yesterday he made—and has kept—recordings of the phone calls and that in one of them Mr. Truman charged that "a good many" Senate and House members got fees for helping to arrange RFC loans.

Called Outrageous

The White House denounced recording of the calls as "outrageous" and said "every word" of the conversations could be made public.

Tobey's office said the recording device he used did not give the President notice that his words were being recorded, but Tobey said there was nothing improper about it.

The Federal Communications Commission termed it "illegal" to record a phone call unless the device emits a warning "beep" sound at 15 second intervals. But it gave no indication it intends to investigate the case.

However, Joseph Duke, Senate sergeant-at-arms, said he has ordered his staff to see that Tobey's recorder is adjusted to make such sounds hereafter.

Most senators shied away from commenting on Tobey's recording, but insisted they don't use similar devices. Senator Neely (D.-W. Va.) however, said he does not believe in their use by any one "unless the other party is given notice."

Rizzuto Pronounced Fit to Play Against Nats in Opener Monday

Surgery Not Needed For Reynolds, Page

Baltimore, April 12 (AP)—Shortstop Phil Rizzuto—sore side and all—will be in the starting lineup when his New York Yankees face Washington Monday in the American League season opener.

And Yankee pitchers Allie Reynolds and Joe Page do not need surgery on their ailing flippers.

"I think that's pretty wonderful," Rizzuto said with a broad grin as he and his two teammates stepped from the office of Dr. George Bennett, Johns Hopkins Hospital surgeon, who looked over their ailments.

Yankee fans thought that was pretty wonderful news, too.

The three ailing ball players left the touring Yankees in Dallas earlier in the week to come to Baltimore to see Dr. Bennett—who at one time or another has treated most of the modern baseball greats.

Rizzuto, voted the most valuable player in the American League last year, pulled a cartilege in his right side during spring batting practice.

Dr. Bennett told him it would not prevent his playing.

"The doctor told me I can work out if there is no pain, and if there is some pain they can shoot me with novocaine and I can still play," he explained.

Reynolds, a 16-game winner last season, was worried about a sore elbow. Dr. Bennett found some loose particles of cartilage floating in the elbow. He called this "typical of almost all pitchers" and added "there are plenty of pitchers throwing with worse arms than Reynolds has."

Must Rest Arms

A sore shoulder has been troubling Page.

Both pitchers were told to work out with the club but to rest their arms for a week or ten days. Page was cautioned not to cut loose with his fast one for the next three weeks.

All three left here shortly after the examinations and planned to rejoin the ball club in New York.

Mantle Awaits Results

Tulsa, Okla., April 12 (AP) — Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' prize rookie, probably will know by the end of the week whether he's headed for army service or a major league baseball career.

The 19-year-old outfielder went through a pre-induction physical examination yesterday.

But even if he's reclassified from his present 4-F status into an eligible bracket, it'll be months before he's inducted, draft board officials have indicated.

Mickey originally was classified 4-F because of a leg bone ailment. The leg pains him only when wrapped tightly or when it gets considerable use, as in a double header, Mantle said.

"I'll play baseball for the army or fight for it, whatever they want me to do," the rookie said. "But if I don't go into the army, I want to play baseball."

Results of his pre-induction physical are being sent from the examining center here to his Miami, Okla., draft board. The Miami board will announce the results. It usually takes three days or less from the time of the physical examination until the draft board receives the results.

Royals Again Beat Knicks, 78 to 71

The Rochester Royals all but wrapped up the post-season championship of the National Basketball Association Wednesday night when they registered their third straight victory over the New York Knickerbockers by 78 to 71 at the 69th Regiment Armory in New York.

The fourth game of the best of seven series is scheduled for the armory floor Friday night. If the Knicks win, the series will shift to Rochester for the fifth game Sunday night. If the Royals win, it will be all over.

Arnie Risen sparked the Royals to their third win with spectacular bucket shooting. Risen tossed in 27 points. Vince Boryla and Max Zaslofsky were high for the Knicks with 20 and 18 respectively.

The Knicks led at the first quarter by 17-15 but the Royals held a 35-33 edge at halftime.

Archery Club Planned Here

An archery club will blossom forth in the local sports realm shortly, according to Arthur Harvey, a devotee of the bow and arrow.

Harvey, a construction worker on the new Washington School, has called a meeting of all interested in the sport for April 18 at 8 p. m. in the Cedar Rest, 673 Broadway.

Harvey said that five archers joined him at a recent meeting in formulating plans for the club, and he anticipates a sizeable turnout at the meeting on the 18th.

According to the iron worker, who first came to Kingston to take charge of steel construction on the Broadway crossing project, archery is a fascinating sport whether it is taken up for target shooting or as a means of hunting in areas where the bow and arrow are legal.

Williams Starts Anew After Win Over Pruden

Chicago, April 12 (AP)—Ike Williams today began a rigid training grind to shed 10½ pounds before risking his lightweight crown against James Carter in New York May 11.

He probably will find much more trouble reducing to the 135 lightweight limit than he did last night in taking a unanimous 10-round decision from Welterweight Fitzie Pruden.

Williams' manager, Blinky Palermo, said Ike is ready to go for the welter title and will meet the winner of the Johnny Bratton-Kid Gavilan bout in Chicago after fighting Carter.

"We will sign a contract with the International Boxing Club probably today for a welterweight title bout," said Palermo.

Ike added that he would like a crack at the 147 pound championship. He also said "Bratton (the NBA welter champion) has a good chance to defeat Gavilan." They tangle May 18 in New York.

Williams has met them both—and has defeated Bratton three times.

Ike weighed 145½ last night, the same as Pruden, the durable Canadian.

Training Camp News in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Irvin Hits in 20th

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 12 (AP)—Monte Irvin, Negro first baseman of the New York Giants, is filling the role as cleanup hitter brilliantly.

Irvin whacked out a single and double yesterday to stretch his hitting streak to 20 games. Irvin's stickwork was wasted as the Giants lost to Cleveland, 5-4.

Pittsburgh, April 12 (AP)—Ed Lopat, veteran lefthander, is scheduled to start for the New York Yankees today against the Pittsburgh Pirates in what probably will be his final tuneup for the start of the regular season. Lopat is expected to pitch the Yanks opening game at Washington Monday.

Five Seek Jobs

Washington, April 12 (AP) — Brooklyn Dodger Manager Chuck Dressen still hasn't made up his mind on five pitchers but he hopes to do so by the time the Dodgers complete their exhibition schedule this weekend.

The five pitchers struggling to make the grade are Clarence Podbielan, Phil Haugstad, Earl Mossor, Jim Romano and Clem Labine.

Battle for Positions

Springfield, Mass., April 12 (AP) —Ex-New York Yankee chattel Paul Hinrichs and rookie Bill Evans will divide the pitching chores for Boston's Red Sox today against the Chicago Cubs' Springfield entry in the Class AAA International League.

Evans and Hinrichs are battling for the tenth pitching spot on Manager Steve O'Neill's club and their performances here and in the Boston city series against the Braves will decide who stays up this season.

Braves in Home Drill

Boston, April 12 (AP)—Boston's much-travelled Braves will work out in their own wigwam for the first time this year today after returning from the longest road trip in the club's history.

Manager Billy Southworth scheduled the Braves field drill in preparation for tomorrow's third game of the annual five-game city series with the Red Sox. The rivals are even up so far.

Phils Meet Reds

Charleston, W. Va., April 12 (AP) —Robin Roberts and Ewell (The Whip) Blackwell are scheduled to put on a pitching show as the Philadelphia Phillies meet the Cincinnati Reds today.

It will be the last outing of the Phillies' northward trek from their southern base at Clearwater, Fla. The National League champs are due to open the annual three-game city series against the Philadelphia Athletics Friday.

Feller Impressive

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 12 (AP)—Bob Feller's pitching stock was the highest today since the Cleveland Indians started their exhibition season.

The reason? The veteran right-hander hurled a smooth seven innings against the New York Giants at Atlanta, Ga., yesterday for his first really outstanding performance of the year.

Bob fanned seven men, three of them in order in the seventh. He granted only six hits—three of them infield scratches—and he walked just one player.

Bob Lemon got credit for the 5-4 victory over New York yesterday. He was tapped for a hit and a run in the eighth and retired the side in order in the ninth.

Bero Wins Game With Pinch Double

New York, April 12 (AP)—Maybe it's a hint on what is in store on opening day next week in the major leagues.

Anyway the St. Louis Browns plastered a 1-0 no-hitter on the St. Louis Cardinals last night in their exhibition game at Houston. Ned Garver pitched the first eight innings, was lifted for a pinch-hitter, then Lou Sleater finished the no-hitter by getting Harry Lowrey, Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial without trouble.

Johnny Bero, who pinch hit for Garver, doubled home the only run of the game in the last of the eighth.

Jim Hearn, who hasn't approached his 1950 form, went all the way as the Giants dropped a 5-4 decision to the Cleveland Indians at Atlanta.

For five innings Hearn sparkled as he protected a 3-0 lead but a home run by Orestes Minoso in the sixth started him on the road to defeat.

The Indians tied the score at 4-4 in the eighth and won out in the ninth when Hearn walked Larry Doby, Bob Kennedy and Ray Boone to force home Pinch-runner Thurman Tucker with the winning run.

Willard Nixon and Bill Wight pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 6-1 victory over Columbus (AA) at Columbus. The Sox wrapped up the decision with three runs in the first inning off a former teammate, Cot Deal.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, with Jackie Robinson and Rocky Bridges, hitting homers, whipped the Baltimore Orioles, 11-7, in a night game at Baltimore before 15,406. The Yankees were idle.

New Haven, Conn., April 12 (AP) —College football probably will be televised on a selective basis next fall while the colleges take soundings to find out the effect on attendance. Archery Club Planned Here

An archery club will blossom forth in the local sports realm shortly, according to Arthur Harvey, a devotee of the bow and arrow.

Harvey, a construction worker on the new Washington School, has called a meeting of all interested in the sport for April 18 at 8 p. m. in the Cedar Rest, 673 Broadway.

Harvey said that five archers joined him at a recent meeting in formulating plans for the club, and he anticipates a sizeable turnout at the meeting on the 18th.

According to the iron worker, who first came to Kingston to take charge of steel construction on the Broadway crossing project, archery is a fascinating sport whether it is taken up for target shooting or as a means of hunting in areas where the bow and arrow are legal.

Royals Again Beat Knicks, 78 to 71

The Rochester Royals all but wrapped up the post-season championship of the National Basketball Association Wednesday night when they registered their third straight victory over the New York Knickerbockers by 78 to 71 at the 69th Regiment Armory in New York.

The fourth game of the best of seven series is scheduled for the armory floor Friday night. If the Knicks win, the series will shift to Rochester for the fifth game Sunday night. If the Royals win, it will be all over.

Arnie Risen sparked the Royals to their third win with spectacular bucket shooting. Risen tossed in 27 points. Vince Boryla and Max Zaslofsky were high for the Knicks with 20 and 18 respectively.

The Knicks led at the first quarter by 17-15 but the Royals held a 35-33 edge at halftime.

Williams Starts Anew After Win Over Pruden

Chicago, April 12 (AP)—Ike Williams today began a rigid training grind to shed 10½ pounds before risking his lightweight crown against James Carter in New York May 11.

He probably will find much more trouble reducing to the 135 lightweight limit than he did last night in taking a unanimous 10-round decision from Welterweight Fitzie Pruden.

Williams' manager, Blinky Palermo, said Ike is ready to go for the welter title and will meet the winner of the Johnny Bratton-Kid Gavilan bout in Chicago after fighting Carter.

"We will sign a contract with the International Boxing Club probably today for a welterweight title bout," said Palermo.

Ike added that he would like a crack at the 147 pound championship. He also said "Bratton (the NBA welter champion) has a good chance to defeat Gavilan." They tangle May 18 in New York.

Williams has met them both—and has defeated Bratton three times.

Ike weighed 145½ last night, the same as Pruden, the durable Canadian.

Irvin Hits in 20th

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 12 (AP)—Monte Irvin, Negro first baseman of the New York Giants, is filling the role as cleanup hitter brilliantly.

Irvin whacked out a single and double yesterday to stretch his hitting streak to 20 games. Irvin's stickwork was wasted as the Giants lost to Cleveland, 5-4.

Pittsburgh, April 12 (AP)—Ed Lopat, veteran lefthander, is scheduled to start for the New York Yankees today against the Pittsburgh Pirates in what probably will be his final tuneup for the start of the regular season. Lopat is expected to pitch the Yanks opening game at Washington Monday.

Five Seek Jobs

Washington, April 12 (AP)—Brooklyn Dodger Manager Chuck Dressen still hasn't made up his mind on five pitchers but he hopes to do so by the time the Dodgers complete their exhibition schedule this weekend.

The five pitchers struggling to make the grade are Clarence Podbielan, Phil Haugstad, Earl Mossor, Jim Romano and Clem Labine.

Battle for Positions

Springfield, Mass., April 12 (AP)—Ex-New York Yankee chattel Paul Hinrichs and rookie Bill Evans will divide the pitching chores for Boston's Red Sox today against the Chicago Cubs' Springfield entry in the Class AAA International League.

Evans and Hinrichs are battling for the tenth pitching spot on Manager Steve O'Neill's club and their performances here and in the Boston city series against the Braves will decide who stays up this season.

Braves in Home Drill

Boston, April 12 (AP)—Boston's much-travelled Braves will work out in their own wigwam for the first time this year today after returning from the longest road trip in the club's history.

Manager Billy Southworth scheduled the Braves field drill in preparation for tomorrow's third game of the annual five-game city series with the Red Sox. The rivals are even up so far.

Phils Meet Reds

Charleston, W. Va., April 12 (AP)—Robin Roberts and Ewell (The Whip) Blackwell are scheduled to put on a pitching show as the Philadelphia Phillies meet the Cincinnati Reds today.

It will be the last outing of the Phillies' northward trek from their southern base at Clearwater, Fla. The National League champs are due to open the annual three-game city series against the Philadelphia Athletics Friday.

Feller Impressive

Winston-Salem, N. C., April 12 (AP)—Bob Feller's pitching stock was the highest today since the Cleveland Indians started their exhibition season.

The reason? The veteran righthander hurled a smooth seven innings against the New York Giants at Atlanta, Ga., yesterday for his first really outstanding performance of the year.

Bob fanned seven men, three of them in order in the seventh. He granted only six hits—three of them infield scratches—and he walked just one player.

Bob Lemon got credit for the 5-4 victory over New York yesterday. He was tapped for a hit and a run in the eighth and retired the side in order in the ninth.

Bero Wins Game With Pinch Double

New York, April 12 (AP)—Maybe it's a hint on what is in store on opening day next week in the major leagues.

Anyway the St. Louis Browns plastered a 1-0 no-hitter on the St. Louis Cardinals last night in their exhibition game at Houston. Ned Garver pitched the first eight innings, was lifted for a pinch-hitter, then Lou Sleater finished the no-hitter by getting Harry Lowrey, Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial without trouble.

Johnny Bero, who pinch hit for Garver, doubled home the only run of the game in the last of the eighth.

Jim Hearn, who hasn't approached his 1950 form, went all the way as the Giants dropped a 5-4 decision to the Cleveland Indians at Atlanta.

For five innings Hearn sparkled as he protected a 3-0 lead but a home run by Orestes Minoso in the sixth started him on the road to defeat.

The Indians tied the score at 4-4 in the eighth and won out in the ninth when Hearn walked Larry Doby, Bob Kennedy and Ray Boone to force home Pinch-runner Thurman Tucker with the winning run.

Willard Nixon and Bill Wight pitched the Boston Red Sox to a 6-1 victory over Columbus (AA) at Columbus. The Sox wrapped up the decision with three runs in the first inning off a former teammate, Cot Deal.

The Brooklyn Dodgers, with Jackie Robinson and Rocky Bridges, hitting homers, whipped the Baltimore Orioles, 11-7, in a night game at Baltimore before 15,406. The Yankees were idle.

Rizzuto Pronounced Fit to Play Against Nats in Opener Monday

Surgery Not Needed For Reynolds, Page

Baltimore, April 12 (AP)—Shortstop Phil Rizzuto—sore side and all—will be in the starting lineup when his New York Yankees face Washington Monday in the American League season opener.

And Yankee pitchers Allie Reynolds and Joe Page do not need surgery on their ailing flippers.

"I think that's pretty wonderful," Rizzuto said with a broad grin as he and his two teammates stepped from the office of Dr. George Bennett, Johns Hopkins Hospital surgeon, who looked over their ailments.

Yankee fans thought that was pretty wonderful news, too.

The three ailing ball players left the touring Yankees in Dallas earlier in the week to come to Baltimore to see Dr. Bennett—who at one time or another has treated most of the modern baseball greats.

Rizzuto, voted the most valuable player in the American League last year, pulled a cartilege in his right side during spring batting practice.

Dr. Bennett told him it would not prevent his playing.

"The doctor told me I can work out if there is no pain, and if there is some pain they can shoot me with novocaine and I can still play," he explained.

Reynolds, a 16-game winner last season, was worried about a sore elbow. Dr. Bennett found some loose particles of cartilage floating in the elbow. He called this "typical of almost all pitchers" and added "there are plenty of pitchers throwing with worse arms than Reynolds has."

Must Rest Arms

A sore shoulder has been troubling Page.

Both pitchers were told to work out with the club but to rest their arms for a week or ten days. Page was cautioned not to cut loose with his fast one for the next three weeks.

All three left here shortly after the examinations and planned to rejoin the ball club in New York.

Mantle Awaits Results

Tulsa, Okla., April 12 (AP)—Mickey Mantle, the New York Yankees' prize rookie, probably will know by the end of the week whether he's headed for army service or a major league baseball career.

The 19-year-old outfielder went through a pre-induction physical examination yesterday.

But even if he's reclassified from his present 4-F status into an eligible bracket, it'll be months before he's inducted, draft board officials have indicated.

Mickey originally was classified 4-F because of a leg bone ailment. The leg pains him only when wrapped tightly or when it gets considerable use, as in a double header, Mantle said.

"I'll play baseball for the army or fight for it, whatever they want me to do," the rookie said. "But if I don't go into the army, I want to play baseball."

Results of his pre-induction physical are being sent from the examining center here to his Miami, Okla., draft board. The Miami board will announce the results. It usually takes three days or less from the time of the physical examination until the draft board receives the results.

Early prediction for the half million anglers who will invade New York's trout streams on Saturday, April 14: Waters will be high but not as cold as on recent opening days. Esopus watershed high and muddy.

No wrapup of the 1951-51 basketball season would be complete without a salute to Lou Schafer and Leo Schupp. These two distinguished basketball entrepreneurs kept the town's calfskin addicts busy from late summer until just a few days ago. Schafer completed another great season at the Y.M.C.A. with his regular leagues and the Cadet and junior basketball programs. C.Y.O. basketball "arrived" under Schupp's expert guidance this season. There were local, county, regional and intersectional tournaments. As long as these two fellows and Andy Murphy of the Recreation Department are around, basketball will be in good hands.

An inquiry out of Poughkeepsie: Are the Colonials interested in Billy Ostrom, the eccentric lefthander, who happens to hold the all-time ERA and batting average records in the late, but not lamented Colonial League? The Colonials are interested, of course, but only if Ostrom were available for a complete schedule. Paul Talgo, 32-year-old Mamaroneck golfer, has taken over as the new professional at the Catskill Country Club, succeeding Walter Thiel of Kingston. Thiel has landed a new assignment in New Hampshire. Talgo, a World War 2 veteran, has an interesting background. He has been connected with golf for 20 years, having worked at every job in the business. Before he took the Catskill post, he was employed as assistant to Victor Oberhammer at the famous Quaker Ridge Golf Club in Scarsdale. Previously he had been employed as assistant to Paul Runyan at Annandale Golf Club, Pasadena, Cal.; and to George Otis at Harbor Country Club in Mamaroneck. Early prediction for the half million anglers who will invade New York's trout streams on Saturday, April 14: Waters will be high but not as cold as on recent opening days. Esopus watershed high and muddy.

No wrapup of the 1951-51 basketball season would be complete without a salute to Lou Schafer and Leo Schupp. These two distinguished basketball entrepreneurs kept the town's calfskin addicts busy from late summer until just a few days ago. Schafer completed another great season at the Y.M.C.A. with his regular leagues and the Cadet and junior basketball programs. C.Y.O. basketball "arrived" under Schupp's expert guidance this season. There were local, county, regional and intersectional tournaments. As long as these two fellows and Andy Murphy of the Recreation Department are around, basketball will be in good hands.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

An inquiry out of Poughkeepsie: Are the Colonials interested in Billy Ostrom, the eccentric lefthander, who happens to hold the all-time ERA and batting average records in the late, but not lamented Colonial League? The Colonials are interested, of course, but only if Ostrom were available for a complete schedule. Satch Escalera (Bristol), the best hitter in the Colonial League in 1950, is now property of the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League. Paul Talgo, 32-year-old Mamaroneck golfer, has taken over as the new professional at the Catskill Country Club, succeeding Walter Thiel of Kingston. Thiel has landed a new assignment in New Hampshire. Talgo, a World War 2 veteran, has an interesting background. He has been connected with golf for 20 years, having worked at every job in the business. Before he took the Catskill post, he was employed as assistant to Victor Oberhammer at the famous Quaker Ridge Golf Club in Scarsdale. Previously he had been employed as assistant to Paul Runyan at Annandale Golf Club, Pasadena, Cal.; and to George Otis at Harbor Country Club in Mamaroneck. He also was head pro at Racquette Lake and the Rye Country Club in Westchester.

Did the parent Chicago Cubs make a mistake in shipping Kevin "Chuck" Connors, Kingston wartime idol, back to the bushes? The first three times up in a Los Angeles uniform, Connors belted three home runs to tie a club record. A few days later Max West, former Boston Brave, duplicated the feat. West, incidentally, hit one of the longest triples ever seen at the local municipal stadium in a pre-war exhibition between the Braves and Kingston Recreations. The cash-and-carry semi-pros ready to resume operations in Poughkeepsie. Rafael Noble, the New York Giants rookie Cuban catcher, caught the slants of Lefty Tiant when the latter shut out the post-war Recreations for the New York Cubans. Sam Jethroe, another Negro star with the Boston Braves, appeared here with the Cleveland Buckeyes before the war. The Philadelphia Phillies will play an exhibition game against their Eastern League Schenectady farm club on July 10, the date of the All Star game. New Paltz State Teachers College launch baseball schedule against Oneonta State Teachers on April 27 in New Paltz.

Gene Sarazen's 75-74-73-71 in the Masters tournament in Augusta a pretty fair piece of fairway magic for a 49-year-old veteran.

Tom Miller, the Central Rec kegler, who won a high single award in the recent city tournament, will soon announce plans for a marathon endurance test at the Railroad avenue lanes. K.W.B.A. will be represented by 32 teams in the New York State women's tournament in Binghamton on May 12 and 13. Chris Robinson and Dot Rawding still leading Freeman Headpin bowling tournament with 109 and 108 respectively as the final weekend of play approaches. "Play Better Golf" featuring Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead, Patty Berg and Jim Ferrier will be shown at the Wiltwyck Golf Club's get-together on April 23.

By CHARLES J. FIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

Early prediction for the half million anglers who will invade New York's trout streams on Saturday, April 14: Waters will be high but not as cold as on recent opening days. Esopus watershed high and muddy.

No wrapup of the 1951-51 basketball season would be complete without a salute to Lou Schafer and Leo Schupp. These two distinguished basketball entrepreneurs kept the town's calfskin addicts busy from late summer until just a few days ago. Schafer completed another great season at the Y.M.C.A. with his regular leagues and the Cadet and junior basketball programs. C.Y.O. basketball "arrived" under Schupp's expert guidance this season. There were local, county, regional and intersectional tournaments. As long as these two fellows and Andy Murphy of the Recreation Department are around, basketball will be in good hands.

• Flotsam and Jetsam:

An inquiry out of Poughkeepsie: Are the Colonials interested in Billy Ostrom, the eccentric lefthander, who happens to hold the all-time ERA and batting average records in the late, but not lamented Colonial League? The Colonials are interested, of course, but only if Ostrom were available for a complete schedule. Satch Escalera (Bristol), the best hitter in the Colonial League in 1950, is now property of the Syracuse Chiefs of the International League. Paul Talgo, 32-year-old Mamaroneck golfer, has taken over as the new professional at the Catskill Country Club, succeeding Walter Thiel of Kingston. Thiel has landed a new assignment in New Hampshire. Talgo, a World War 2 veteran, has an interesting background. He has been connected with golf for 20 years, having worked at every job in the business. Before he took the Catskill post, he was employed as assistant to Victor Oberhammer at the famous Quaker Ridge Golf Club in Scarsdale. Previously he had been employed as assistant to Paul Runyan at Annandale Golf Club, Pasadena, Cal.; and to George Otis at Harbor Country Club in Mamaroneck. He also was head pro at Racquette Lake and the Rye Country Club in Westchester.

Did the parent Chicago Cubs make a mistake in shipping Kevin "Chuck" Connors, Kingston wartime idol, back to the bushes? The first three times up in a Los Angeles uniform, Connors belted three home runs to tie a club record. A few days later Max West, former Boston Brave, duplicated the feat. West, incidentally, hit one of the longest triples ever seen at the local municipal stadium in a pre-war exhibition between the Braves and Kingston Recreations. The cash-and-carry semi-pros ready to resume operations in Poughkeepsie. Rafael Noble, the New York Giants rookie Cuban catcher, caught the slants of Lefty Tiant when the latter shut out the post-war Recreations for the New York Cubans. Sam Jethroe, another Negro star with the Boston Braves, appeared here with the Cleveland Buckeyes before the war. The Philadelphia Phillies will play an exhibition game against their Eastern League Schenectady farm club on July 10, the date of the All Star game. New Paltz State Teachers College launch baseball schedule against Oneonta State Teachers on April 27 in New Paltz.

Gene Sarazen's 75-74-73-71 in the Masters tournament in Augusta a pretty fair piece of fairway magic for a 49-year-old veteran.

Tom Miller, the Central Rec kegler, who won a high single award in the recent city tournament, will soon announce plans for a marathon endurance test at the Railroad avenue lanes. K.W.B.A. will be represented by 32 teams in the New York State women's tournament in Binghamton on May 12 and 13. Chris Robinson and Dot Rawding still leading Freeman Headpin bowling tournament with 109 and 108 respectively as the final weekend of play approaches. "Play Better Golf" featuring Lloyd Mangrum, Sam Snead, Patty Berg and Jim Ferrier will be shown at the Wiltwyck Golf Club's get-together on April 23.

Sports of the Day

(IN BRIEF)
(By The Associated Press)

Chicago—K. L. (Tug) Wilson, commissioner of the Big Ten, said a 15-day investigation refuted the "suspicions" cast against a publicly unidentified official by Sidney Brodson, Milwaukee gambler, before the Kefauver Crime Committee.

Toronto—Sid Smith's goal in overtime gave Toronto Maple Leafs, 3-2 victory over Montreal in first game of final Stanley Cup playoffs.

Dukes Drill Sunday

Members of the Duke's softball team will meet Sunday at 2 p. m. at the lower Hasbrouck Park diamond for their first workout of the 1951 season. A full attendance of last year's squad members is requested.

Becker Selected For Boxing Tour

Ben Becker of Albany, who figured prominently in arranging local boxing cards sponsored by B'nai B'rith of Kingston, has been nominated coach of the Amateur Athletic Union's championship boxing team which will tour Europe in June.

Others nominated with Becker were Charles Gevecker of St. Louis as manager of the touring boxers, Harry Forbes of New York as alternate manager and Joseph Harris of Baltimore as alternate coach.

The nominations must be approved by the A.A.U.'s foreign relations and executive committees.

New Boxing Classes

Boston, April 12 (AP)—After June 15 the Amateur Athletic Union will modify its boxing program by adding two classes to the eight which have been in vogue for many years. Bowling

Continuing to find the pocket in exceptional style, Rose Schatzel blasted a 608 triple to lead the pinfall in the Colonial Women's League action at the Bowlatorium Wednesday night.

Mrs. Schatzel opened strong and finished strong with a 201 beginner and a 224 game in her finale. These two were wrapped around a 183 solo to give her the 608 blast.

The rest of the pinfall in the loop was of top-drawer fashion with Eleanor Singer holding down the runner-up slot with 215-551.

Elizabeth Bruck fired 213-546; Phyl Gehringer 531; Beverly Port 200-522; Charlote Lapine 512 and Grace Wojciechowski 504.

Also of note were Ada Markle with 491; Mary Wyant 490; Doris Wolff 485; Dot Rawding 201-479; Marie O'Donnell 471 and Dot Flemings 470.

Virginia Greco was far out in front of the other keglerettes in the Silver Division with her neat 471 series. Her scores were 148-166-157.

Jo Booth, Angeline Brocco and Helen McDougall tied for runner-up honors with 435 triples. Clara Gile fired 430; Charlotte Herdman 423; Kate North 421; Dora Manfro 420.

St. Colman's No. 1 wrapped up the championship of the C.Y.O. League Wednesday night at the Bowlodrome by taking a clean sweep of three games from St. Colman's No. 2. One week remains on the schedule in the loop but the championship is safely tucked away by the No. 1 squad.

In the individual action last night, Johnny Zeeh featured the pinfall with a 583 triple on scores of 167-222-194.

Dom Clausi hit 205-564; Pete Nagy 210-548; Nick Bruck 543; Andy Gilday 206-540; Ed Auclair 208-534; Ed Lukas 530; Gerard Kearney 529; J. Lukas 511; Ray Zeeh 511 and Jim Noble 505.

Picking up steam as she went along, T. Hasbrouck produced games of 145-158-165 for a 468 triple to lead the Pioneer Women's League Wednesday night at the Bowlodrome.

Kay Roosa fired 446 for No. 2 honors. M. Schussler posted 441; L. Cameron 430; B. Tucker 424; E. Houghtaling 421.

Harold Schussler was well on his way to achieving the hat trick in the Y Federation American League Wednesday night on the Broadway lanes with opening sticks of 235 and 200. Schussler wound up his third game with 169 and called it a night on the strength of a 604 triple.

Don Weeks, the softball flinger, packed 211 and 562 for No. 2 honors. Doug Kennedy fired 204-552; Harold Pine 547; Bill Hornbeck 202-544; Art Carr 208-528; Frank Roe 526; H. Engles 521; J. Phalen 520; F. Schussler 204-512; Herm Osmers 224-511; Ferd Short 213-510 and Clarence Hyde 201-509.

Board of Estimate May Pass Sales Tax

New York, April 12 (AP) — A boost in New York city's sales tax to three per cent went before its last official group today with prospects for unanimous approval.

The Board of Estimate called a public hearing this afternoon on the increased tax and a companion bill for a three per cent compensating use tax on retail purchases made by city residents outside the city.

Both the sales tax and the use tax are now two per cent. The City Council yesterday approved 19 to 6 the increases, effective May 1. Mayor Impellitteri is expected to sign the bills late next week.

The increases are expected to bring the city an additional $60,000,000 revenue. A vigorous campaign against them has been led by city merchants who claim (1) more taxes will drive retail trade away from the city and (2) the city should get the money it needs through economy.

Gazette Cites 'Failure'

Moscow, April 12 (AP)—The Literary Gazette declared today General MacArthur was fired because of failures and "Wall Street does not intend to renounce his risky policy." The magazine of the Union of Soviet Writers said that was what President Truman had in mind in stating the dismissal of MacArthur "does not mean a change in American policy in the Far East."

MacArthur Denies Joint Statement On Korean Policy

New York, April 12 (AP)—In a full-page newspaper advertisement, Newsweek today printed a message from Gen. Douglas MacArthur saying he never had received any joint allied statement on policy in Korea.

MacArthur's message, the ad said, was a result of Newsweek's account of the White House reaction to the general's March 24 statement.

In that statement, MacArthur had said that if the United Nations want to expand their military operations into attacks on the Chinese mainland they can destroy the military power of Red China.

"The statement contained in your issue of April 2 to the effect that prior to the issuance of my statement on March 24 of the military situation I had been furnished a copy of a policy statement by the President cleared by the governments having military forces in Korea is entirely without basis in fact. I have never seen such a statement and do not know if it even exists. Please publish this in the interest of truth."

Poor Eyesight

Camp Pickett, Va., April 12 (AP)—It took three burly sergeants to escort Umpire Private Noel B. Fuguay off the field after a softball game here. Seems the umpire had called some questionable plays. "I call 'em as I see 'em," Fuquay told his critics. Today, the army revealed that Fuquay is being given a medical discharge. The reason: Poor eyesight.

Board of Estimate May Pass Sales Tax

New York, April 12 (AP) — A boost in New York city's sales tax to three per cent went before its last official group today with prospects for unanimous approval.

The Board of Estimate called a public hearing this afternoon on the increased tax and a companion bill for a three per cent compensating use tax on retail purchases made by city residents outside the city.

Both the sales tax and the use tax are now two per cent. The City Council yesterday approved 19 to 6 the increases, effective May 1. Mayor Impellitteri is expected to sign the bills late next week.

The increases are expected to bring the city an additional $60,000,000 revenue. A vigorous campaign against them has been led by city merchants who claim (1) more taxes will drive retail trade away from the city and (2) the city should get the money it needs through economy.

Richard Ruth, of Kingston, formerly a member of the Sawkill baseball team, now in the U. S. Navy, visited friends in Sawkill over the week-end.

The Town of Kingston Highway Superintendent Sylvester Myers has been directing repair work to the town roads this week. The high water caused damage to various roads including the Murray Hill road in Stony Hollow and the Jockey Hill road above Sawkill.

The Sawkill Volunteer Fire Company held a meeting at the Sawkill schoolhouse Monday night. Further plans for the social event were made. The date has definitely been set for July 7 and 8 on the school grounds. There will be a variety of games, music, and refreshments. The next regular meeting of the fire company will be at the schoolhouse Monday, April 23, at 8 p. m.

The Junior Citizenship Club of the Sawkill School held its regular weekly meeting at the schoolhouse Friday afternoon. Members held their quarter year elections. Eric Blackwell was reelected president; Edward Everett was elected vice president; Linda Ritzhaupt, secretary; Lionel Everett, assistant secretary; Robert Sleight, treasurer; and David Bjaelker, assistant treasurer. The club recently received a letter of thanks for a contribution it made this term to the "Freddie Fund." This fund is for the benefit of a crippled child and was started by a committee of the Radio Electronics Magazine. One of the Junior Citizenship Club members brought an article to the school about this fund and the club became interested and made a donation to it.

Mrs. D. Carcaramo is spending this week in Brooklyn visiting her daughters and son.

The Cancer Drive in Sawkill is now underway. Joseph Carcaramo is on the committee locally.

Gazette Cites 'Failure'

Moscow, April 12 (AP)—The Literary Gazette declared today General MacArthur was fired because of failures and "Wall Street does not intend to renounce his risky policy." The magazine of the Union of Soviet Writers said that was what President Truman had in mind in stating the dismissal of MacArthur "does not mean a change in American policy in the Far East."

MacArthur Denies Joint Statement On Korean Policy

New York, April 12 (AP)—In a full-page newspaper advertisement, Newsweek today printed a message from Gen. Douglas MacArthur saying he never had received any joint allied statement on policy in Korea.

MacArthur's message, the ad said, was a result of Newsweek's account of the White House reaction to the general's March 24 statement.

In that statement, MacArthur had said that if the United Nations want to expand their military operations into attacks on the Chinese mainland they can destroy the military power of Red China.

"The statement contained in your issue of April 2 to the effect that prior to the issuance of my statement on March 24 of the military situation I had been furnished a copy of a policy statement by the President cleared by the governments having military forces in Korea is entirely without basis in fact. I have never seen such a statement and do not know if it even exists. Please publish this in the interest of truth."

Poor Eyesight

Camp Pickett, Va., April 12 (AP)—It took three burly sergeants to escort Umpire Private Noel B. Fuguay off the field after a softball game here. Seems the umpire had called some questionable plays. "I call 'em as I see 'em," Fuquay told his critics. Today, the army revealed that Fuquay is being given a medical discharge. The reason: Poor eyesight.

Gazette Cites 'Failure'

Moscow, April 12 (AP)—The Literary Gazette declared today General MacArthur was fired because of failures and "Wall Street does not intend to renounce his risky policy." The magazine of the Union of Soviet Writers said that was what President Truman had in mind in stating the dismissal of MacArthur "does not mean a change in American policy in the Far East."

MacArthur Denies Joint Statement On Korean Policy

New York, April 12 (AP)—In a full-page newspaper advertisement, Newsweek today printed a message from Gen. Douglas MacArthur saying he never had received any joint allied statement on policy in Korea.

MacArthur's message, the ad said, was a result of Newsweek's account of the White House reaction to the general's March 24 statement.

In that statement, MacArthur had said that if the United Nations want to expand their military operations into attacks on the Chinese mainland they can destroy the military power of Red China.

"The statement contained in your issue of April 2 to the effect that prior to the issuance of my statement on March 24 of the military situation I had been furnished a copy of a policy statement by the President cleared by the governments having military forces in Korea is entirely without basis in fact. I have never seen such a statement and do not know if it even exists. Please publish this in the interest of truth."

Poor Eyesight

Camp Pickett, Va., April 12 (AP)—It took three burly sergeants to escort Umpire Private Noel B. Fuguay off the field after a softball game here. Seems the umpire had called some questionable plays. "I call 'em as I see 'em," Fuquay told his critics. Today, the army revealed that Fuquay is being given a medical discharge. The reason: Poor eyesight.

McCarthy Blames Liquor for Act

Milwaukee, April 12 (AP)—The Milwaukee Journal today quoted Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) as saying that "treason in the White House" has been accomplished by "bourbon and benedictine."

McCarthy asserted, according to the Journal, that the "treason" was accomplished by men who knew how "to get the President cheerful," and continued that the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur by the President is "a Communist victory won with the aid of bourbon and benedictine."

The Wisconsin senator, according to Journal reporter Robert Fleming, made the statements Wednesday night in a speech before nearly 600 members of the Wisconsin Retail Furniture Dealers Association.

Reference Quoted

The Journal quoted McCarthy's reference in his speech to "bourbon and benedictine" as follows:

"This is a black day, one of the blackest in the history of this country. A day in which America and all western civilization suffered a tremendous defeat and the Communists, home made and foreign made, suffered a great victory, a victory achieved with the aid of bourbon and benedictine."

McCarthy said the record showed that "the pals of Alger Hiss are still running the State Department."

Referring to the MacArthur dismissal, Fleming quoted McCarthy as saying:

"This morning was signed, unless the American people force a change, the death warrant of western civilization by a President who didn't know what he was doing. He is surrounded by the Lessups, the Achesons, the old Hiss crowd. These men have no hypnotic influence; most of the tragic things are done at 1:30 and 2 o'clock in the morning when they've had time to get the President cheerful."

Body Is Found

Alpine, N. J., April 12 (AP)—The decomposed body of a Yonkers, N. Y., canoe club member who disappeared on the Hudson river last Feb. 22 was found today by two fishermen. The victim, Russell Weber, 22, a naval reserve officer, was identified by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Weber, of (529 Westview avenue) Ridgfield, N. J. A watch, ring, naval knife and car keys provided the main identification clues. Two Alpine fishermen, Louis and Frank Florio, pulled out Weber's body today in a shad net near the Alpine ferry slip.

To Sell Property

Hudson, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—Columbia county supervisors have voted to sell to private interests a property the state planned to use for a civil defense rescue school. The board voted unanimously yesterday to sell an abandoned brickyard in Stockport to two corporations. The action came as the state received a low bid of $41,471 for renovating the plant. The state had planned to train atom bomb rescue chiefs at the plant, reconditioning one building for class work and using others for rescue tests.

Bride Price Raised

Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP)—The bride price was raised from 20 to 50 spears each, worth about $10, at the annual chiefs meeting of Zande district in the southern Sudan. The chiefs also agreed the price must be paid in full by the prospective husband before the marriage becomes legal.

Two Bus Passengers Report Minor Injuries

Two passengers said they received minor injuries after the bus in which they were riding struck a pole in New Salem about 10:05 a. m. Wednesday, Mrs. D. Shaver of Port Ewen reported to the sheriff's office on Thursday.

Mrs. Shaver said the bus was driven by DeForest Shaver, Jr., according to the sheriff's office report. Mrs. Mary Bandis of Eddyville received a cut lip and complained of a stiff neck, and Mrs. Mary Regan of Creek Locks said she suffered a bump on the head, the report stated.

Chemicals Cause Cancer

that score remained in doubt.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Senate G.O.P. leader, told reporters he will continue to press for action on a resolution he offered yesterday. It would invite MacArthur to return to Washington at once to tell his side of the story at a joint meeting of Congress.

Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, blocked consideration of the Wherry measure. And Wherry acknowledged that the parliamentary situation practically rules out any action today.

An identical resolution was introduced in the House by Rep. Martin (Mass.), the minority floor leader. It probably will be considered by the House Rules Committee Friday.

Talks by Telephone

Martin talked to MacArthur in Tokyo by telephone and said the general is willing and eager to accept a congressional invitation.

Informed sources in Tokyo said MacArthur definitely will come to the United States as soon as possible.

Kerr, sharp critic of MacArthur, called the G.O.P. proposal to have the five-star general address Congress a "very, very unwise" idea. Kerr said that instead of letting MacArthur tell a one-way story, the dismissed Far Eastern commander should go before the Senate and House Armed Services Committees.

"There," said Kerr, "he will be free to talk but at the same time members of congress will be free to question and examine him."

The storm Mr. Truman stirred up in getting rid of MacArthur was in no way quieted, at least so far as Republicans in Congress are concerned, by the President's radio and television address to the world last night.

Informed sources in Tokyo said MacArthur definitely will come to the United States as soon as possible.

Kerr, sharp critic of MacArthur, called the G.O.P. proposal to have the five-star general address Congress a "very, very unwise" idea. Kerr said that instead of letting MacArthur tell a one-way story, the dismissed Far Eastern commander should go before the Senate and House Armed Services Committees.

"There," said Kerr, "he will be free to talk but at the same time members of congress will be free to question and examine him."

The storm Mr. Truman stirred up in getting rid of MacArthur was in no way quieted, at least so far as Republicans in Congress are concerned, by the President's radio and television address to the world last night.

McCarthy Blames Liquor for Act

Milwaukee, April 12 (AP)—The Milwaukee Journal today quoted Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) as saying that "treason in the White House" has been accomplished by "bourbon and benedictine."

McCarthy asserted, according to the Journal, that the "treason" was accomplished by men who knew how "to get the President cheerful," and continued that the dismissal of Gen. MacArthur by the President is "a Communist victory won with the aid of bourbon and benedictine."

The Wisconsin senator, according to Journal reporter Robert Fleming, made the statements Wednesday night in a speech before nearly 600 members of the Wisconsin Retail Furniture Dealers Association.

Reference Quoted

The Journal quoted McCarthy's reference in his speech to "bourbon and benedictine" as follows:

"This is a black day, one of the blackest in the history of this country. A day in which America and all western civilization suffered a tremendous defeat and the Communists, home made and foreign made, suffered a great victory, a victory achieved with the aid of bourbon and benedictine."

McCarthy said the record showed that "the pals of Alger Hiss are still running the State Department."

Referring to the MacArthur dismissal, Fleming quoted McCarthy as saying:

"This morning was signed, unless the American people force a change, the death warrant of western civilization by a President who didn't know what he was doing. He is surrounded by the Lessups, the Achesons, the old Hiss crowd. These men have no hypnotic influence; most of the tragic things are done at 1:30 and 2 o'clock in the morning when they've had time to get the President cheerful."

Retired Prudential Agents Gather for Luncheon

Ten retired agents of the Prudential Insurance Company, who served the firm for a total of 259 years, gathered at the Embassy Restaurant, Wednesday for their regular get-together luncheon. The men (ages in parentheses) who retired because of long service or disability are: Seated (l. to r.) Hirschel Mayes (69), now a member of the city common council, 27 years; Patrick Murphy (73), 35 years; Henry Deane (77), 37 years; Neil Hasbrouck (76), 31 years; Jesse R. Freese (66), 33 years; standing, Robert Phinney (53), 18 years, disabled; William A. Van Wynan (68), 37 years; John Reynolds (74), 32 years; George Berry (61), 19 years, disabled; George McCarthy, Kingston manager for Prudential and Ralph Dewey (57), 22 years service. In 1947, seventeen retired agents of the Kingston district, Prudential Insurance Company, organized an association for meetings every 10 months. Since then six of them have died and four others have joined the ranks. The roster now includes 15. (Freeman Photo)

Body Is Found

Alpine, N. J., April 12 (AP)—The decomposed body of a Yonkers, N. Y., canoe club member who disappeared on the Hudson river last Feb. 22 was found today by two fishermen. The victim, Russell Weber, 22, a naval reserve officer, was identified by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Weber, of (529 Westview avenue) Ridgfield, N. J. A watch, ring, naval knife and car keys provided the main identification clues. Two Alpine fishermen, Louis and Frank Florio, pulled out Weber's body today in a shad net near the Alpine ferry slip.

If their pets bark after 9 p. m., dog owners of one Balkan village are fined, with the fine being doubled for each new offense.

To Sell Property

Hudson, N. Y., April 12 (AP)—Columbia county supervisors have voted to sell to private interests a property the state planned to use for a civil defense rescue school. The board voted unanimously yesterday to sell an abandoned brickyard in Stockport to two corporations. The action came as the state received a low bid of $41,471 for renovating the plant. The state had planned to train atom bomb rescue chiefs at the plant, reconditioning one building for class work and using others for rescue tests.

Bride Price Raised

Khartoum, Anglo-Egyptian Sudan (AP)—The bride price was raised from 20 to 50 spears each, worth about $10, at the annual chiefs meeting of Zande district in the southern Sudan. The chiefs also agreed the price must be paid in full by the prospective husband before the marriage becomes legal.

Two Bus Passengers Report Minor Injuries

Two passengers said they received minor injuries after the bus in which they were riding struck a pole in New Salem about 10:05 a. m. Wednesday, Mrs. D. Shaver of Port Ewen reported to the sheriff's office on Thursday.

Mrs. Shaver said the bus was driven by DeForest Shaver, Jr., according to the sheriff's office report. Mrs. Mary Bandis of Eddyville received a cut lip and complained of a stiff neck, and Mrs. Mary Regan of Creek Locks said she suffered a bump on the head, the report stated.

Chemicals Cause Cancer

Several hundred chemicals have been identified as carcinogens—substances that can cause cancer under certain circumstances. The American Cancer Society supports this research. Help by giving to the 1951 Cancer Crusade.

Martin Reports

that score remained in doubt.

Senator Wherry of Nebraska, the Senate G.O.P. leader, told reporters he will continue to press for action on a resolution he offered yesterday. It would invite MacArthur to return to Washington at once to tell his side of the story at a joint meeting of Congress.

Senator McFarland of Arizona, the Democratic leader, blocked consideration of the Wherry measure. And Wherry acknowledged that the parliamentary situation practically rules out any action today.

An identical resolution was introduced in the House by Rep. Martin (Mass.), the minority floor leader. It probably will be considered by the House Rules Committee Friday.

Talks by Telephone

Martin talked to MacArthur in Tokyo by telephone and said the general is willing and eager to accept a congressional invitation.

Informed sources in Tokyo said MacArthur definitely will come to the United States as soon as possible.

Kerr, sharp critic of MacArthur, called the G.O.P. proposal to have the five-star general address Congress a "very, very unwise" idea. Kerr said that instead of letting MacArthur tell a one-way story, the dismissed Far Eastern commander should go before the Senate and House Armed Services Committees.

"There," said Kerr, "he will be free to talk but at the same time members of congress will be free to question and examine him."

The storm Mr. Truman stirred up in getting rid of MacArthur was in no way quieted, at least so far as Republicans in Congress are concerned, by the President's radio and television address to the world last night.
